Touraine. Hulf past four .--- I have just been at the two Chambers. At seven o'clock, M. Montalivet rose in the Chamber of Deputies to propose resolutions respecting the National Guard. You will find a copy of his speech in the second edition of the Messager des Chambres, which I shall send you. General Sebastiani was expected to follow with a demand for 150 million of francs for his (the Foreign Department.) ... All at the Chamber appeared to expect war. At the Chamber of Peers the Commissioners presented their report to the . Chamber (in secret Committee,) and rotired at half-past three. Nothing has yet manspired. The Funds have recovered a little, as you will see by your lists, but without any news to account for it.

The following is an extract from a private letter, dated Nov. 29, half-past four o'clock :---

"No message from the crown has been brought down to the Chamber by ministers on the state of the diplomatic affairs, or demand for a large credit to meet the expenses of the proparations for war, as credibly announced by yesterday and this morning's papers. At the Bourse it was reported that M. Lafitte intended not to oppose the occupation of the duchess of Luxemburg by the Prussians. The publie-voice was against the adoption of such a course of policy."

Charles Watkins Wyon was appointed on the 30th November, Secretary at War. Lord Glentwarth is appointed Governor of New South, Wales. This appointment is satisfactory to the merchants interested in this rapidly improving colony.

The High Shoriff of Buckinghamshire arrived in town express on Monday night, for the purpose of councunicating with the Government on the disturbed state of several districts in that county. Lord Melbourne being in the House of Lords when that gentleman reached the Home Office, he proceeded immediately thither, and had a long interview with his Lordship; after which the Noble Secretary accompanied him to the Home Office. -Herald.

Mr. Epiron,-Having occasion lately to be travelling in the country, and the fall of night fast approaching, I entered the tavern of Mr. William Smith, nine miles from Kingston, on the Bath road, to abide for the night.
