

Eaton Hall; Bishop Plays Tennis; Lady Mayoress Wed

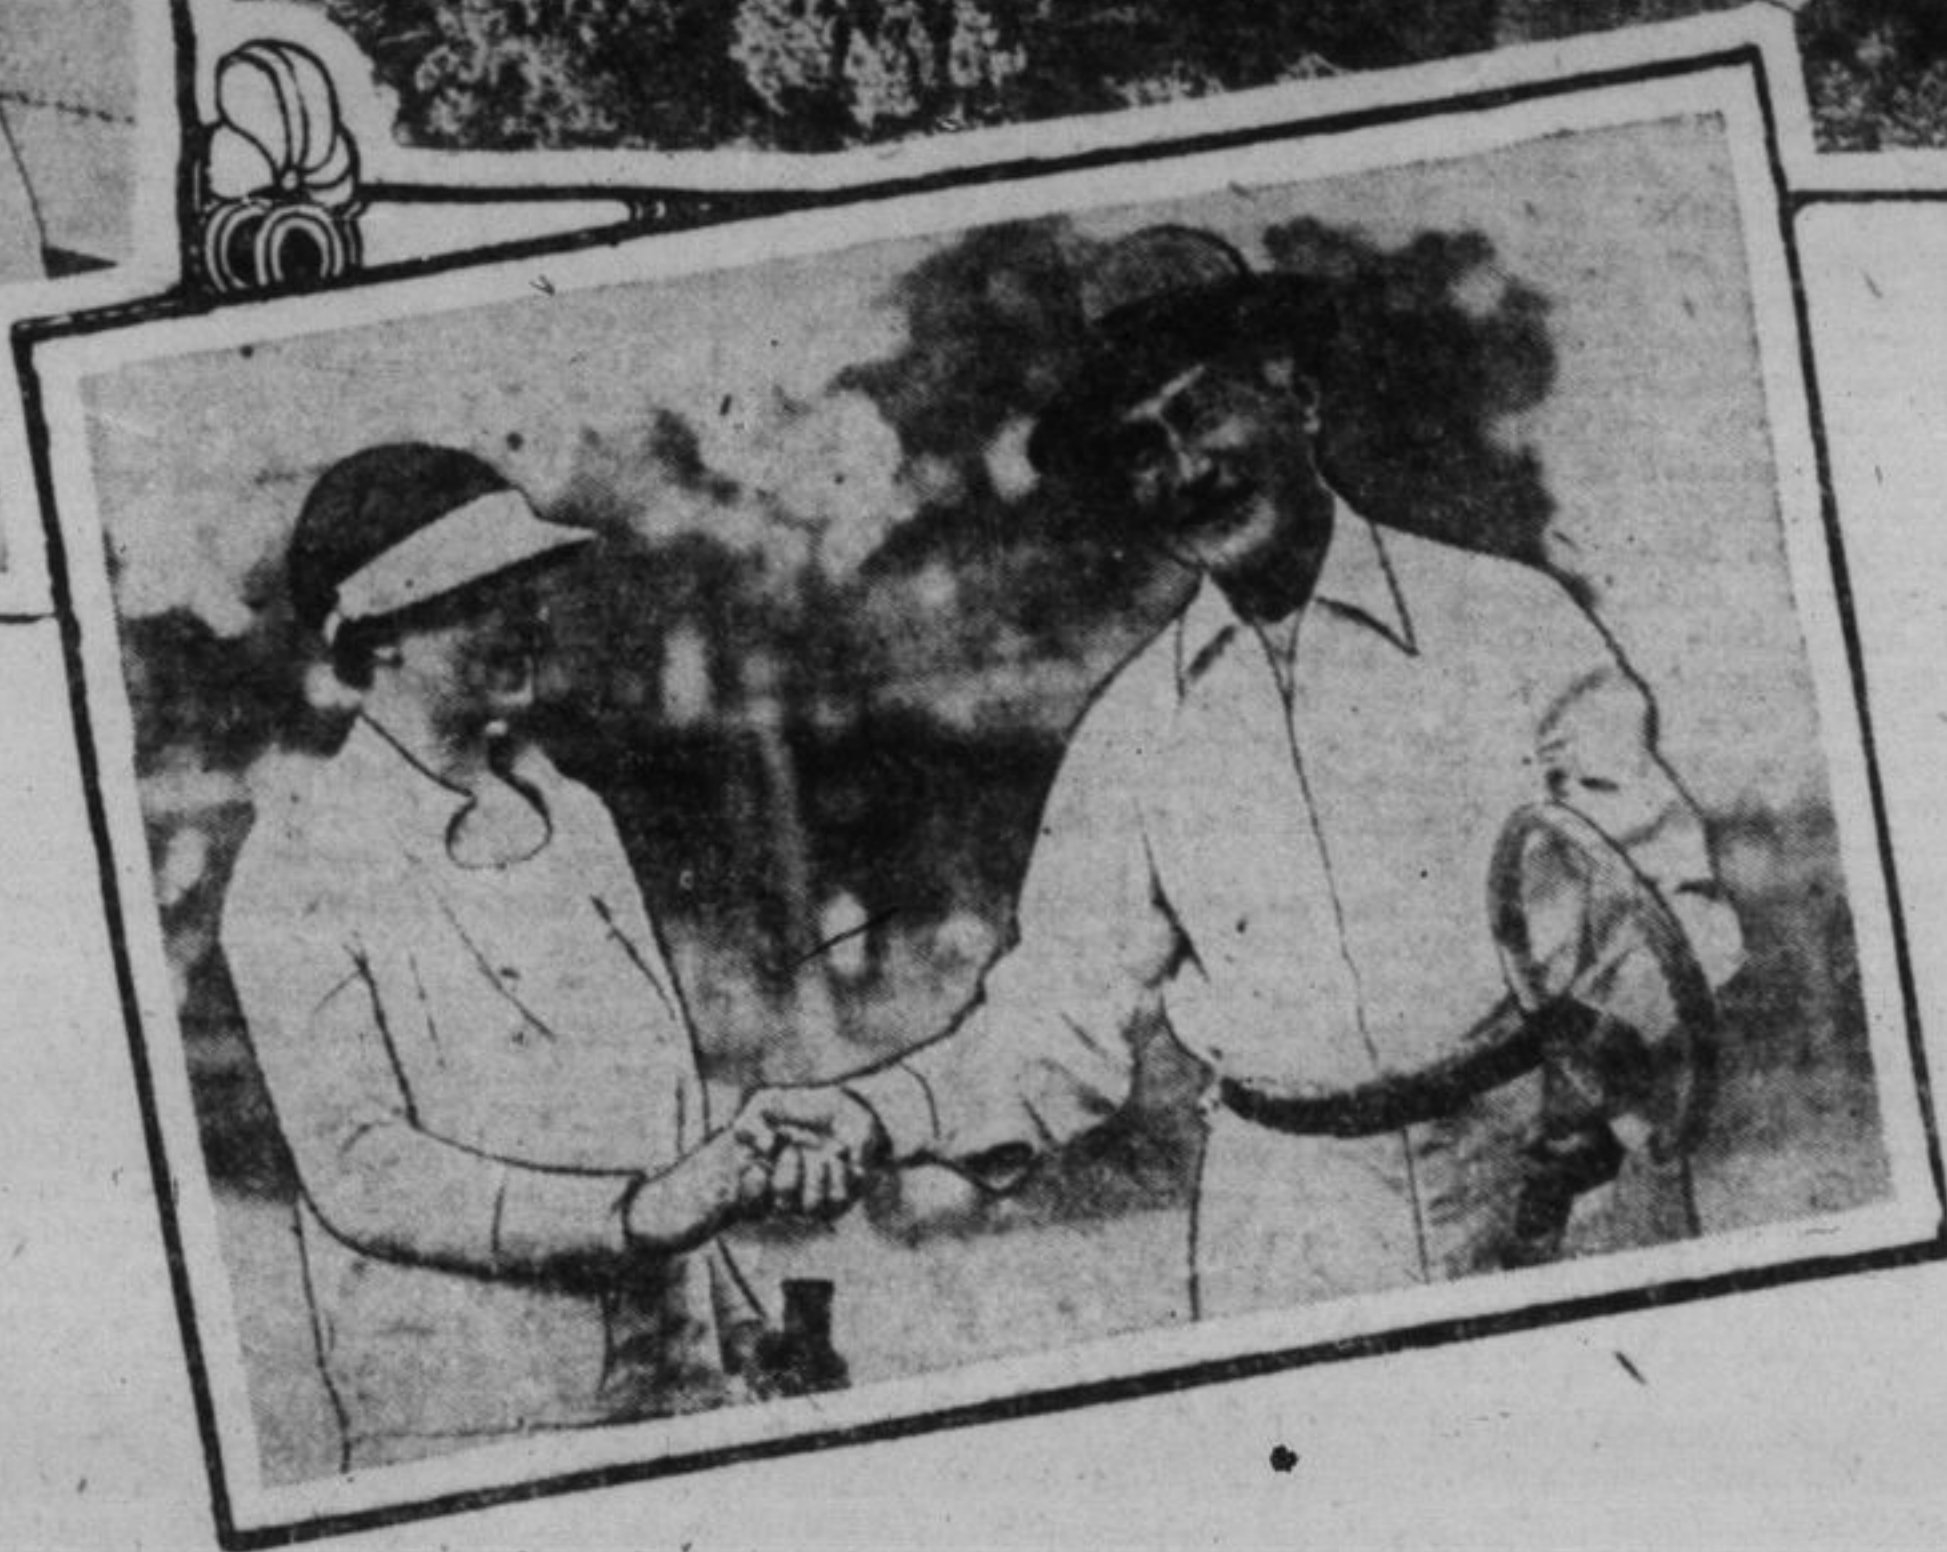

INDIA has some of the queerest temples in the world. This is the Elephant Tower in Agra, where all the sacred elephants of India are supposed to live after their death

MISS ETHEL PRYKE, Lady Mayoress of London, was married recently to Mr. Cyril Turner at St. Paul's Cathedral. His wife being dead, the lord mayor had designated Miss Pryke as lady mayoress, and the ceremony was in consequence carried out with great pomp and circumstance

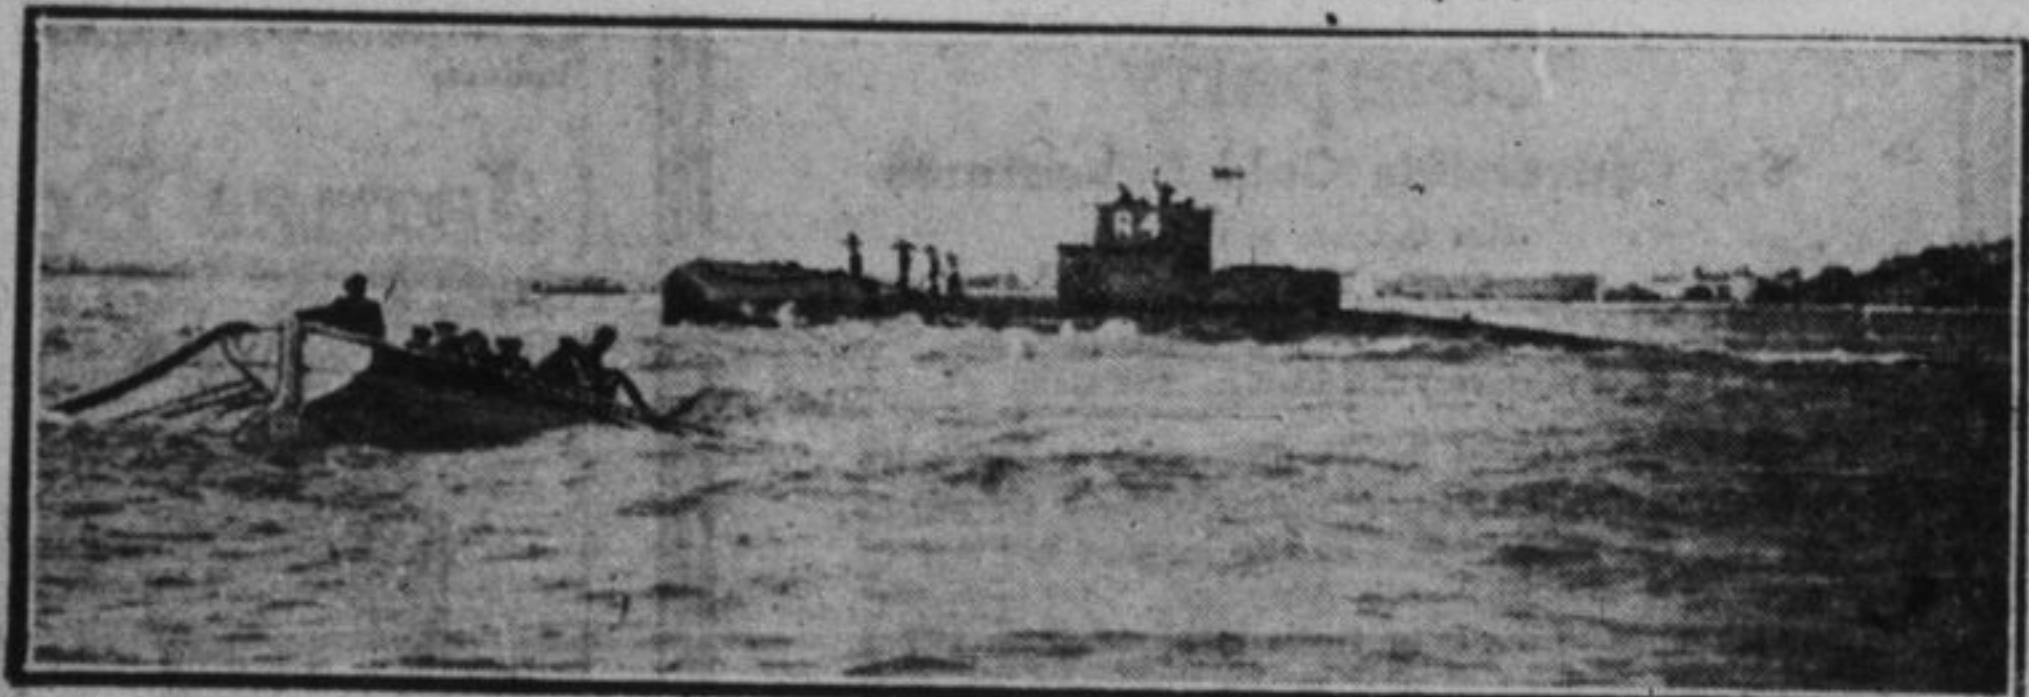

EATON HALL, from an air-plane photograph, the magnificent seat of the Duke of Westminster and one of the famous places of England

LORD BISHOP OF LONDON, Dr. Winnington-Ingram, plays a good game against Helen Wills at Berkeley, California, where Helen is a student. The bishop, though 66, played a fast and interesting game and a large gathering watched the match with the American tennis queen

HON. ANTHONY ASQUITH, handsome son of the Earl and Countess of Oxford

SUBMARINE R-4 ran ashore on the Pole sands off Exmouth seafont, having, it is presumed, lost her way one early foggy morning lately. Photograph shows a hawser being taken to the vessel with which to tow her off the sand bank

NATHALIA CRANE, 14-year-old Brooklyn girl, who has been selected by a committee of American poets as one of the six native poets with the greatest popular appeal

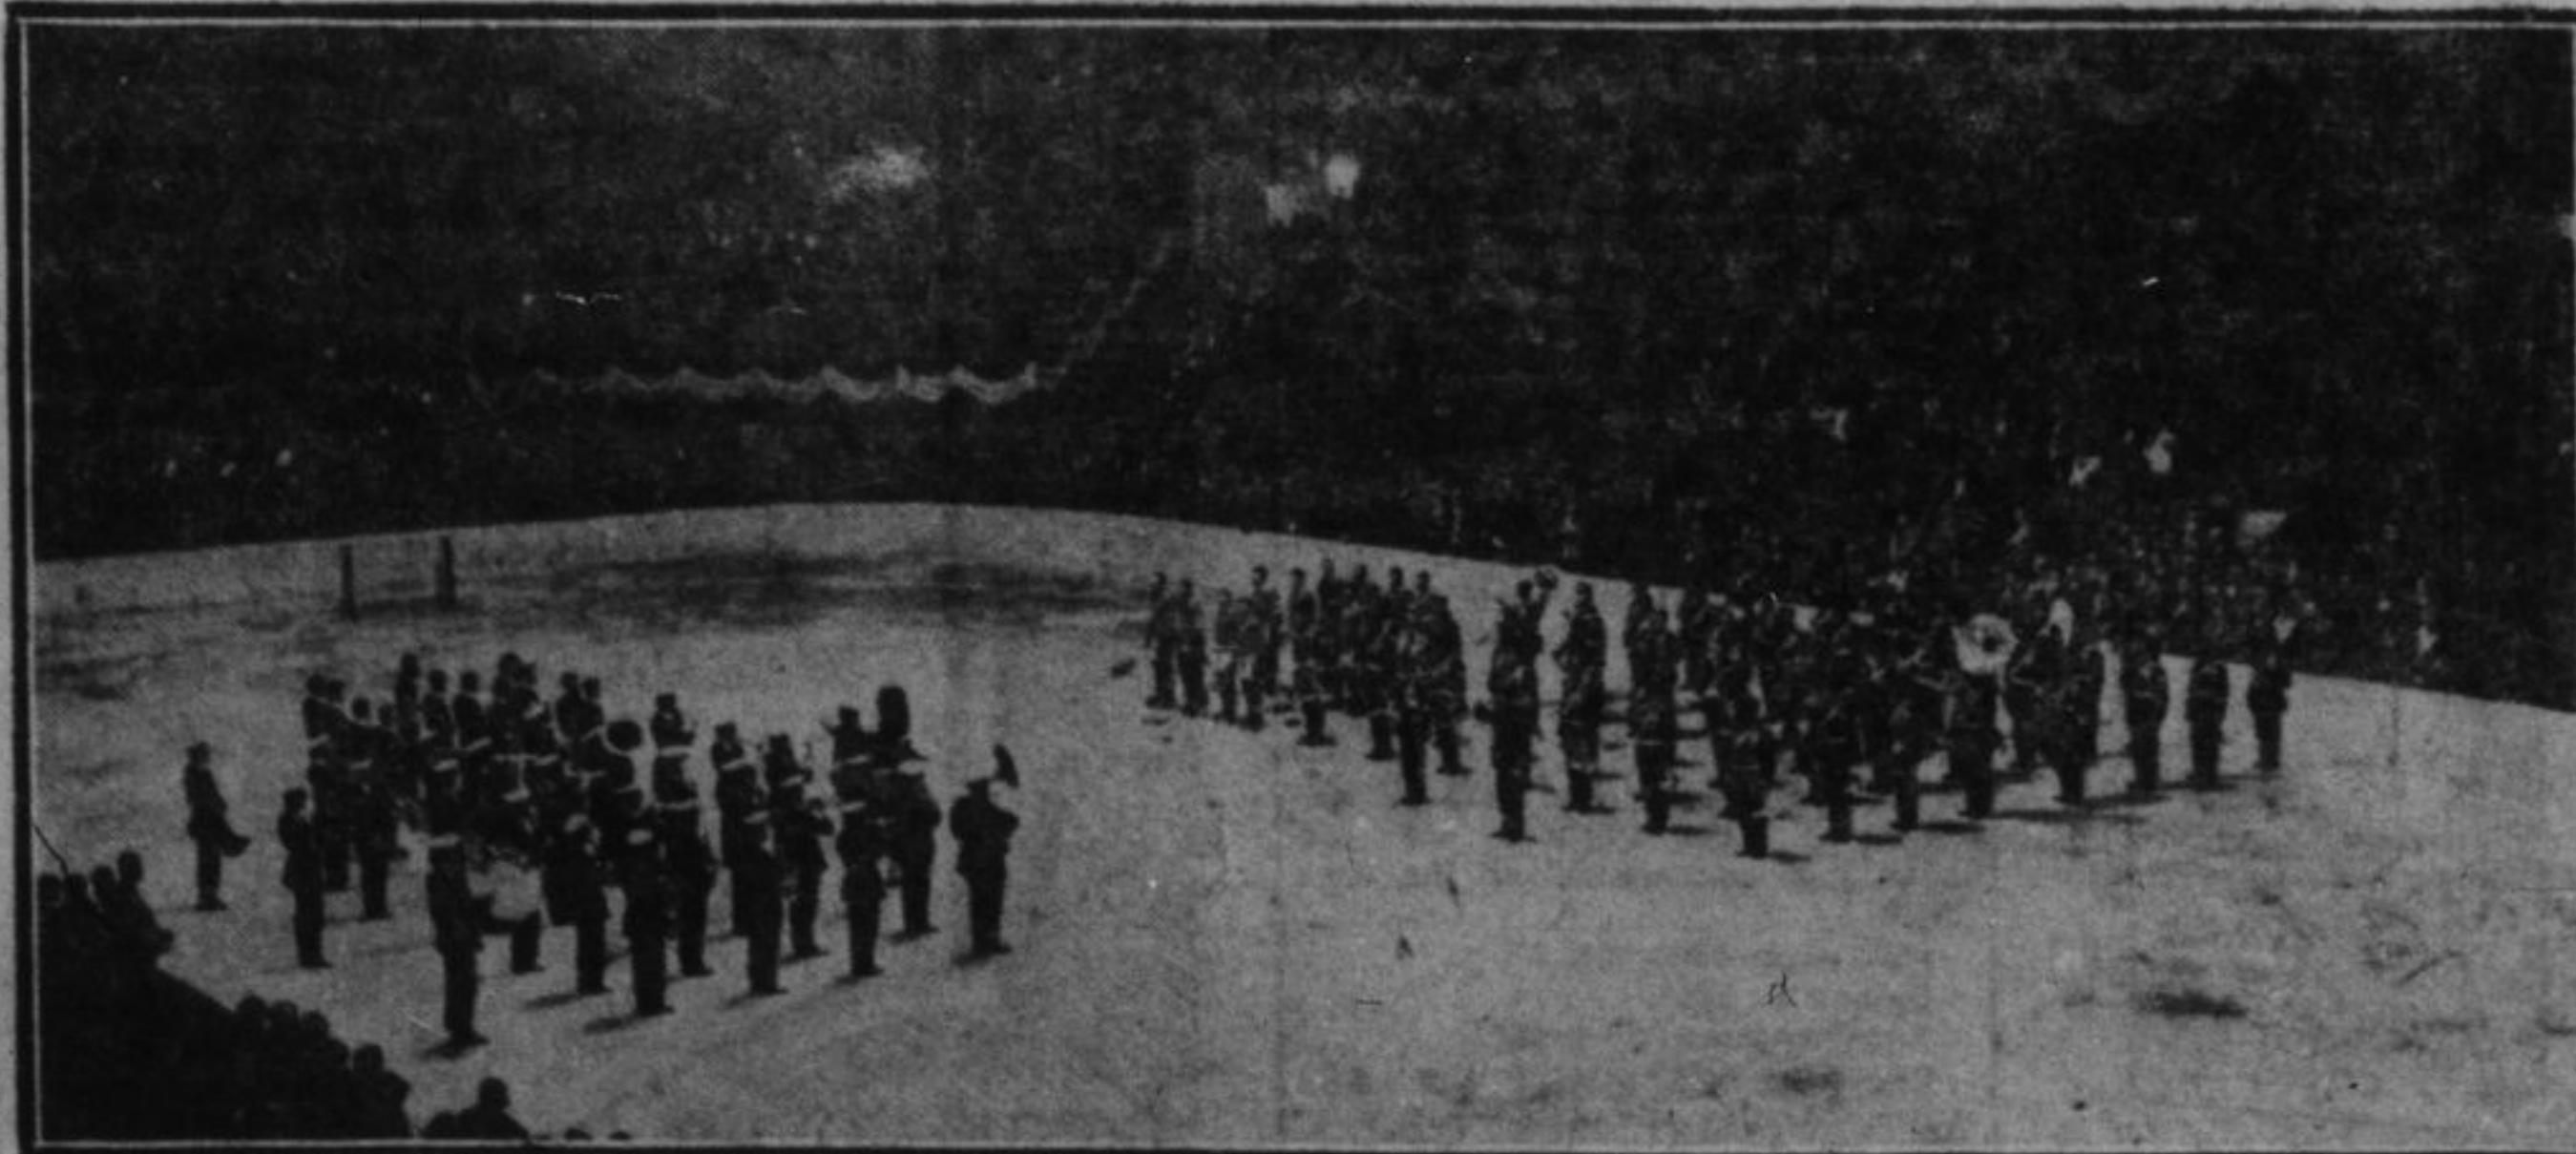

DUCHESS DOUANIERES D'UZES is the first woman to hold the office of Lieutenant de Louveterie which entitles her to wear a uniform and requires her to keep a pack of hounds. She is on the left of the picture on her favorite horse at the ceremony of blessing the hounds

PRINCE LEOPOLD greeting his bride on the quarter-deck of the Swedish cruiser Fylgia, on which Princess Astrid journeyed from Stockholm to Antwerp. To the right is Princess Ingeborg of Sweden

PRINCESS ROSPIGLIOSI, an American by birth, but now one of the leaders of the Roman aristocracy

RANGERS AND MAROONS open professional hockey season in New York. Elaborate ceremonies were carried out in Madison Square Garden and the Rangers, an all-Canadian team, defeated the Montreal Maroons in the initial contest. The West Point band of 136 pieces is shown with the members of both teams on the ice

DON, Blue Belton English setter, and Sir Roger de Couriel-yett, Jun., valued at $10,000, game dogs owned by George H. Hyman of Shohola Falls, Pa., noted sportsman and dog-breeder, holding ruffed grouse