

SONG.
LITTLE CUPID.
Little Cupid's quite a stranger
To his native home the heart;
After wealth a constant ranger,
Chafing with a pedlar's art.
Natures language plain and simple,
He no longer deigns to prize;
Seldom sports his in a dimple,
Seldom visits sparkling eyes.
Tracts of land and bags of money,
He knows how to estimate;
Ere you taste himonial honey,
You must learn to calculate.

From the New York Constellation.
A JACK FOR ALL TRADES.
A druggist in this city, last week advertised for a clerk, and among other applicants was that of a tall, awkward looking fellow, apparently twenty-five years of age, coarsely dressed, without stockings, and with a skin as rough as the skin of a rhinoceros. After staring a while at the splendid bottles, and other things that attracted his notice, he broke out :-
Are you the druggist of this 'ere establishment?
Yes.
Well I thought so as soon as I came in, said the fellow. I know a thing or two, for all I look so. I've been readin in the newspapers about how you are in want of a clerk, and thinks I, as soon as I cast my eyes on't, now that place will just suit me to a hair. And so I've come right up here to make a bargain.
Have you been bread to the business, inquired the druggist.
I cant say as I have, exactly, replied the lout, but I've been bred to farmin, and I have a brother that can chop wood like a horse, which I spose will answer all the same.
But said the druggist, I should like to get a man who understands something of the business.
Why, for that matter, returned the fellow, I could soon larn; I'm a pretty ingenious feller about any thing I undertake. Why, it's only last winter I made a whole new pig-trough out of my own head. What do you think of that, sir.
I suppose you found the stuff already fitted to your hands. But I imagine it is easier for you to make a pig-trough than a druggist.
Try me then, and see, said the persevering applicant. You don't know till you try. Now what'll you wager I cant tell what's in that are round bottle there in the winder?
I'm not in the habit of betting, said the druggist, but I doubt you very much whether you can tell.
You wont bet, hay, replied the fellow, then I'll tell you without. That stuff that looks so blue in that are bottle, is dyostatic-muriatic-problematic-generatic acid. I larn that of the doctor in our town. Don't you think now, sir, I'm a purty ingenious scholar?
I must say, you have given a very fair specimen, replied the owner of the shop, but as it takes some years to larn the druggist's business, I think you had better engage in something which you can understand more readily.
You think I had, hay? with a mortified look. He then stood musing for a while, and drumming on the counter, when all of a sudden, seeming to have caught a new idea, he burst out, 'By jingo! Mister, I believe you're right, and now I think out, I'll go this minute and see if I can't git a piece in a very short time.'
YANKEE!--Question--You han't none of you seen nothing of no hat no where along here upon none of these seats have you?
Answer--We han't none on us, seen nothing of no hats nor nothing of no kind no where on none of these seats nor no where else as I knows on.

SALT RHEUM.--This inveterate disease, which has long baffled the art of the most experienced physicians, has, at length, found a sovereign remedy in Dr. La Grange's genuine ointment. Few cutaneous diseases are met with more reluctantly by the physician, & none in which he is so universally unsuccessful. This ointment has stood the test of experience, and justly obtained an unparalleled celebrity. It immediately removes the scabs, gives a healthy action to the vessels of the skin, and its original colour and smoothness. Numerous recommendations might be obtained of its superior efficacy, but the proprietor chose that a fair trial should be its only commentator. It has in three or four weeks cured cases of fifteen and twenty years' standing, that had resisted the power of every remedy that was tried. It not only at once gives immediate relief in Salt Rheum, but cures Tinea Capitis, commonly called Scald Head, and all scabby eruptions peculiar to unhealthy children.
There is nothing of a mercurial nature contained in it, and it may be used on infants or others under any circumstances whatever.
PRICE One Dollar per BOTTLE.
