

WHY HIS EXCELLENCY SIR FRANCIS HEAD RESERVED THE MONEY BILLS FOR HIS MAJESTY'S CONSIDERATION.

1. Because the refusal of the House of Assembly to vote so small a sum as £5,272 8 11, the amount required to defray the expenses of the Government, showed that the majority of the House of Assembly were willing to dissolve the connexion between this Province and Great Britain, inasmuch as if the Lieutenant Governor had not reserved the different Money Bills, Province no longer paying the expenses of the Government Offices would thus deprive the King's Representative of the means of carrying on the Government, and be making the first step towards a separation from the Empire of Great Britain.

TO THE INDEPENDENT FREEHOLDERS OF THE COUNTY OF FRONTENAC.

GENTLEMEN, Having been earnestly requested to offer myself as Candidate for the representation of the County of Frontenac, in the ensuing Parliament, I have, somewhat reluctantly, consented to solicit your suffrages; but although my coming forward has been a matter of persuasion, yet should I be successful, my constituents will have no occasion to complain of any backwardness in serving them.

The procession of the Fete Dieu, which took place on Sunday last, was celebrated with more than usual pomp and ceremony. The Bishop of Melrose and his Clergy carried the host. The streets were fully arrayed with branches, and in addition several arches and other ornamental devices were to be observed in different directions.

It is stated that the tea-plant has been successfully cultivated in Ohio for the last ten years, and after numerous experiments the leaves are dried and manufactured into tea of a quality quite equal to the imported young Hyson.

Office a few days ago, mailed at Charleston Mass.; there cannot be a doubt, in the mind of any one, after reading its address, of which the following is an exact copy, that some one of the "nine" must have inspired the writer.

I spoke to Uncle Sam one day, About a pass to Canada, He named his price, to dispute were vain, So here I go to STANFORD PLAIN.

Important news for the Colonies.—The Toronto Courier of the 4th instant furnishes the following important information.

REJOICE TO ANNOUNCE THAT THE REPORT, WHICH HAS BEEN FOR SOME DAYS PAST IN CIRCULATION, THAT AN EXTENSIVE BRITISH BANKING INSTITUTION WAS ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED IN THESE COLONIES IS CONFIRMED!!!

The proceedings of the recent meeting of the mechanics will appear on Wednesday. For the Chronicle & Gazette. BATTLE OF THE SAINTS. The story for about told, "Rose not from him and put her up, While he stands now give their souls down, Antipodal for not he's not a braver; But in some distant part, By one who has no patron Saint."

Before I conclude, may I allude to Mr. Thorburn, who (poor man!) could not penetrate the diabolical mystery, that a grant made to the Wesleyan Missionary Society for the purpose of promoting the religious instruction of the Indian Tribes and desolate Settlers, was not a pension to the Methodist Conference and Preachers in Canada!

Mr. STEPHEN MILES of the Office of the Chronicle & Gazette, is now on a collecting tour through the Upper part of the Province. All those indebted to the Establishment, are respectfully requested to be prepared to meet the arrival of Mr. Miles as his stay at the several places at which he has to call, will necessarily be of short duration.

REV. E. RYERSON'S LETTER.

We beg to bespeak the attention of the reader to the letter from Rev. E. Ryerson published in this day's paper. It contains facts worthy of the attention of all classes but more especially claims the serious consideration of the Wesleyan Methodists, whom it more immediately concerns. It can scarcely be necessary to remind any member of this great body of Christians that the writer of this letter is one who has consecrated his time and talents to the interests of their church—that he has with indefatigable perseverance and devoted industry laboured to promote their welfare—that long experience and an intimate acquaintance with public men in this Province has enabled him to form correct opinions of their merits and designs, and that no person is more capable of distinguishing the designing enemies from the real friends of Methodism.

The motion was opposed by Lord John Russell, Mr. Hume, and others. Even Sir James Graham and Sir Robert Peel withheld their support; but notwithstanding, on a division taking place, 172 voted with the Marquess, and only 208 with the Ministers, leaving a majority of 36. Had Sir Robert Peel and Sir James Graham voted with Lord Chandos, the Ministers would, in all probability, have been left in a minority.

Mr. W. Molesworth, on the 3d of May, again brought the subject of Lord Brudenell's appointment to the Colony of the 11th Dragoons before the House, and offered the following motion:—"That a select committee be appointed to inquire into the conduct of the Commander-in-Chief of the Army, in reference to the appointment of Lord Brudenell as Lieutenant-Colonel of the 11th Regiment of Light Dragoons."

Mr. Manahan's Letter to the Editor of the Belleville Intelligencer, and his second Address to the Free and Independent Electors of the County of Hastings, were received this morning, but came too late for this day's paper. We shall endeavor to do Mr. Manahan justice on Wednesday.

he was compelled to do in his speech on the Grievance Committee Report; nor do I wish his constituents to remember any of his transgressions either against me or my friends.—There was a time when Mr. Perry defended the Methodist nobly and liberally. I have not forgotten it, although he may please to designate me a "traitor." It will take his stand where he did once as a Constitutional Reformer.—If he will defend the Methodists against the calumnies and destructive designs of the party now labouring to injure them and the principal emissary of which he despises in his heart—I will venture to say, that whether I am in Kingston or in England, the Methodists in Lenox and Addington will be Mr. Perry's enemies, and may even yet allow him to be the Representative of their rights, liberties and characters. But if he should continue the course he has pursued during the last two years—and that which the majority of the present Assembly pursued in adopting that present calumnious Report, and in advocating changes in the Colonial Constitution destructive of its peace and connexion with the Parent State—he can expect that the Methodists are such traitors to the peace, character and interests of their own Church and of their country as to support or countenance him?

I feel that it would be impertinent in me to say one word on the general question, after the admirable article that you have put forth on the subject—and which I have enclosed to Lord Glenelg. I hope with your increased experience, and well-known and fully-proved attachment to the Conference and its measures as well as to the peace and economy of the Church, you will long continue to be the Guardian of its character and interests, and the Christian instructor of the public. As a Connection I know we may repose every confidence in His Majesty's Government, from which we have every thing to hope and nothing to fear, as they are becoming more and more acquainted with the real character and value of Wesleyan Methodism in the Colonies.
