Mr. Secretary-I think it will be allowed that I merer rise to make a speech. I had not intended to solders the Council on this subject. I believe wasen of distress in England, for the Province which he will govern but for a short time, he has promoud us English names. English terops and forlibrations. It is a prost of the succepts of his pledges; has far from the consultrations of ambitace, of fortune, from all that actuals an ordinary man! Since the net of Lunon has been introduced. it eannot pass without discussion. Some honorable the people that they may think are now subjected, these persons little know the man under whom I have the benour to wree. But can it be an invalt to are that he is invested with the producer of a British subject. If any have hitherto been ignorant of his position under the Act, I trust he will now understand. That will become the pride of the peaple of Lower Canada who have injuriously thought that the provisions of the Art of Ligon was intended as the imposition of penalties for past events. I deny the. It may be the opinion of some, but such is not the principle of the Government. The From h people of Canada are in a country inhabited by British races. I do not restrict my expression to Canada, but extend it to the great country on which this borders. The English races have expelled all others from the soil, and happily for all to the extinction of war. All others have faded before the race, or have united in one great stream, and will go down as the successors of British origin,-We wish Lower Canada to be as ourselves. What as to their language ! The restriction for them and for ourselves is an advantage. Have they any hopes that here, with millions on millions of a people, which every year and every day are filling up the country, that they can outnumber these. Let them look forward fifty years from the present,—can they compare with the British population. Let them not maintain the struggle, as they would not entail on themselves and their children the reality of what they now famey. I say if they wish well to their children they should adopt the language of the country with which they are united. Next as to the difference of amount of population, I deny the inference made. It is not an ansair apportionment.— The representation should be on a principle that will endure. The present is not an ephemeral measure, t is for the future. If the difference be an actual or quality complained of in left that of a day. Why fellow in the fatal course hitherto pursued t. Why always going back to first principles, until we arrive at revolutions ! Why always debuting on the exeentire, to the neglect of all practical good in forthis point when they see all inequality must vanish. Its prevalence would make a real inequality if see nish to be united. Highly as I think of the French language, assurts as I admire it, identifying it with that polish of mind resulting from a French education, set, its adoption as perposed would be disad-

tion has resulted for the benefit of their children.

Mr. Dr. Braggerene.—It is poinful to procract this decarsion. I hope we shall not disid., but if decars to this position, I feel called upon as an in-Fabiliant of Upper County, to say that the imputa-tion of inequality is not put fairly. Because, if you where that it has not the population which the Impeand Parliament some to assemble to it, how is in that the other division has the temperity. Upper Canada Les not had the e chapter of situation, and com-numication with any party which belong to Lower Canada. Latting that it is designed for the hon. comber to been his objection to the Act of Union to population, because this would turn against the ouer Canadians themselves. Give us their adnation of languages, it must be remembered the English would not have come into existence. If the Prouch do not amalgament, it must predominate.

Mr. QUESNET.—I glory in being a British subject. —I value the privilege beyond all the world. Earl would have all to understand the laws under which they live. Now two thirds of the French Caundiane curnot read their own language - Education soust preed the advertion of a new tourne. I hope the time will come when all will speak the English Language. As to representation I complain of the EIGHT DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.—mequality. When Upper Canada has twenty milhous to our one of population, but her base twenty to one in representation.

It were gross presumption, and ingratitude in Colonists to make such a claim on the Mother Country as that contained in the speech of Mr. C. That is to permit United States produce, or the produce of any foreign nation to enter her markets duty free, merely because such foreign produce passed through such Colony, and benefitted its merchants and forwarders. In this respect Mr. Cartwright has gone farther in favour of these two classes of people than they, who know the subject better, would attempt to go themselves. A more intelligent body of men than the merchants of Montreal, and especially on this subject, is not in this Province, yet they, a few weeks ago, had a petition made out, and it is now receiving signatures, praying that the Imperial Government will cause a duty to be collected on American grain on entering the Province, and this, no doubt, because they would not be so very immodest, as Mr. Cartwright is, as to aim a blow at the protection afforded the British agriculturist and land owner, by the British Corn Law. If the British Ministry deem it proper to alter that law, it becomes them hest to do so; not the people of Canada, nor of any other Colony to urge them.
