KINGSTON, JULY 27, 1816.

Thursday afternoon, Major General Wilson and suite, arrived at this place. Yesterday morning, at 8 o'clock, his arrival was announced by a salute of 17 guns from Mississangua Battery.

This morning, at 8 o'clock, Major General DeWatteville left this place for the Lower Province; on which occasion the General was saluted by a discharge of Artillery from the Market Place.

Rupture with Spain.—It is said in the Boston Centinel, that letters from the Mediterranean, state, on the authority of Mr. Murray, the American Secretary of Legation in Spain, that the Spanish government have a large disposable land force, and are determined to go to war with the United States, if West Florida should not be restored. The letters add, that the Spanish government hope to induce Great Britain to furnish ships and money for the enterprise. In this hope, we believe they will be sadly disappointed; and we have no fear that they will, in their present situation, and unassisted by England, be so rash as to commence a war with the United States.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE PHILADELPHIA REGISTER

The following official news, received by the Macedonian, proves completely the falsity of the accounts lately published of General Morillo's defeat.

Official account of the Capture of Santa Fe, the Capital of New Grenada.
[Translated for the Register.]

CARTHAGENA, JUNE 2, 1816.

His Excellency the Governor and Captain General of the Kingdom, Don Francisco de Montalvo, has just received the following official dispatch from his Excellency, Don Pablo Morillo, Commander in Chief of the Expeditionary Army:

Most Excellent Sir—The King's troops, under the orders of Colonels Don Miguel de la Torre and Don Sebastian de la Calzada, entered the Capital of this Kingdom on the 6th of this month; and the insurgents with their pretended government, and the remains of their bands are flying in terror in every direction. Some of the ignorant people who have suffered themselves to be seduced, are now undeceived, desert and return to their homes.

In a very short time the whole of this country will be entirely pacified, which has suffered so much from the excesses of a few wretches, headed by foreigners and by some emigrants from Carracacas, who have never had any other object in view, but that of robbery and plunder, which they have practised every where.

I communicate the foregoing intelligence to your excellency, for your satisfaction and information, and for that of the faithful inhabitants of the tranquil provinces.

God preserve your Excellency many years.

Head Quarters at San Gil, 17th May, 1816.

(Signed) PABLO MORILLO.
To his Excellency Don Francisco de Montalvo.

Private Correspondence.

Paris, May 28.—The public opinion weighs heavy on three distinguished personages of the revolution, who are suspected of being the secret contrivers and authors of the conspiracy which has lately manifested itself in this devoted country. This feeling is general, and their exile from the metropolis deemed necessary, even by the moderate royalists.

The rumours to which I was alluding, their mystery and nature were of so powerful an influence, that they inconceivably tended to one common end in this affair, the discordant interests of Orleansists, Republicans, Jacobins, and patriots.

"M. Chateaubrian's apprehensions of the mischief which would result from a renewal of the chamber by fifths, appear to be as lively as ever. The counter revolution," said he at M. Laboris, "is not at Grenoble, nor yet in the mountains of Dauphiny, nor yet at Nismes—it menaces us at Paris on the 18th of October if the renewal of the Chamber should not be integral—if we should not retain our seats the five years and after.—He continued in the prophetic tone of Jeremiah—Woe to the provocal Courts and the system of epuration—woe to the Emigrants whose hands are already in contact with the paternal threshold, and woe to the nocturnal warriors of La Vendee."

The British ship Atlas, from Jamaica bound to Norfolk, with a very valuable cargo, was lately cast away on one of the Bahama Islands. The vessel was totally lost; the crew and a small part of the cargo was saved.

NEW-YORK, JULY 18.

The Editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser states that he has seen private letters from Europe which mention, that it is supposed to be the intention of Lord Byron (who has left England for the East) to join Lady Hester Stanhope, in Arabia. Some accounts of the adventures of this extraordinary Woman were published in the Commercial Advertiser of Tuesday.

By the schooner Commerce, Captain Noyes, arrived at Newburyport in 26 days from Port Royal, Martinique, we learn that the British troops still occupied the garrisons at Martinique and Guadaloupe, owing to the delay of the French Government in sending out troops to take possession of those places; four transports, which came for the purpose of taking the British to Barbadoes, after lying 15 days, were dismissed, taking only part of the ordnance and stores. It was said the troops would in all probability continue at both places until the arrival of French troops.

Extract of a letter dated Cadix, June 6.

It is reported, and generally believed, that the Algerines have declared war against England, owing to Lord Exmouth having obtained the release of 1200 Christian Prisoners. I hope it is the case as the Dutchmen seem to require some assistance to shove them on, as their fleet has hitherto been carrying on the existing trade between Gibraltar and Malaga.

Expectation stands on the tiptoe to receive the Infanta of Portugal and Queen Elect of Spain. We are daily entertained with fug suggestions, accounting for her tardy approach, which, it would appear, is indefinitely postponed.

Insurrection of the Negroes.—We are indebted to a highly esteemed friend for the following very important intelligence.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Camden S. C. to his friend in Philadelphia, dated July 4, 1816.

"Our village and neighborhood have been in great confusion for some days past, owing to the fear of an insurrection of the blacks, and nothing but the interposition of that Being, to whom we are indebted for all our mercies, has saved us from disaster."

"This was the fatal night which was to have accomplished a plan, which they had in agitation since last Christmas; it was their intention to have set fire to one part of the town, and while the attention of the people was taken up with that, they meant to have taken possession of the arsenal which is filled with arms and ammunition, and proceeded to murder the men but the women they intended to have reserved for their own purposes, this is their own confession.—Our jail is filled with negroes. They are stretched on their backs on the bare floor, and scarcely move their heads, but have a strong guard placed over them; their trials have been going on to-day, and six of the ring-leaders are to be executed to-morrow."

"This is really a dreadful situation to be in. I think it is time for us to leave a country where we cannot go to bed in safety."

"Their thirst for revenge must have been great—it was the wish of some to spare some of the whites, and they mentioned an old gentleman who is a preacher—he never owned a slave, and has devoted much of his time to preach to them on the plantations, but even him they would not spare."

"I much fear that the execution of those who are now in custody, will exasperate the others to do a great deal of mischief. We are indebted to a slave for the discovery of this plan, but we shall never know who he is, as he requested his master when he told him, never to tell his name—he said he did not wish to leave his country, and he knew the negroes would not let him live here."

"The negroes will never know who betrayed them, for they tried to engage for a great distance round."

A letter from Governor Cass to the commanding officer of the British vessel Tecumseh, dated Detroit, June 6 1816.

Sir—It has been officially represented to me, that in several instances, within a few days vessels bound from ports of the United States upon Lake Erie, to this place, have been boarded by parties of men from an armed vessel of his B. M. lying off Amherstburgh.

These parties have entered the vessels while passing thro' the usual channel of communication between Lakes Erie and Huron, in one instance with the avowed object of taking therefrom two men, under pretence of their being British deserters, and in all instances with objects, so far as they could be ascertained from the questions and conduct of the boarding officer, which furnish no justification for a British officer forcibly entering a vessel of the United States.

The manner in which this service has been performed has had no tendency to diminish the effect which the character of such transactions is calculated to produce.

The conduct of the boarding officer has been arrogant and imperious.

In an aggression like this, the government of the United States can alone determine what course the honor and interest of the nation requires should be taken.

But until their decision shall be made upon the subject, it becomes my duty to remonstrate against a practice for which the laws of nations afford no pretence; which is inconsistent with the relations existing between the respective governments; and the continuance of which must be attended with serious and important consequences.

Very respectfully sir, I have the honor to be, your obedient servant.

(Signed) LEWIS CASS.
The Officer, &c.

It is wished that the answer to this note had accompanied it; as it probably would have shown that these searchings are very common on the frontiers of nations, and arise out of the zeal of officers to apprehend deserters; are not intended to violate neutral rights, and are wholly unknown and unauthorized by the governments of the offenders.

QUEBEC, July 18, 1816.

His Excellency Sir John Sherbrooke, G. C. B. Lady Sherbrooke, and their respective suit, arrived in the harbour on Friday morning last, in the steam boat Mailham from on board H. M. S. Niger, off River Quelle.

His Excellency landed at the King's Wharf at nine o'clock. On his stepping on shore, he was received by the officers of the Staff and Field officers of the army, and respectfully greeted with three cheers from the numerous assembly of the inhabitants who had collected on the wharf to witness his Excellency's arrival. A salute was fired at the same time from the Grand battery.—His Excellency proceeded in a coach, accompanied by Major General Wilson through a lane formed by the Troops in Garrison, to the Castle, where His Majesty's Executive Council for the Province was assembled to receive him. His Excellency's Commission as Capt. General and Governor in Chief was then read and the usual oaths being administered, the event of His Excellency's assuming the government, was announced by a salute from the grand battery.

Lady Sherbrooke landed a short time after His Excellency, before the troops were withdrawn, and was escorted to the Castle by several officers of the Staff.

The following officers came in His Excellency's suit from Halifax, viz: Lieut. Colonel Addison, Military Secretary, Capt. Razellette, } Aids de Camp.
Capt. Oates.

On Tuesday there was a Levee at the castle at one o'clock, and at two Lady Sherbrooke held a drawing room; both of which were numerously attended.

Montreal, July 6.

The operation of Lithotomy by the skill and ingenuity of Dr. Nelson, was, last week, performed with the greatest success, upon George Raitchel, a boy aged about 10 years. He had from his infancy, been afflicted with calculus, and his sufferings, gradually increasing with his age, had induced many to suppose that "no relief this side of the Atlantic" could be afforded. He was, however, submitted to the care of Dr. N. and, we are happy to state, is now on a speedy recovery.

This is the third operation of the kind performed by Dr. Nelson within the nine months past, in all of which his success has equalled the most sanguine expectation.

With what astonishment should we witness the extraordinary success of this young surgeon, when we are informed, that, in the operation of Lithotomy, perplexity and discomfort frequently overtake the most experienced surgeons of Europe?
