Advertisement. TO THE FREE AND INDEPENDENT ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF FRONTENAC

GENTLEMEN: -I have been requested by several respectable freeholders to come forward as a candidate for your suffrages, at the next general election. I have now the honor to inform you, that should I be spared in health until that period, that shall present myself at the poll. I am not a party man; I deprecate party spirit; and should you do me the favor to elect me, I shall regard your interests and the interests of the Province, as the sole end and aim of my political career. I am not an office-holder, and it has pleased Providence to place me in circumstances that put me beyond the necessity of being an office-sceker. I respect the Government, but am independent of it, and will never yield a single right or privilege of the people to gain the favor of any man or set of men. Although friendly to internal improvement, I should certainly have opposed, had I had an opportunity, some of the lavish grants of last session. If elected, I will support most strenuously an address to His Majesty to put a protecting duty on imports from the United States. It is impossible that this Country can flourish so long as we are exposed to this unequal system of what is erroneously termed

"free trade." With the best wishes for your welfare,

I remain, Gentlemen, Your obedient humble Servant, ROBERT DRUMMOND.

TY OF LEEDS.

GENTLEMEN, -Although a considerable time bas. elapsed since I first received an invitation from utmost punctuality in delivery may be depended many respectable inhabitants of the county to offer myself as your representative in the ensuing Parliament, I have hitherto refrained from publicly presenting myself to your notice; longer perhaps than the courtesy due to those numerous gentlemen among you who honored me with assurances of support demanded. I was desirous that no one possessing a vote, which, as it is discreetly or indiscreetly given, must operate to the benefit or injury of his country, should, for want of due consideration, pledge himself to that which he could not, in his own opinion, afterwards conscientiously perform: for I was little known to you, except as one entrusted with an appointment of responsibility by my Sovereigo, who according to the faithful discharge of my duty to his people, will estimate my loyalty to himself. I have long been receiving almost daily proofs of good feeling towards me by the freeholders of Leeds, who in regard to my attachment to the best interests of the Province have rightly judged me by themselves .-They have been pleased to attribute to me those qualifications which ought to be found in their representative; and now that a requisition lies before

I feel the more honored and bound to your sersubjects of them have been discussed. I am not Any person having found the Book and its con- called upon for a confession of political faith; but I representative being connected with the Government of the country, that no good government can possibly have any interests hostile to, or separate from those of the people; and that a good or bad government is best indicated by the prosperity or the decay of the country subject to it. With regard to another objection which has been strongly urged, that I am incompetent to serve you because I am not an inhabitant of the county,-I think the advantage of having one of your representatives generally resident at the seat of government may be such as to overbalance any inconvenience which may possibly arise from his possessing less of local knowledge. In all important subjects of legislation the interests of the province are the interests of the people of Leeds; and in matters purely local, I shall easily receive instruction from my constituents and my colleague

After the proofs you have given me of your intended support, I cannot entertain a doubt of our success. There remains to me but one subject of regret; which is, that until within a short period of the coming election, I shall not be able to pay my respects to you in person.

I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,
