Archdeacon Dobbs presided, and expressed the regret felt by the clergy at the loss of Major Kidd, but congratulated him and his future congregation, and wished him "God-speed." Rev. Canon Fitzgerald and Rev. T. W. Savary also spoke, and Major Kidd replied, thanking them for their good wishes.

Capt. and Mrs. A. Malone, Pittsburgh, gave their charming home on the high shore of the Cataracts River for a picnic, held on Thursday afternoon, by the Pittsburgh Women's Institute with the Inverary ladies motored in from the Loughboro Lake district in a van and from the surrounding country came motors and horses carrying Institute women and a few men who took a lively interest in the proceedings and enjoyed the delicious tea served in the good old way. The Pittsburgh ladies had a short business meeting first, at which they decided to ask for affiliation with the Kingston Local Council of Women and elected Mrs. J. S. Sibbit to be their representative at the council meetings. The snowy table cloth was spread on the lawn, although a slight sprinkle of rain threatened the picnicers, but soon the clouds passed and the sun shone on the merry party seated on the grass, who were enjoying such a sumptuous repast. Everything one could think of and everything of the best seemed to have been the motto of the Pittsburgh ladies; Capt. and Mrs. Malone provided ice cream and raspberries as the crowning dainty. Mrs. Fanna, the president of the Pittsburgh Institute, moved a vote of thanks to the host and hostess for their hospitality, seconded by Mrs. C. C. Abbott, and Mrs. F. S. Ferguson, Inverary, branch president and also president of the district of Frontenac, on behalf of the visitors expressed their thanks to Capt. and Mrs. Malone and the Pittsburgh ladies for the exceedingly pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Richard Arthur, Inverary, seconded Mrs. Ferguson's thanks. As the setting sun was dying the river, gold and crimson, the party left for home. "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Three cheers and a tiger" being given for the Inverary ladies before they left on their return trip.

That Toronto will be represented at the annual beauty parade at Atlantic City and already over 140 pretty Toronto girls have considered themselves pretty enough to represent the beauty of the Queen City of Canada. Girls from seventy cities will be in the parade; not only American cities but girls from Australia, Canada and other countries will compete for the beauty prize. Such an array of good looking girls should bring the men out in hundreds of thousands to see if among them they can see their future wife.

That the Crusaders of the Church Army are receiving a splendid reception in Toronto. The sisters spoke to the nurses of the Toronto General Hospital in the quadrangle and Sister Meredith emphasized the special opportunities of the nurse to bring healing to sick souls as well as to diseased bodies. Sister Benniston described the work of the Church Army founded in 1882 by Rev. Wilson Carline and now numbering 500 sisters and many more men. She urged the nurses to use their opportunities to combat the wave of indifference which was summed up in the story of the small boy who answering the door to a clergyman said "No religion to-day, thank you, mother says."

That the annual complaints are heard at the Humane Society's Headquarters about the cats and dogs who are left to fend for themselves while their owners are off enjoying a holiday. Why people keep pets and neglect them always remains a mystery. In England such things are not allowed. Last year a man and woman were arrested at a fashionable summer resort and taken back to London to be tried on the charge of neglect and cruelty to a dog they had left without food. They were both sentenced and spent the rest of their holiday in jail. This news was sent around the world in the Associated Press and published in all the leading papers.

That Ontario Park is a delightful place on these hot afternoons and no one appreciates it more than the "Kingston Kiddies" who are taken out and back again by the Street Railway Company for the large fare of two cents.

That Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, visited the Girl Guides' Imperial camp at Foxlease Park on July 17th. One hundred of the Girl Guides in camp had come from the Dominions and Colonies for the special week, and they represented fifteen countries in all; the other one hundred and fifty Guides were representatives of the British Isles. It is a tradition since the Girl Guides Association was presented with the house and estate by Mrs. Archibald, of Washington. "In honor of the occasion of the marriage of our beloved princess" and it was owing to further generosity on the part of Princess Mary that the Association has been enabled to maintain and equip it. After a number of presentations by the Chief Guide in the drawing-room, the Princess inspected the various camps, and took tea with the Guides in the barn.

Girls, Be Different! London—"Try to be someone who counts and not one of a crowd," is the advice of Catherine Countess of Westmorland gives to young girls. The Countess says thoughtful persons cannot but regret the suggestion of "mass production" there is in a crowd of modern girls, all having hats and frocks which are almost identical and utterly lacking in individuality. Even their talk is standardized.

"So few girls dare to be themselves," said the Countess. "They smoke and drink and dance to all hours because they want to be in the

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE
Less than thirty years ago the Women's Institutes were organized by a mother in Westworth county and, today, this is the largest women's society in Canada with branches in England and Australia. Women interested in the Institutes look for the district branches when on holiday trips in various parts of Canada and invariably find a live organization carrying on good work for the community.

Women Hold Legion Cross.
Paris—Four women now have been decorated with the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, the highest rank of that order. They are all queens:
Queen of the Belgians, decorated in 1918.
Queen of the Rumanians, in 1919.
Empress of Ethiopia, in 1920.
Queen of Spain, in 1925.
No French woman holds this rank in their national order. The lowest rank in the Legion is that of Knights, then come Officers, Commanders, Grand Officers and finally the Grand Cross. The President of the Republic is "Grand Master."

Girl Got Three Months.
New York, Aug. 6.—Rolling her stocking on Fourteenth street just off Fifth avenue cost Miss Frances Rathowitz three months in the workhouse. "Women should not roll their stockings in public," the court ruled. "The scanty apparel they wear nowadays is sufficient to attract attention without their doing other things that will cause men to look at them."
