CAN QUEEN'S WIN SATURDAY'S GAME?

Hard Task Ahead of Them in Facing the Blue and White.

The Queen's seniors were out at the stadium yesterday afternoon for a short workout and Fred Baldwin was at his job at quarter. The team ran through signals and general practice work, minus those who are on the injured list. There is big work ahead this week in preparation for the game at Toronto and much must be done before Friday when the team leaves for Toronto. A hard and heavy workout was billed for this afternoon. Can Queen's win next Saturday at Toronto? The pessimist says no and the optimist says yes. Many take Queen's showing on Saturday against Camp Borden as their plan to go by. That's a mistake. Queen's won't play like that in the Intercollegiate series and Saturday's game should not be taken as a sample of their play. But, at the same time, Queen's have their work cut out for them if they hope to win in Toronto next Saturday. Stinging from the defeat administered by McGill, the Blue and White will be right on edge for a victory this Saturday and the Tricolor will meet a fighting bunch of ruggists in the Queen City at the Varsity Stadium. Can Queen's show enough stuff to defeat the McPherson crew in Toronto is the big question for them. There is a big division of opinion on the question and despite the fact that Saturday's showing was not a proper indication of their play, many are inclined to believe that the Tricolor will have a hard job. That's where Queen's shines. When they are fighting with their backs to the wall they are at their best. They have made a good showing at Varsity Stadium in recent years and while the teams that will play there this year is not as powerful as that of the last two or three years, yet there are many who believe Queen's will win just the same. It will be a wonderful old battle to see, possibly the banner rugby event of the season.

A GREAT FUSS.

St. Louis Was Wild Over Title Victory. St. Louis, Oct. 12.—The pent-up feelings of a city which had waited 40 years for a world's baseball championship, broke out into today in a wild demonstration when the Cardinals won the deciding game of the series in New York. The celebration promised to last far into the night and to surpass the previous hectic demonstrations when Hornsby's men clinched the National League pennant and when they came home to the greatest welcome since the world war veterans returned from France. As soon as the game was over, St. Louis deserted its radio sets to celebrate, and soon the downtown streets, usually virtually deserted on Sunday, were jammed with automobiles filled with noise-making fans. The office buildings, as a rule, were closed, but from the upper windows of the railway exchange and a few other buildings came showers of paper torn into confetti. Whistles, cowbells, automobile horns and all other conceivable noise-making devices were brought into play. Dishpans, washbubs and stovepipes were tied to the rear of cars and caused a terrific din as they bounced over the pavement. Motors were backfired, adding to the deafening roar. Many automobiles were decorated with Cardinal colors and with red bird posters. One large poster called the Cardinal "Our national bird." Another proposed "Alexander for President." Old men and old women joined in the celebration. Jubilant fans jumped up and down, danced in the streets and hugged each other. Everybody was happy and everybody wanted everybody else to know it.

Holds a Record.

Jack Dempsey shares with Jack Johnson, the negro fighter, and Jim Jeffries the distinction of holding the world's heavyweight championship crown the longest, seven years. Jeffries retired undefeated, but was knocked out by Johnson in 15 rounds at Reno, Nev., July 4th, 1916, when he attempted a comeback as a "white hope" after the negro had lifted the championship from Tommy Burns. Johnson was knocked out by Jess Willard in 26 rounds at Havana, Cuba, April 8th, 1915.

A. G. Walker harvested an average of nearly 94 bushels of wheat per acre on his Manitoba farm.

Sharkey-Wills Go Is Carded To-night

Heavyweight circles are anticipating with keen interest the meeting tonight between Harry Wills, long-time contender for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world, and Jack Sharkey, the Boston "tiger-man."

A few days before the Dempsey-Tunney battle, the same Sharkey met George Godfrey, hailed as the greatest colored fighter of them all, but it did not take the Bostonian battler long to send Godfrey, who weighed 226 to the land of sweet dreams. Then Sharkey was matched to meet Harry Wills at Ebbets Field in New York, on the night of October 12th, and there are many who believe that when this fight is over, Sharkey will loom up as the man right on the heels of Gene Tunney. But Wills does not think so. He declares he is out to show just why Richard was not anxious to let Dempsey fight him.

At any rate when these two gladiators meet tonight, one or the other is going to fall, one of them onto the canvass, the other into the chance to make a barrel of greenbacks, while the gentlemanly Tunney makes up his mind—or Tex Rickard makes it up for him—that he is ready to fight again.

TRIPPLE PLAYS.

Brockville Saw One Saturday in League Final. Brockville, Oct. 12.—Prescott defeated Brockville, 14-6 here Saturday afternoon in the final game of the Eastern Ontario Baseball League, thereby capturing the league honors by a wide margin and in a decisive fashion. Securing five runs in the first frame on two hits and an error, the visitors had the best of the argument all the way through. An attempted rally by Brockville was cut short in the eighth.

Brockville loaded the bases with none down. Then Simon hit an easy fly to Gibb, who tagged Jenkinson, who retired Oakley for the first triple play seen on the local diamond in years.

SPORTING NOTES AND COMMENT

Without the least intent to cast any reflection on the work of "Bud" Macpherson and Ewart Lindsay as quarter-backs on Saturday, it must be admitted that the absence of Quarter-back Fred Baldwin from the game was very largely responsible for the defeat of the Queen's team.

Baldwin has the faculty of injecting fight into the team, something that the Queen's team needs when playing, a fight injector. Had W. P. Hughes been there on Saturday, he might have put more fight into the game. Coach Oran Carson was in charge of the team and while he made as good a job of handling the team as possibly anyone else could, outside of W. P. Hughes, the players did not have the get and go about them that they should have had.

Jimmy Wright, outside wing on Queen's right end, while he has made some nice tackles so far this season does not seem to be able to hit his regular pace yet. Jimmy, however, may come through in Toronto, and it is hoped he will. He has the ability but for some reason he has not been able to get going this year as he did last.

Toronto Telegram—Ivan Raynor, having fitted from Hamilton to Toronto to Queen's and then back to Hamilton, may find himself out of action altogether. The three senior unions would be well advised to not permit him to play at all.

Athletic Director W. P. Hughes has got himself an office in the gymnasium. The many athletic duties of Athletic Director Hughes has necessitated such a move for the carrying on of his work.

Tennis seems to have thrived among the students at the University during the past year and to-day, with concrete courts, etc., the Queen's student body goes in strong for the game. A few years ago there were very few who took part in the game at the College but things are very much different now.

The victory of the Oslers over Copper Cliff yesterday by the score of 8-0 gives the Toronto team the Ontario championship once again. It's a fine time to be winning a baseball championship, well into October. This is certainly not the baseball season in this part of the country at least and the sooner the O.B.A.A. people get the final games played off earlier the more popular will playoff games become. At this time little attention is paid to them.

They fit!

Wide Open Races in Rugby Football This Year

Regarding Saturday's football games M. J. Rodden in the Toronto Globe has the following to say: That there will be more thrills in Canadian football this fall was indicated on Saturday, when upsets—some of them the most astounding in recent years—featured the card in the East. Outstanding even among these surprising results was the victory of the McGill University team over the much-fancied Toronto collegians. Coach Shaughnessy had intimated some time ago that he would open up the play, and he achieved this aim by having his backfield men take reckless chances that brought victory. With that game won the Red and White may be carried on to even greater events, and they may provide some other upsets for the benefit of Queen's and U. of T. To St. Germain and Joe Cameron must go the lion's share of the credit for McGill's fine win. These players used their brain as well as their natural ability to turn back the dangerous thrusts of the Snyder-Stollery battering-ram machine. Next Saturday Queen's will be here for the annual blue ribbon event, and the fans in Queen's Park cannot be blamed for shaking in their shoes after the downfall of their favorites at Molson Stadium. The defeat of the Queen's University machine at Kingston on Saturday just helped to make the afternoon the outstanding one for producing upsets in the last ten years. Queen's, University of Toronto, Tigers and Argonauts all vanquished, on the same day, and three of them on the home grounds gives food for thought, and indicates that there will be wide-open races in the Intercollegiate and Interprovincial Unions this fall.
