A dread of the wholesale denunciation ton generally induces the actual operitaments of the Press of a Country where faction a con high. Unable to struggle with the strong current of prejudice, the journalist has to abandon his socation or awim with the stream. The younger and power the country, the less independent is the tone of public feeling.

A politician acts in a manner sufficiently flagrant to retider him, in the judgment of unprejudiced men, wholly unfit for a public trust -wholly unworthy of public confidence. But such is the blind zeal of parthat those with whom he has been associated in political struggles are ever ready to rally round him, and, finding him assailed with a storm of obleque from the ranks of his their opponents, deem that the honor (!) of " our party" requires his unscrupulous and unqualified defence.

Thus has a rascal often creaped-thus will many a rascul hereniter escape.

The unhappy proitent of the Onondaga S'andurd has certainly made a clean bresst of it, and told the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. How many, how very many of his cotemporaries, and of public men in general, could (if they had the candor) tell as melancholy a tale of the perseverance with which they go on draining to the dregs the bitter cup of political aboninations and party nastinesses !-- [Torente Patriot.

THE MEETING. The great meeting came off at the Court House, en Welesday; but the Lion did not come, it is said that he was chained down at Kingston, and that the next time he exhibits himself in public, he will ap-pear " with mane erect" and " body-guard," as on former occasions, in the character of Adjutant Generel, or some other kind of a General of the Militia, with a big salary in prospective. If he should hap-pen to be at any loss for an Aid-de-camp, we can furnish him, with any number of candidates for the office, provided there be pay and rations forthcoming. to a correspondent, consisted of about 170 persons, of all political creeds, and very likely of no political ereed. Everything was conducted "decently and in order"—the projectors of it having it all their own way. In the mean time we are not prepared to say what portion of the real opinion of the electors of tie County was represented—the hustings at the next election will decide that matter. For our own part, we have no faith in such meetings at all, as exponent's of public opinion; but we see no impro-priety in any body who wants to make speeches about any thing or nothing, getting himself relieved at a meeting conducted with such propriety as this

Esteemed Friends,-Rutnour assigns to the Honorable Mr. Harrison a seat in the Cabinet, and an appointment to some important Department, upon acceptance of which he will cease to occupy the position of your Representative in Parliament.

Anticipating the probability of such a fact, I avail myself thus early of the circum-tance to announce to you my intention of offering myself again as a Candidate for re-election to the proud station to which you elected me this day three years-the memorable 25th March, 1841.

In my hour of ecstacy came the painful struggle between recreancy to your interests and self-gratification; in a deep sense of my duty to Provincial Penitentiary, my benefactors, and the inhabitants of Kingston, terminated abruptly our connexion. A demand was made for my seat, the refusal of which would have confesse lly jeopardized your dearest interests; and although a compliance with it occasinned to me more of misery and wretchedness than the accumulated crosses and perplexities of FARM; he must also be a good worker. thirty-four years' career of business (if they had, as he and another man, with two pair of at once assailed me,) could produce, I did not horses, will be expected to do all the work hexitate for one unrecut to make the great saccing on the Parin (community of 450 across) over fice, and yield to the necessity I saw of rescuing cepting in harvest. The demand involved other minor points, commanding my serious consideration. It was acknowledged that Kingston owed a debt of gratitude to that illustrious Statesman-he asked for the Representation of Kingston for his fav-ourite Minister; had I refused, would be have

It is obvious, therefore, I had no alternative but to submit to the controlling impulse of subserving the true inter-ests of my Constituents, by securing to them what I then furdly hoped would have been ir-revocably established by it—that Kingston should remain the capital of Canada, as long as

Canada existed. In the proud conviction of the rectitude of my determination, and persuaded that those generous friends who so unequivocally manifested their confidence in my zeal and ability to serve them, will give me full credit for candor and sincerity. I offer them the assurance that those were the motives which solely guided my conduct in this to me most painful and unfortunate affair and I respectfully ask, had I resisted Lord Sydenliam's urgent request, whether the threatened removal of the Government now to Montreal, would not by most men be attributed to my refusal !- I must, I am sorry, add, egotis tically, that I am noted over Canada for my anxlety to relieve from want, distress, or embarrass ments, my fellow men, friend or foe, and that I never yet hesitated to do so; can any mar, then, truly suppose me the base recreant to sell the constituency I so sincerely esteemed, and barter my seat for filthy lucre? I had to accept office to enable me to vacate my seat. I did so; but no inducements could remove me, or entice me from Kingston, where l at that time was-have since been-and now am Agent for the sale and management of Crown Lands, &c. for the Midland District.

At the befitting time I will again address you two solvent persons, who are willing to become more at length on this subject.
