Mrs. Etherington Gives a Luncheon

To Welcome District Women's Institutes—Address by Mrs. Adam Shortt, Ottawa.

On Saturday, one of the most representative and epoch-making luncheons ever given in Kingston had for its hostess Mrs. Frederick Etherington, president of the Local Council of Women. The long tables arranged in the big clubroom of the Y.W.C.A. seated nearly sixty women and those sixty represented more than two thousand women of the city and county. The luncheon as given by the president to welcome to the council thirteen Institutes of Frontenac and one from Lennox and Addington, representing more than five hundred women who have become affiliated with the Kingston Local Council within the past few months. There are now about thirty-seven societies affiliated in the Kingston council and the women present represented their societies. The appreciative and the conveners of standing committees were also among the guests.

The tables were beautifully decorated with golden baby mums and yellow candles, and at the head table was seated, Mrs. Etherington, to her right Mrs. Adam Shortt, Ottawa, and beside her Mrs. F. S. Ferguson, Inverary, president of the Women's Institute of the district of Frontenac. The other ladies at the head table were Miss Mucklestone, honorary vice-president of the Local Council, who has been a member since its inception under the direction of Lady Aberdeen, Mrs. H. A. Lavell, Miss Strange, Miss Frances Sullivan, vice-presidents; Mrs. A. E. Ross, Mrs. Thomas Gibson and Miss Ritchie, patrons; Miss Davidson, Mrs. Douglas Chown and Miss M. Hall, officers of the Council. At the foot of the table was another patron, Mrs. W. F. Nickle, who received a very warm welcome home, and beside her, Mrs. Archibald Strahan.

After enjoying a delicious luncheon, perfectly served, Mrs. Etherington welcomed her guests referring to the pleasure the members of the council felt at the splendid addition of the Women's Institutes of Frontenac and Lennox and Addington. This was endorsed by the members of the council by a burst of applause. Mrs. Etherington asked Mrs. Adam Shortt to speak as a senior member of the National Council of Women and one greatly interested in Women's Institutes.

Mrs. Shortt said with what pleasure she found herself in Kingston among old friends in the city and university; she was especially glad to be in the Y.W.C.A. building. She hoped all the members of the affiliated societies would help along the "Y." Then in an address, stirring and inspiring, she outlined the growth of women's organizations in the past century from the days when few women had an opportunity of education and the activities of a few small church guilds represented the only organized work done by women. She said that even within the memory of many people in the room the women made the money by bazaars and the men on the boards of charities spent it as they thought fit. Mrs. Shortt was brought up in Wentworth county where Adelaide Hoodless began the Women's Institutes and her sister-in-law was the first Institute president. Their motto was "For God, for Home and Country," and at first they kept more to the first two objects but later they found that they had a wider mission and were trying to raise the standard of living in Canada.

"When I find cases in desperate need in my work in the Mothers' Allowance, I go to the Institutes and they find a way to help," said Mrs. Shortt. The Federation of Women's Societies in the National Council had been the thought of Lady Aberdeen who built better than she knew, in union lies strength. "Always remember the council is you. We look forward to the day when there will be a parliament of women not getting $4,000 a year each, nor touching politics as we know them, but banded together for the maintenance of a high standard of life and a finer civilization."

Miss A. M. Going, convener of the press committee of the Local Council, moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Shortt, which was seconded by Miss Mucklestone. Mrs. F. S. Ferguson, district president of the W.I., moved a vote of thanks to the hostess, which was seconded by Mrs. W. F. Nickle, who said it gave her great pleasure to see the splendid growth of the council, with which she had been identified. "For Auld Lang Syne" was sung and then "For she's a Jolly Good Fellow" for Mrs. Etherington, the beloved president and hostess.

That to-day is All Saints Day. It is the festival of all the household saints, those of our own family and our close friends who have passed to the "Great Beyond." The quiet people whose names are not in any calendar but are written in "The Lamb's Book of Life." "The great company that no one can number who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

That the societies are all lining up for the work of the autumn and winter. Whether the fact of the women's franchise has anything to do with it or not the importance of women's societies has increased tenfold in the past five years. Few women there are who do not belong to some society for the betterment of social conditions in the home and state. All hospitals have women's auxiliaries. The Home and School clubs are doing a splendid work and the enormous growth of the Women's Institutes both in Canada and England has focused the energy of the rural women and developed it into a great co-ordinated power for good. The press on all sides has recognized this women's movement and where a women's meeting got a few scant lines it is given a column or more according to its interest to the reading public.

That we are not sure whether the system is a success but gossiping wives are put in jail in the little town of Qustrin in Belgium. On the complaint of husbands housewives who leave their morning work to hang over the back fence with the neighbors can be committed by the authorities to the town bastille. Numerous complaints are made by husbands who invoke this revival of an old medieval law to keep their wives in hand.
