What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

Red Grange Scored a Big Hit Last Night

The settees and extra chairs were brought into use again last night at the Capitol Theatre for the initial showing of the world-famous rugby player Red Grange in "One Minute to Play." And the big crowd that saw the picture got many a thrill in addition to his abilities as a football star, that have made him the highest paid performer in the game and have attracted untold thousands to see him play, that he is an actor as well and fits into the story of "One Minute to Play" with great ease.

This latest football picture is indeed a thriller. Especially in the closing incidents of the story there is intense excitement from the standpoint of the game that is being played and from the standpoint of the other side of the story which involves the hero of the story, his father, the principal of his college and of course, the girl.

Football fans will have their last chance to-night to see this picture, unquestionably the most thrilling and authentic college film ever made. Brilliant and thrilling in realistic football, delightful in romance and sparkling in its campus humor, bringing out many situations known to any university, "One Minute to Play" has an appealing story that all will enjoy. It will be shown at the Capitol for the last time to-night.

Candidates Fairly Evenly Divided Between Government Control and Opposition To It

Toronto, Nov. 20.—From one until 2 p.m. to-day official nominations will take place in Ontario's 112 constituencies for the provincial elections on Dec. 1st. About 237 candidates have been named to put in nomination papers. Deposits are not required in the provincial election. With an Independent-Conservative in Port Arthur, the total number of Conservative candidates named by party conventions is 111 Liberals at the hour for nominations number 52, Prohibitionists 21, Labor men 5, and Independents, 4. Besides the 52 Liberals there are five Independent Liberals who will support Premier Ferguson's government control of the liquor sale policy. There are 15 three-cornered fights throughout the province, and in Toronto St. Andrew four candidates are ready for nomination, Conservative, Independent-Conservative, Liberal and Prohibitionist. Candidates to be nominated to-day are fairly evenly divided between opposition to Premier Ferguson's Government control policy and support of it.

The End of "Tribute."

J. L. Garvin, in London Observer: There is one misunderstanding which has been only scotched in the past, and this time will be killed for good. We refer to the lingering notion in the Dominion that closer relations of any kind might mean subsidies to the Mother Country in the interests of defence. Nothing has been more harmful in some Dominions, especially those of mixed race, than this fear of "tribute." It is impossible to conceive a more unreal bogey. The Mother Country, with all its burdens, neither expects nor desires one single man nor one single cent in the way of stipulated and irksome contribution.

WARDEN HAS ASKED FOR RESIGNATION

Wants R. H. Fair to Relinquish His Position as Road Superintendent.

C. J. Graham, warden of Frontenac County, has taken upon himself the task of "firing" R. H. Fair, county road superintendent. The warden instructed the county clerk to write Mr. Fair asking him to have his resignation in the hands of the County Council not later than Tuesday afternoon next at 2.30 o'clock.

It is understood that Mr. Fair has no intention of resigning and for that reason there will be a lively time during the November session of the council, which starts on Tuesday afternoon.

For some time Warden Graham has been suggesting a provincial audit into the affairs of the county good roads' system.

In the list of those assisting at the tea table at the bazaar held by St. Mark's church, Barrieffield, the name of Miss R. Connors was omitted.

Making Good in Western Canada

John Coerlitz was in the Russian Imperial Army when the Czar still ruled. He was a musician and a farmer and while he played in an orchestra he was happy and content. Later he went to his farm, a mountain retreat in the east of Russia near Seratia. The municipality was crowded, the land allotment small and profits the same. John Coerlitz was successful but not content.

There came a letter one day from his cousin who had come to Canada in 1900. It told of the vast stretches of prairie lands, of good jobs with high wages, and of how he had come to Canada not knowing a word of English yet had had no trouble in finding work.

"Why don't you come, John, and make money too, and get ahead in this new country," the letter ran. Coerlitz was single and inspired with new hope left Russia and joined his cousin. He did not buy land at once but went to work in the Canadian Pacific Railway's roundhouse and began to save. During this time he married one of his own country women and joined his cousin in Southern Alberta. Land was cheap and a good start was made. Naturally there were hard years at first; new land to break and a house and barn to save for. With thrift this was accomplished.

Five children were born to John Coerlitz and his wife, three boys and two girls. While the last was still a baby the mother died and John Coerlitz faced life with five motherless children in a new country. With courage characteristic of pioneers of the land, Mary, the oldest girl, but twelve years of age, stepped in and took charge of the household. They had a small organ which Coerlitz played and taught Mary to play.

Years passed. That is over eight years ago now. Mary is herself married to Dave Krumm, a prosperous son of a Russian pioneer who settled in the West 29 years ago.

Tom, John Coerlitz's eldest son, is interested in engines and recently bought a second hand tractor and went to different farms breaking land. He intends to buy a grain separator, which with his engine, will complete his thrashing outfit. He will likely pay for it with this year's wages.

John Coerlitz, the father, is proud of his family's achievements in Canada. He has a good farm all paid for and well stocked, and a fine car. And he has the assurance of a bright future for himself and his family who are growing to maturity with enterprise, intelligence and health as their priceless assets.

Oxford Girls "Untidy."

Miss Dinah Gibbons, a B.A. of St. Hilda's college, Oxford, has become a mannequin at a costumer's shop in London.

"One does not have to exert one's brains at all in this job, and that is a great relief," said Miss Gibbons after her first week.

Miss Gibbons believes that college girls do not pay enough attention to dress.

"At Oxford the young women dress deplorably, and they don't appear to care at all about looking tidy."

Embroidered Shoes.

Elaborately embroidered shoes with heels that glitter and sparkle are among the latest footwear fashions seen at the London Shoe and Leather fair. English toes show a tendency to be narrower while heels are slightly lower of the shaped or Louis types. Champagne or light fawn seem to be the dominating colors while the shoes are chosen for their tone or harmony with the frock, rather than absolutely to match.

Clothing Pay For Dinner.

Mayfair hostesses are finding clothing establishments helpful in meeting the expenses of their dinner parties. In return for permission to send a few of their mannequins to mingle with the guests and advertise their establishments, the clothing dealers not only will pay for the dinner, but will give the hostess a substantial check in addition.

No Hope for World Pool.

Montreal Gazette: No hope that a world wheat pool can be established was held out by H. W. Wood, of the United Farmers of Alberta, on his return from Australia, where he went to look over the situation. His judgment should surprise no one. The control of the world's wheat market would be a tremendous job. The control of Canada's is so big a task that the wonder is the pool works at well.
