OFFAT'S VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES anifest and sensible action in purifying the springs and channels of life, and conducting them with renewed tone and vigour. In many hundred certified cases which have been made public, and in almost every species of disease to which the human frame is liable, the effects of Mofat's life Pills and Physics Bitters have been gratefully and sublicly acknowledged by the persons benefited, and who were previously unacquisinted with the leaun-fully philosophical principles upon which they are com-pounded, and upon which they constantly act.

fully philosophical principles upon which they are compounded, and upon which they constantly act.

The Life Medicines recommend themselves in diseases of every form and description. Their first operation is to loosen from the coasts of the stemach and bowels the various i aparities and credities constantly settling acround them, and to remove the harden dones which colect in the convolutions of the smallest intestines. Other medicines only partially cleanes them, and leave such collected means behind as to produce habitant controllers, with all its train of evils, or and den distributions, with its imminent dangers. This fact is well known to all regular anatomists, who examine the human bowels after death; and hence the prejudice of those well-informed men against quark medicines, or anodicines prepared and herselfed to the public by ignorant persons. The second effect of the Life Medicines is to chanse the ladders and by this means the liver and the lungs, the healthful action of which entirely depends uplungs, the healthful action of which entirely depends up on the regularity of the urinary organs. The blank which takes its red colour from the agency of the liver and the lungs before it pusses into the heart, being puri-fied by them, and nourished by food coming from a clean stomack, courses freely through the veins, renews every part of the system, and triumphantly mounts the baner of health in the blooming check. adjoining. The whole to be disposed of by public sale, on Friday the 13th day of May next. The above property is most eligibly situated, being within a mile and a half of Kingston, and commanding a full view of the Bay and river, The harbour is known to be the safest on the Lakes, and within which a large and increasing business is now done. A Marine Railway and Steam Say Mill are in successful operation, and no doubt can be entertained of the rapid growth of the place in consequence of its nateral advantages, the many wealthy and enterprising individuals who have purchased in the immediate vicinity, and its proximity to the seat of Government, between which, the communication will be excellent when the plank walk now in progress, is completed. On the property are several springs of excellent water, and the best limescone quarries in the province. Correct plans of the Town plot and Harbour may be seen at Rasco's Hotel, Montreal, at the British American, Toronto, at the Office of T. Kirkpatrick, Esq., Agent, Kingston, (to whom reference may be made.) and to the Proprietors on the spot. Fellow made known at time of sale, or by application to the subscribers. McLEOD & LOGAN.

It was a nasty, squally, rainy afternoon; and the diligence was winding slowly along upon the aforesaid road, at the average pace of three miles and : half an hour; while the rain kept beating in at vaious points of the crazy and ill-contrived vehicle, when one traveller in the inside said to another-'Forty miles more, Frederick, forty miles more."

"Aye," said the other, "and this soull of a marhine goes on as if it never intended to arrive at the end of the journey."

"While your heart flies on with the wings of love," replied the first who spoke; "and yet cannot reach Mary's feet any faster than the diligence." The two gentlemen who thus conversed were the sole tenants of the machine, and they were both young men of five or six-and-twenty years of age. The ene who was called Frederick, and whose name was moreover Prevot, was by far the handsomest of of the whole, or portions of the following the two, and upon the whole, a very good-looking man, though there was a certain grave and anxious look about his countenance, which those who loved him-and his friend's sister Mary was one of those who loved him most-eatled deeply interesting while those who did not love him pronounced it to be gloomy and sullen. Sullen he was not, for his was, in truth, a very quick and impetuous nature ; but he had a strong imagination, and was by no means addicted to over bright hopes. After his friend had spoken, he remained silent for a minute or two, and then said-"Well, Willy, when will the diligence arrive after all ?"

travelling as any peer's son in the realm. A crackling fire of dry wood, electful lights, though they were but tallow candles, some excellent fish, some game, for it was now autumn, with broiled fowl, and other accompaniments of the sort, greatly cheered the travellers; and although the landlord could procure no wine except Port, which It was stated by the president that, notwithstanding proved of a very doubtful and unpleasant character, and a portion of which might well be suspected of attendance upon the King of Prussia, he had found growing upon English hedges, rather than in Portuguese vineyards, he offered to bring forth rum of such as they had never tasted before, in their days. the leading members. Colonel Gawler, the late Governor of South Australia, who was present, gave a lengthened account of the progress of geographical lord stopped the progress of the ostler, by sending discovery in that colony. He stated that a plan suggested for the introduction of camels to be used as beasts of burden in internal communication, had, in the only instance in which it had been tried, prothey found every thing as Boots had described; and | ved highly successful, & that the greatest advantages would probably result from their introduction. He also alluded to the recent valuable expedition of Mr. Eyre, who, amongst other discoveries, whilst coasting along the whole of the southern part from east were found to be slightly bloody, while his right to west, had found two or three hundred miles of bigh hand and arm, which was stretched out above the table land, where not a drop of water could be obbed-clothes, had a good deal of blood upon the fin- tained. Colonel Gawler also stated his full samerance that nothing but pecuniary means, and those not very great, were wanting to traverse Australia from the south to the north, and thus solve one of the most interesting geographical problems of the

> An anecdote is told of Mr. Roger, of Werndee, in Monmouthshire, which exhibits the pride of ancestry in a striking point of view. His house was in such a state of dilapidation, that the proprietor was in danger of perishing under the ruins of the ancient mansion before us ?' 'That sir, is Werndon, a very encient house; for out of it came the Earls of Pomof the second line ; the Lords Herbert of Cherbury, the Herberts of Coldbrook, Ramsey, Cardiff and York; the Morgans of Acton; the Earl of Hunsdon; the houses of Ircown and Lanarth, and all the Powells. Out of this house, also, by the female line, came the Duke of Beaufort.' 'And pray, sir, who lives there now?' 'I do, sir.' 'Then pardon me, and accept a piece of advice ; come out of it yourself, or you'll soon be buried in the ruins of it."
