HE COMES NO MORE.

He comes no more! The flowers are blooming, Their fragrant breath the bower perfuming, Even as of yore— But he who used to gaze enchanted Upon me, when those flowers were planted, He comes no more!— No more!

POPULATION OF POLAND.—Upon an examination of the official returns of the population of the kingdom of Poland, made up to the end of year 1828, we find that, exclusively of the army, the number of its inhabitants was 4,088,289, exhibiting an increase, within the space of five years, of 383,983 souls. In that interval, the number of births exceeded the deaths by 281,380. It is remarkable that, in the same period of five years, as many as 102,623 strangers had settled in the country. Of the whole population in 1828, there were 857,592 individuals living in towns and 3,200,697 out of them. The average number of persons located within each square mile was 1,894. The Catholic population was, 3,471,282 Protestant, 232,744 Hebrew, 384,263

Of the latter class it may be remarked, that there were three-fourths, namely, 308,578, were resident in towns. According to the preceding rate of increase, the actual population of the kingdom of Poland would be 4,280,000 souls. But this amount would form too weak a state to maintain its independence, or that of western Europe, against the fifty millions of widely scattered Muscovite vassals. It might not, therefore, be inconsistent with the interests of Austria and Prussia to disgorge their ill-gotten spoils;—the best and most politic expiation which they could make for their robbery. In this event, we shall have a state composed of the following efficient and compact materials:— Kingdom of Poland, 4,280,000 Gallacia, 4,317,000 Posen, 730,800 Bromberg, 333,600

The erection of such a dominion is not, however, likely to follow, but upon the success of the insurrection in the Polish possessions of the Russian Crown. That success would almost inevitably emancipate the people of Gallacia, Posen, and Bromberg; and, in such a case, regenerated Poland would command the following human resources:— Kingdom of Poland, with Austrian and Prussian Poland, 9,660,400 Provinces of Wilna, Grodno, Witepsk, Mohilew, Minsk, Volhynia, Podolia, and Bialystock, 8,448,000

In every point of view, whether as a mere military diversion, or as the result of a deeper estimate of reflects, it was a masterly policy which led to the Polish Government to seek for an ally in the revolt of their fellow-countrymen on the eastern side of the Vistula. Letters of O. P. Q.—New Series.—No. 1. To the Editor of the London Morning Chronicle.

PARIS, July 23. Sir—In commencing a New Series of Letters to the Morning Chronicle, you must allow me to avail myself of the opportunity which is thus presented for saying a few words relative to this correspondence. To-day we begin a new era in the History of France—and I will add, in the History of Europe! I have taken the necessary means to inform, with even greater exactitude and promptitude than has hitherto been the case, of all that shall pass in Belgium, Poland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Russia, Prussia, Austria, and even Turkey—either in the event of war or of peace! I shall never announce an event of which I am not certain—and for the sake of making the ignorant stare and the news-monger wonder, shall never condescend to catch the passenger by claps, and give a fact to-day which we may, or rather must, be denied to-morrow. My opinions are known by my correspondence. I belong to the party which desires the "greatest possible happiness of the greatest number for the greatest period of time."

My past correspondence has made some stir in the world. My files of newspapers apprise me that my letters have been, and are still translated into the French, German, Spanish, Polish, and Italian languages. I attribute this to the fact of my being the sincere and zealous advocate of "the greatest happiness principle," and not to any merit either of style or phrase in the letters themselves! I am truly sensible of all their defects, and many of them I shall seek to remedy! There is certainly no reason why the ear should not be pleased as well as the heart warmed!

To my friends the Journalists of the United States of America, I offer an unfeigned expression of gratitude for the many obliging proofs they have given of the interest which my correspondence excites in that happy and highly-favoured land; and for the kindness with which they have received even the errors of my pen. One word more! When first I commenced my correspondence with The Chronicle, I informed your readers that I should maintain my anonymous character, and should probably never divulge my name. This desire of privacy I then stated, as I now repeat, is grounded on personal considerations with which the public has no concern! I attack no one. I am no libeller, nor raker into other men's secrets. If I were disposed to tell the thousandth part of what I knew of the public and private characters of most of the leading characters in Europe, I might fill The Chronicle with slander, and instead of serving the "greatest happiness principle," I should be pandering to the most of appetites, and encouraging the most dangerous and destructive of passions. I have to do with principles, and not with men, and with history and facts; and my object is to promote the extension of civil and religious liberty, education, and civilization, all over the world.

During the nearly two years which has now elapsed since I first wrote to The Chronicle, I have seen myself described in English, American, French, and other foreign journals, as, first a Member of the Extreme Gauche of the French Chamber of 1830; second, as an Ex-member of a certain well-known English Borough; 3d, as a celebrated translator of Foreign poets and one of the ornaments of the age in which we live! I need not mention names. 4. As an American Secretary of an American Embassy. 5. As a Chaplain to a Foreign Ambassador in this capital. 6. As a Pole, who has lived for some years in Paris, and to whom both the English and French Reviews are indebted for many delightful articles on that country. 7. As a Belgian, who had past some years in Italy and in England, and who is well known and justly admired for his classical taste and talents as an amateur artist; and 8. As an English physician, who has spent many years in Portugal, and knows something about all Europe! In all cases the names have been published, and of many of them I should justly be proud. But I am obliged to reject the list, and beg the guessers "to begin again," though I promise them not to reply to their inquiries. The real author of these letters is not, and will not be known, except by the initials of your obedient servant, O. P. Q.

MRS. PARMENTIER offers for sale at the Horticultural Botanical Garden, Brooklyn, L. I. two miles from New York, a fine collection of the most desirable kinds of Table and Wine Grapes, Pears, Apples, Cherries, Peaches, Plums, Nectarines, Apricots, &c. Also, Forest and Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, Green-house and Herbaceous Plants, a choice collection of Monthly and Hardy Roses. Printed directions for planting are furnished to purchasers.

Mr. James Macfarlane, Editor of this paper, will receive orders for fruit and ornamental Trees from her collection. Mrs. P. will make arrangements, that whatever is ordered from him will be carefully packed and forwarded without the slightest delay. Catalogues can be obtained gratis, Post Paid at the Office of the Chronicle. Reference.—John Macaulay, John Kirby, John Marks, Stephen Yarwood, Allan McLean, Esquires. 24th March, 1831.

N. B.—It may be proper to mention that the necessary directions will be sent along with the different trees as to the manner of treating them. Trees received in the fall can be safely buried in the ground until the spring, when they can be planted without receiving any injury from the frost provided that they are entirely covered, branches and all, with earth. The smallest orders will be received—and care shall be taken that several orders will be made up into one package with a view to save the expense of carriage.

The subscriber having been appointed Agent in this Province for Mrs. Parmentier, is now ready to receive orders agreeably to the above advertisement. JAMES MACFARLANE. Kingston, 24th March, 1831.

SALT RHEUM.—This inveterate disease, which has long baffled the art of the most experienced physicians, has, at length, found a sovereign remedy in Dr. La Grange's genuine ointment. Few cutaneous diseases are met with more reluctance by the physician, & none in which he is so universally unsuccessful. This ointment has stood the test of experience, and justly obtained an unparalleled celebrity. It immediately removes the scabs, gives a healthy action to the vessel so the skin, and its original colour and smoothness. Numerous recommendations might be obtained of its superior efficacy, but the proprietor chose that a fair trial should be its only commentator. It has in three or four weeks cured cases of fifteen and twenty years' standing, that had resisted the power of every remedy that was tried. It not only at once gives immediate relief in Salt Rheum, but cures Tinea Capitis, commonly called Scald Head, and all scabby eruptions peculiar to unhealthy children. There is nothing of a mercurial nature contained in it, and it may be used on infants or others under any circumstances whatever. PRICE ONE DOLLAR per BOTTLE. For sale by Wm. Binley, Kingston, John Musson, Quebec, and George Beut Montreal, Sole Agent for the Canadas. Kingston, 11th July, 1828.

An Extract from the Regulations of Upper Canada College. THE College Quarters are ordered as follows:— First Quarter begins immediately after the Christmas vacation, about the 4th of January, and ends on the 20th of March. Second Quarter begins on the 20th March, and ends on the 10th June. Third Quarter begins on the 10th June and ends at the commencement of the Summer vacation, about the 16th of August. Fourth Quarter begins immediately after the summer vacation, about the 1st of October, and ends at the commencement of the Christmas vacation, about the 21st December.

At whatever period of either of the above quarters a scholar is admitted into the College or preparatory school, his dues for instruction are payable from the beginning of that quarter.

THE PROVINCIAL STATUTES. THE undersigned beg to inform the public that their Revised Edition of the Provincial Statutes will be ready on or about the 1st of November next. It will contain all the British Laws which relate particularly to the Canadas, the Ordinances of Quebec, proclamations issued by Lord Dochester and Governor Simcoe, and the whole of the Provincial Statutes now in force, from the year 1792 to 1831, inclusive, with such notes of reference as circumstances appeared to require, and a most copious Index.

In preparing the work for the Press the utmost attention has been paid to correctness, the paper is of the best quality, and the publishers trust that its Typographical execution will equal, if not surpass, that of any work ever published in Canada, none but the most competent Printers being engaged in the office from which it is to issue. It may not be amiss to add, that all persons who subscribe for this Edition will be annally furnished with the succeeding Provincial enactments at a moderate price, and printed in the same form as the work now in the Press. H. C. THOMSON. JAMES MACFARLANE. Kingston, June 14, 1831.
