VICS TURNED THE TABLES ON OTTAWA RIDEAUS SATURDAY

Defeated the Visitors in the Return Match by the One-sided Score of 15 to 1—Third Game Will Now Have to Be Played on Neutral Grounds.

Another one-sided game was played at the Fair Grounds, when the Victorias met the Ottawa Rideaus in the return game of the O.B.A.A. junior semi-finals, Saturday evening, Vics easily winning by the tall-tale score of 15-1.

The Rideaus tried their best to hold the Vics down, but found it impossible, the home team romping away with nine runs in the first two frames.

The visitors got their only run in the first inning, Schoeder being the man to do the trick. After the first, they could not get nearer to home than third base, but it was not because they did not try to get home. They really deserve credit for their pluck, and if they had had a stronger pitcher, the result might have been different. McCorkill started in the box for Ottawa, but he was pulled out for White in the second, and White in turn changed for Reddley in the sixth.

Vics also started their half of the game with one run, but in the second innings twelve men went up to bat, and eight of them crossed the plate safely. Then followed in succession by innings, one, three, one, none, one, making a total of fifteen runs, while the Rideaus were still held down to one run.

Vics, in centre field for the Vics, turned in a beautiful game, getting all that were sent in his direction, and showing some real "pep" on the bases. He was at bat five times, put out at first once, knocked a three-bagger, and was thrown out stealing home, and crossed the plate safely three times.

Fournier also played a very good game, not only on the mound, but also at the bat, getting three runs out of four times up. The work of the whole team was worth very favorable comment.

The next game will be played on a neutral diamond, which will make a great deal of difference to both teams. If the Vics play the game they did Saturday night, they will take some beating, and with less errors on the part of the Ottawa team the game should prove very interesting.

Saturday's game was played in terrible baseball weather. It was cold and raw, and outside of the pitchers, the members of the teams had a hard task to keep warm. In spite of the inclement weather, quite a large crowd turned out to the game.

The Vics are now going strong, and the Kingston fans are pulling hard for them to win the series.

VETERAN GOLFER HAS ENVIABLE RECORD

George S. Lyon, of Toronto, is Still Going Strong at Sixty-eight Years.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Few, if any, veteran golfers can boast of a more enviable record in the royal and ancient pastime than George S. Lyon, of the Lambton Golf Club, Toronto. Lyon's meteoric rise in the world of golf way back in 1896 at the ripe age of thirty-eight, and his title-winning stunts over a stretch of thirty years, read like a novel.

Today, at sixty-eight, this sturdy limbed golfer is as vigorous as most men half his age and still able to shoot par over some of the most difficult courses in Canada. On his sixty-eighth birthday recently Canada's grandest old golfer did the Lambton course at Toronto in par 72.

The Canadian veteran swung his first golf club in 1896. Two years later he stepped out and captured the Canadian amateur championship. Between 1898 and 1914 he won the Canadian honors eight times and finished runner-up on two other occasions.

In 1916 he was runner-up to Daniel Kenny for the Canadian open championship. In 1906 Lyon played his way into the finals of the United States national amateur at Englewood. E. M. Byers of the Allegheny Country Club defeated him for the title two up. That record in itself is an enviable one for he is the only Canadian ever to reach the title round in the national amateur event.

Billy Evans Says

The Case of Simmons. If there is one thing a major league ball player should do, it is to run out the ball every time he is at bat.

I understand that is one of the things that recently caused Connie Mack to suspend Al Simmons, voted by the baseball experts of Philadelphia as the most valuable man on the Athletics last season.

It is unusual for a player to come to bat more than five times in a game, four is closer to the average, so it is not asking very much of him to run out every hit.

No club in either major league adheres more closely to this theory than Cleveland. Manager Tris Speaker sets the example by going to first at top speed, regardless of where he hits the ball.

One thing that caused me to admire Outfielder Jamieson of Cleveland before he developed into a really great player, was the determined manner in which he set out for first every time he hit the ball.

Toronto Makes Big Gain

On Sunday rain prevented the game between Toronto and Newark in the International League, but nevertheless the Leafs gained considerable ground, as their rivals, the Baltimore Orioles, lost a double-header to Syracuse on their home diamond. The scores were 5-0 and 6-2.

Boston for years has been a great centre for the college grid game. It is the home of Harvard and Boston College, both institutions having thousands of supporters.

Since Boston for years has been a stronghold for the college game, the professional may find the going tougher there than in other cities, where the pro brand of football has become popular.

It is planned to recruit the team largely from Boston and vicinity in order to arouse more civic pride in the eleven. I am of the opinion that professional football has come to stay. It wouldn't surprise me, if within five years, the owners of the various major league baseball franchises got back of the pro game. That would put it over big, as pro-per supervision is all it lacks.
