NEW ARRANGEMENTS OF THE MONTREAL GAZETTE.

OR the greater accommodation of our readers in Upper Canada, and the South side of the St. Lawrence in Lower Canada, we have recently made arrangements to issue for them an early edition of the Gazette on Monday and Thursday Forenoons, in and two days later intelligence from Montreal by the Gazette, than at present can be furnished by any other semi-weekly paper.

When any late and interesting intelligence arrives after our first impressions are thrown off-a Postscript will be given in a Second edition of the afternoon, for the information of our readers in Town, on the line of the Ottawa River, and in the Lower District of this Province.

This arrangement we confidently anticipate will be favourably received by all classes of our Subscribers, and be acknowledged by a still further increase of the present very extensive circulation Emerson Burley, James Baker, 2. John of the Gazette in both Provinces. From the present arrangements of the Post Office, we shall be enabled to give the very latest news received within an hour of the time of departure of the different Mails from Lower and Upper

We request of our Agents to notify this alteration to all intending Subscribers, and to transmit us their lists of new names as soon as possible, in order ron, Julia Condon, alias Shea, Joseph | that we may send them papers from the commencement of this year's volume, to pay One Pound, Twelve Shillings and which will contain very important debates and proceedings of our Provincial Parliament at Quebec, as reported by James Douglas, David Davis, James Dick- our Correspondent exclusively for this

TECUMSEH; OR THE WARRIOR OF THE WEST. A Poem, in Four Cantos.

BY ANENGLISH OFFICER.

(Author of the Canadian Campaign.) HE name and actions of Tecumseh must be familiar to every inhabitant of Canada: and a desire to see the memory of so distinguished and exwriter, however humble, must be a sentiment co-equal with the admiration so universally excited during his enterprising career, not less among his enemies than among his allies and his friends. The Author of this Epic Poem, which is illustrated by copious notes, is himself RICK KEELER, are to be settled a Canadian, and has often combated at the side of Tecumseh, to whom he was more immediately known. On that memorable day which deprived nature of one of her brightest though rudest gems, and the nearly now exterminated Indian tribes of a lead'er devoted to their interests and their liberties, he nor in Council, that sealed Proposals post beheld the remains of that glorious paid, for a Lease of the Ferry from Wolf | Chieftain mangled and disfigured even as he has described them. Scarcely an Officer of the division on that untoward occasion failed to pay the just tribute of regret to his memory, and but few there were who 'did not lose sight of their own personal feelings in the depth and sincerity of their grief for the noble

The principal and original view of the Author, in composing his Poem, was to rescue the name of this truly great man from the unmerited oblivion to which it had been consigned; but aware of the difficulty under which, as an unknown writer, he labours in giving his work all necessary publicity, he has adopted the suggestions of numerous li-THE Subscriber has 300 barrels of terary friends, to print the volume by SALT, which he will sell cheap subscription among naval and military men. He trusts moreover that by his own countrymen some encouragement will be afforded, not simply in his character of Poet, the first of his native soil who has adventured on the dangerous shoals of verse, but also in that of the Historian, the panegyrist of him who is now no more, but whose name and whose memory there can be few Canadians unwilling to see transmitted to posterity.

The Poem opens with a description of the action on Lake Erie, where the gallant and unfortunate Barclay, after essaying all that human courage and resolutions could attain, was compelled to Tartan Plaid, Green Baize, Apron Check, strike to a superior enemy; and on this Irish knit Hose; with many articles suitaleading feature the several other ble to the present season, and at very low incidents of the Poem are made to
