Dr. W. paid a visit to the City of Lincoln also, where bundreds of blind and otherwise self-cited atbinded, and many were, under my own observation, (being in Lincoln at that time,) cured. I remain, Sir,

Your obedient Servant, GEORGE WEESTER, Tailor. Grave Street, Kingston, 28th October, 1841.

Mr. Williams, the English Oculist, to the Editors of the Times and Advertiser, of Montreal. GENTLEMEN:

A friend of mine has favored me with your paper of yesterday, containing an article got up by a Quack of your city, who, I have reason to know, felt very ancomfortable during my visit at Montreal, in consequence of my having more or less restored to sight those who not only rould not be benefitted, but went worse, if not quite blind, while under his care. Such an offence on my part could not be expected to produce eny other compliment than what is found in your columns of the 26th.

Had I been inclined to have made any report relative to certain Oculists, so culling themselves, at the Town Hall every day at noon for the benefit I might have given the names and residences of the poor. of nearly twenty persons who had not only lost their sight but had paid nearly all their money in vain to perhaps the very gentleman or gentlemen who had influence enough to insert the compliment they paid to, Sir, yours very res-J. WILLIAMS.

P. S .- If the gentlemen do not leave me alone, sent two of their young quarks to the place where I attended the poor, who appeared as wise as a couple of goslings, when I discovered they were training for doctors; and no doubt they called it humbuggery when they saw that I had done in one month what they did not expart to be able to do in their whole lives. MR. WILLIAMS, OCCLIST. The trial of Dr. Williams, the Oculist, has termiwated. The worthy faculty went out for wool but 'came home shorn! They commence d a prosecution against Dr. Williams, which ended in the death of the pretended society which instituted them. Dr. Williams was acquitted of all the charges brought against him. So has this matter ended. It appears to be the epinion of an independent American jury, that the people can take care of their own health, and clibeir own peckets; and that even if they cannot, they at least ore of the opinion that the learned medical fraternity, already sufficiently overhardened postd upon them of taking care of the health and money of the community.

It is a fact not generally known, that Mr. Williams, whilst under prosecution for practising in the District of Columbia, without a license from the Medical Society there, and for pretending to be the John Williams of the R. G. Dispensary, London, actually brought an action against that Medical Saciety, and preved in court that the members had forfrited their Charter! which induced the Law Reporter to state as above, that "the worthy faculty went out for wool, and came home shorn" of their strength, like Samson.
