Subscriptions for the SPECTATOR, a Paper lately established at St. Davids, and edited by Richard Cockrell, Esq. are received at the Post-Office, Kingston.

An appeal is made in the Quebec Gazette of the 22d February last, to the Philantrophy of the British Society in the Canada, which forcibly calls upon the feelings and recollections of a large proportion of the Inhabitants of this province in particular, to afford their mite in aiding a most benevolent Institution established in Scotland, to foster the Germs of Education and relieve from a State of Comparative ignorance many of the remote Inhabitants of the Highlands and Isles of Scotland, who from Local Causes are without those means of obtaining Instruction which are so liberally extended and enjoyed in every other part of the British Dominions.

The object of this Institution is to encourage and support Gaelic Schools for the purpose of teaching Reading in the English and Gaelic Languages, and to procure an Edition of Scriptures in which the English and Gaelic should be printed together on corresponding Pages.

In a Country peculiarly the choice of the children of Caledonia, where they have almost invariably been blessed with comfort and prosperity, such an appeal cannot fail in reviving the most grateful remembrances of their native land, and create a warm and generous desire to add to the permanent happiness of those who have not been separated from the land of their forefathers.

The Report of the Proceedings and progress of the Institution are to be seen at the stores of who will receive the smallest donation and carefully transmit the same to the agents at Quebec, in aid of this laudable and praise-worthy design. Kingston, 30th March, 1816. 43w3
