

C. J. IVIN, ROCHESTER, HOOKED BIG SALMON

Gathered It In at Dog Lake—Guest at Granite House.

Mr. C. J. Ivin, Rochester, N.Y., a guest at the Granite House, Battersea, has been having rare luck as a fisherman. He is a zealous admirer of Isak Walton, and has had about all the honors that can be conferred on the organization bearing the name of America's original fisherman. But at Battersea last week Mr. Ivin again won fame by laying before the admiring gaze of a great company of fellow anglers "a bird of a fish," in the shape of a twenty-pound salmon. It was a real beauty, and gave the distinguished Rochester citizen "a whale of a time" in landing. He had him hooked on a line of strength and a rod that could respond to every tug put upon it.

Mr. Ivin played the gallant salmon up and down Dog Lake, about a mile north-east of Battersea, and triumphantly accomplished his purpose, the landing of the monster of the Rideau waters. The news of Mr. Ivin's success spread quickly, and the exhibit was one of great satisfaction, not only to the skillful fisherman, but to the whole countryside.

The rarity of a catch of this size is always a source of delight, for it advertises the waters about Battersea as splendid fishing territory to scores of visiting lovers to these waters, who whisk about in motor boats, finding fun and fish dinners to their heart's content.

OBITUARY

Mrs. James Cumberland.

On Sunday July 18th. Nancy Klock, beloved wife of Rev. James Cumberland, passed away at her home, 587 Johnson street, Kingston. Mrs. Cumberland was born at Aymer, Quebec, and was the daughter of the late Robert Klock for many years a pioneer lumberman in the Ottawa Valley. She aided her father in the conduct of his business and was married in 1892 to Mr. Cumberland who was then minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Stella. Taking up the duties of a pastor's wife in the manse on Amherst Island she at once showed a deep interest in the choir and the Ladies' Aid, and assisted her husband in every way possible.

In 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Cumberland retired and removed to Kingston amid many testimonies of esteem tendered by the congregations to which they ministered.

During the past six years Mrs. Cumberland has been in failing health, and for three years has been confined to bed. She enduring her trial unselfishly and patiently and entered quietly upon her rest. Interment takes place at Aymer, Quebec.

Mrs. Cumberland is survived by her husband, Rev. James Cumberland, one son, Robert William, of Kingston, three brothers, James and Robert of Montreal, Alons, of Ottawa, and one sister, Mrs. J. R. Church of Aymer, Quebec. With a host of others they mourn the loss of one who was ever a devoted wife, a loving mother, and a faithful friend.

Well, Well, Look Who's Here!

Mrs. O'Leary's nearest seatmate in the street-car was a Chinese laundry-man, part of whose costume consisted of the long blouse of his native land. Wishing to be polite and sociable, the Oriental, choosing the cold day for a subject, remarked:

"Belly cold, mem; belly cold."

"G'wan, y- dirty haythen," retorted the modest Mrs. O'Leary; "stick yer shirt inside yer pants and it won't be cold!"

That's A Shame!

JUDGE TITWOOD: "Thirty days for you!"

THE TIPSY ONE: "I'm awful sorry—hic—judah—but I'm a travellin' man, an' I won't be hic—town that long!"

Oh, For Gawah Sake!

BOB MORTON CIRCUS COMING THIS WEEK

It Will Open at the Cricket Field Thursday — Special Matinee for Children.

The small boy after weeks of preliminary expectations and anticipations heightened by gaily colored posters, is coming into his own for Bob Morton, owner of the Bob Morton Circus that is exhibiting here this week beginning Thursday, under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club on the Cricket Field, announced to-day that on Saturday afternoon a special children's matinee will be given at which time all children under the age of eight will be admitted for fifteen cents to the matinee.

To the children going to the circus means the unfolding of new delights and in the diversified programme that Mr. Morton is offering this week in the Kiwanis Club Circus, the grownups as well as the kiddies will find much to entertain them.

The lure of the circus, its romances and tragedies has always appealed to the normal youth, and found a ready response in his fertile imagination. Who among us can repel the thrill of anticipation as we gaze upon the gaudy posters of the daring acrobats, the trapeze artists and the clowns. How we await a visit to it with pleasant expectations and bask in the delight of its attractions during its stay among us. Who of us in boyhood days did not definitely and unequivocally determine to join out with a circus and spend the rest of our lives under the big white tops. Only that moment of human destiny, opportunity, decreed otherwise. So, here's to the circus.

The circus is under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club whose welfare fund is to receive the proceeds.
