BEEF! BEEF!! BEEF!!!

Now that the weather is cooler, Beef will be one of the main features on the menu. We handle only high class, export government inspected meats.

RECIPE

To prepare Strain of Anderson's Quality Beef, wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Dredge the fat with salt and flour, and also rub flour well into meat. Set to bake in a hot oven. Turn the under or tenderloin side uppermost, so that the meat which is unprotected by fat may be seared over on the outside and the juices kept in. After the roast is half cooked, turn the fat side up and finish the cooking on this side, letting the fat become well browned. Baste every 10 minutes with the fat in the pan and dredge with flour after each basting. The best should be such that the fat and flour in the pan be not overcooked; if too dark the fat is not fit for basting, and the flour and meat juices are unsuitable for brown sauce to be served with roast. Cook the roast about 15 minutes for each pound of meat.
