Can't Eat Acid Foods, Too Much Gas

"I suffered from gas and acid stomach, and could not eat anything that contained acid. Since taking Adierika, I feel fine."

James Faust.

Adierika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicine, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep easier. Even if bowels move daily, Adierika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache.

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adierika will surprise you. At leading drugstores. In Kingston at T. H. Sargent and other druggists.

DR. GEORGE W. BELL, VETERINARY, PASSES

Widely Known Resident of Kingston—Was Milk Inspector for Some Years.

Dr. George W. Bell, one of the best known residents of Kingston, died at one o'clock this morning at his home, 450 Princess street, after an illness lasting five days, although he had been in poor health for the past four years, when he suffered his first stroke.

Deceased suffered his last fatal illness on Wednesday night last while at the Liberal annual meeting in the Garden Hall. The meeting was over and Dr. Bell was just starting to leave when he was stricken with paralysis. His condition rapidly declined until his death.

The late Dr. Bell was born at West-brooke sixty-eight years ago, but as a young man he came to the city. He received his early education in the city and later took up veterinary work and for a number of years he practised in Erie, Pa. He returned to Kingston thirty-one years ago and resided here ever since. Since that time he had carried on his veterinary practice and the famous Dr. Bell's Wonder Medicines were manufactured by him. He first practised his profession on Princess street near Williamsville, and later opened an office on Princess street, near King. He later moved to Clarence street, where his office became well known. His first office was in the first brick house up from Wellington street, but after the Pinkie fire, he built new offices and buildings. Dr. Bell had been practising on Clarence street altogether for about seventeen years.

Deceased was one of the best known and most amiable gentlemen in this part of the country. Always ready with a kindly word and anxious to serve others, he became a general favorite throughout the city and county, and his death removes a man held in high esteem.

For some time he was a member of the Kingston city council, and while there gave efficient service to the city.
He was later appointed milk inspector and a more conscientious and able man for the position could not be found. He carried out his duties to the best of his ability and was ever anxious to render the highest service possible.

The late Dr. Bell was prominent in Masonic circles and was also a member of the St. Andrew's Society, the Children's Aid Society Board and also of the Horticultural Society. He was one of the most popular members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club. Deceased belonged to Sydenham street United church.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Carl D. of this city, and three daughters, Mabel, of New York; Mrs. W. A.
Brash, of Gananoque and Georgia, at home. Surviving also are three brothers, Dr. Phillip Bell, of Sheridansville, Ohio; H. E. Bell, of Boston, and John, in Alberta.

The funeral will be held on Thursday at Cataract cemetery, Rev. Dr.
W. T. G. Brown officiating.

Disagree in Daugherty Case.
New York, Oct. 12.—Yesterday afternoon the jury reported disagreement in the trial of Henry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General of the United States, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, on the charge of conspiracy to deprive the government of their unbiased services in connection with the award to Swiss claimants of the $7,000,000 assets of the American Metal Company.

Found After 34 Years.
Belleville, Oct. 11.—A postal order made out 34 years ago and placed in a vault was found here last week and taken to the postoffice. As it had not been cashed, Ottawa was informed, with the result that word came back from the department authorizing the payment of the order.
The order was cashed within two days of its discovery.

Gene May Marry.
New York, Oct. 12.—The American says that Gene Tunney has married an actress and that an annucement will be made during the winter. The paper's society editor writes: "His reported bride-to-be is said to be rich, of the social register and possessed of a daddy who is connected with the Rockefeller."

At Syracuse, N.Y., five persons were killed Sunday when a New York Central passenger train crashed into a light sedan in which they were riding. They were all foreigners.

A large bear dragged a heifer from a farm to a ravine at Oulmet, Ont., and the latter was fatally injured.

HOW THE WORD "NEWS" CAME TO BE ADOPTED

The word "news" which is so important in our present-day existence, has a curious history. Before the advent of newspapers events of general interest were posted in public places under four columns, headed: N. E. W. S. In the column headed "N" happenings from the North were recorded; in column "E" from the East; in the "W" column were recounted occurrences in the West, and under "S" came Southern notes. Gradually these four letters were joined to form the word "News" as we now know it—embodying in it self reports from all points of the compass.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barto

Mister Bags Sends Some Bills.

The next day the old cronies met as usual in Mister Bags' store in the woods.

Old Daddy Cracknuts came in first. "Howdy, Mister Bags," said he. "Howdy, Nancy, Howdy, Nic."
"Nice morning this morning."

"Yes, it is, Daddy," said Nancy noticing that Daddy took the chair nearest to the cracker barrel.

"I'll just rest a spell, if you don't mind," said Daddy. "I'm all tuckered out to-day. Ma's been cleaning house."

"Think you'll stay away until it's over, do you?" laughed Mister Bags, noticing that Daddy had absentmindedly reached into the cracker barrel and began to munch at a soda cracker.

At that minute the door opened with a tinglying and in came Mister Groundhog.

"I need a match, Mister Bags," he wheezed. "I just thought I'd drop in and get one if you have any handy. Thanks! My old pipe doesn't draw any too well. Why, hello, Daddy! You're out bright and early this morning."

So Daddy told him about his wife's house-cleaning, and while he was listening, Mister Groundhog picked up a cracker and began to eat it.

At that minute the door opened again and in came Ben Bunny.

"Please, may I use your telephone, Mister Bags?" he asked. "I would like to telephone to my cousin across the meadow and ask him how the saw-patch garden is coming along. The lettuce ought to be big enough to eat by this time."

"Certainly," said Mister Bags obligingly. "Help yourself!"

When he was through telephoning, he came over to the cracker barrel and dipped in.

Then came Ringtail Coon to look at Mister Bags' thermometer and talk about the weather.

Then came Mister Muskrat, and next came Mister Chipmunk, and next came old Mosey Mud Turtle, and before long the store was full of gossips, all talking at once and dipping into the cracker barrel.

Nick stood by with a little book and every time anybody dipped down for a cracker he put a mark beside his name.

The next morning when Daddy Cracknuts opened his mail, there was a bill from Mister Bags.

It said:
May 10—15 crackers—15c.
And when Mister Bunny opened his mail he got a bill, too. It said:
May 10—20 crackers—20c.

And Mister Groundhog got a bill and Ringtail Coon got a bill and so did all of them.

They were all hopping mad and rushed to the little store in the woods at once.

"Why, I never bought any crackers here in my life!" said Daddy Cracknuts.

"Neither did I! Neither did we!"
cried the others.

"No, but you ate them so it's all the same," said Mister Bags. "I open a new barrel every day and you eat them all up. You do it without thinking, but I decided that I'd given enough cracker parties."

"Why, that's so, I guess we do eat a good many crackers," said Daddy. "I never thought of that.
Here's my money!"

"And mine!" cried everybody else.

BELLEVILLE TEAM WINS THE DEBATE

With Cooke's Church Team in Bay of Quinte Semifinals.

Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, won the semi-final of the Bay of Quinte Conference Debating League, defeating the Cooke's Church team here on Monday night by a narrow margin. Next month the Belleville team will try conclusions with the debating champions of the western part of the conference.

The subject was, "Resolved, that the advancement of a country depends more upon its natural resources than upon its people." Belleville supported the affirmative while Cooke's Church took the negative.

Mr. Leslie Pearson and Miss Madden presented the case for the visiting
