ADDRESS

Of the House of Representatives to the People of Massachusetts.

[Concluded.]

It is by these means, fellow Citizens, in our apprehension, that you are now involved in a WAR. The event forms a new Era in our national history. It is an event awful, unexpected, hostile to your interests, menacing to your liberties, and revolting to your feelings. It destroys your confidence in the protection which the constitution intended to afford against all wars repugnant to the interest and will of the people; and proves that your Congress is in greater subjection to Executive influence, & to the passions of the few, than to the ascendancy of dispassionate councils. But your duties are great in proportion to the magnitude of the exigency and the trial imposed upon your fortitude and patriotism.

You are the citizens of one country, and bound to support all constitutional laws, until, by a peaceable change of men, you can effect the repeal of such as are obnoxious. You must also defend your country against invasion by any foreign enemy, without weighing the justice or necessity of the War. We pray you to discourage all attempts to obtain redress of grievances by any acts of violence or combinations to oppose the laws. Your habits of obedience to the dictates of duty, your just and temperate views of your social & political obligations, your firm attachment to the Constitution, are pledges for the correctness of your conduct. When a great people find themselves oppressed by the measures of their Government, when their just rights are neglected, their interests overlooked, their opinions disregarded, and their respectful petitions received with supercilious contempt, it is impossible for them to submit in silence. In other countries, such occurrences produce tumults, rebellion & civil War. But in our country, a peaceable remedy may be found for these evils in the Constitution. Situated, however, as you now are, every man must be quick to discern, & active to apply this remedy. It must be evident to you that a President who has made this war, is not qualified to make peace, & that the men who have concurred in this act of desperation, are pledged to persevere in their course regardless of all consequences. Display then the majesty of the people in the exercise of your rights, and sacrificing all party feelings at the altar of your country's good, resolve to displace those who have abused their power, and betrayed their trust. Organize a peace party throughout your country, & let all other party distinctions vanish. Keep a steadfast eye upon the Presidential election, and remember that if he, whose fatal policy, has plunged you into this unexampled calamity is again raised to the chair; and if the abettors of war are to be entrusted with conducting it; you will have nothing to expect for years to come, but "the found of the warrior, and garments rolled in blood;" and that if you should by your aid accelerate the fall of Great Britain, you would merely deliver over your exhausted country, and enslaved posterity to the dominion of a tyrant, whose want of power alone refrains him from the exercise of unlimited despotism on the ocean, and the same tyranny in the new world which he has imposed upon the old.

To secure a full effect to your object, it will be necessary that you should meet & consult together for the common good in your towns and counties. It is in dark and trying times, that this constitutional privilege becomes invaluable. Express your sentiments without fear, and let the sound of your disapprobation of this War be loud and deep. Let it be distinctly understood, that in support of it, your conformity to the requisitions of law will be the result of principle and not of choice. If your sons must be torn from you by conscriptions, consign them to the care of God; but let there be no volunteers except for defensive war.

Remember this, if unsuccessful, will be the last effort of a free Republic; you must exhibit to the world the magnanimity and constancy of a people suffering under the oppression of their rulers & developing resources for relief in their own energy and virtue, & in the principles of their constitution, without destroying the fabric. Such a spectacle would indeed be most glorious for our country, and consolatory to a weeping world. The friends of the human race would rejoice that one free people has escaped a share into which its Government had fallen. But if blind with prejudice & passion we permit power to remain with those who forget right, we must become the allies of France, and our only honor will consist in our having been the last free Republic.

Finally, fellow-citizens, we are constrained to declare our opinion, that the war, under present circumstances, is a wanton sacrifice of your best interests. That the provocation is not adequate to this highest and most signal act of vengeance. That were it ever so just, it ought not to be undertaken without greater preparation. And that the declaration of war is in fact a commission from our government to the British cruizers to seize on that portion of our commercial capital which has hitherto escaped the aggressions of foreign nations, and the no less fatal measures of our own Government.
