

FACTORIES HAVE BIG POSSIBILITIES

Industries Committee Visits McKelvey & Birch's and Monarch Battery Buildings.

The Industries committee of the City Council and the Board of Trade on Thursday afternoon paid a visit of inspection to the new factory of McKelvey & Birch and to the factory of the Monarch Battery Co. The visit was for the purpose of obtaining a full understanding of the present working of these companies and also of the possibilities before them. The remarkable growth of these plants from a small beginning to their present standing is in itself proof enough for the by-laws which are to be submitted to the people on Dec. 6th. The McKelvey & Birch machine department started with "one man and an acetylene torch." At present there is employed in that department twenty-one men and they are occupying the building erected for the Litton machinery shops. The McKelvey & Birch by-law is for a fixed assessment of $1,000 on the new factory on Rideau street. Although a by-law for a fixed assessment on the Monarch Battery factory has twice gone to the people and has twice been turned down, yet the council is very optimistic for the success of a home industry and is placing it before the people once more. The by-law calls for a fixed assessment of $1,000 on the factory of the Monarch Battery Co. When the committee visited the factory of this company on Thursday afternoon the members were impressed with the great amount of work which is going on in that place. The firm started in a small building on Ontario street and it also expanded, and is at present in a large building on Montreal street employing about thirty men, the average wage being about twenty dollars a week. Mr. I. Cohen, the president, says that if the by-law goes through another building will be erected to accommodate the company.

Dr. W. W. Sands, industrial commissioner, said he believed that city-born industries were of far more value to the community than industries coming in and starting at the top rung of the ladder. Both of these industries started in the city, are owned by Kingstonsians and employ Kingstonsians. It is such firms that makes cities.

After the visit to the factories the committee held a meeting in the City Buildings to discuss the matter of the by-laws and the actual benefit that the city would receive if they were passed by the people.

KIWANIS OFFICER PRAISES ROTARY

W. Y. Mills Regrets That More of the Citizens Do Not Serve.

Mr. W. Y. Mills, district lieutenant-governor of the Kiwanis Club, was the speaker at the Rotary Club on Thursday. Mr. Mills spoke of co-operation and in this connection pointed to the local service clubs as examples. The Rotary Club he believed to be outstanding in this regard for it insisted on co-operation from its members where the other clubs only suggested it.

The speaker regretted that there were only approximately a hundred and fifty men in Kingston who would give the time to further the work of the international service clubs; he thought the local clubs should be much greater in size or there should be one or two other clubs such as the Lions and Civics represented.

The League of Nations, the recent Imperial Conference and the growth of the service clubs on the North American continent were the outstanding examples of the spirit of co-operation. With greater co-operation there would be fewer under-privileged children, fewer citizens who lived law-abiding lives but contributed nothing to the upbuilding of the community, and less out-of-town buying, concluded Mr. Mills.

Mr. Jack Elder presided at the meeting and the vote of thanks to the speaker was proposed and seconded by Mr. Herbert Moore and Mr. R. G. Andrews.

Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., spoke in a very humorous and interesting manner. Mr. S. A. Salisbury was at the piano, and he led in a merry "sing-song." ### Is There Hope Beyond the Grave?

People of all ages have been greatly interested in our subject; possibly no subject has caused greater controversy. The great rapidity with which events transpire in our day force upon all a keener realization of the shortness of human life, and hence the question of the dead becomes of ever increasing interest. Some say the dead are dead, and that is the last of them; others that they are not dead, but alive—the few in heaven and the great majority in hell fire and brimstone; still others say one never really dies but simply evolves on from one form of life to another. Where have our soldier dead gone? Will their loved ones see them again? Is there any such thing as a second chance? Or is one judged at death for all eternity?
