THE Proprietors of the Steam-Boat KINGSTON, grateful for the very liberal patronage which they have received from the public, beg leave to give notice that in consequence of the unfortunate circumstance of the steam-boat Brackville breaking her engine, they have allowed the Kingston to take the place of the Brockville on the rapids, until she is repaired, as no other boat could perform those trips, and without which the public would suffer much inconvenience by the interruption of the navigation.

The Proprietors of the Kingston beg leave to state that they have procured the public's well tried friend and faithful servant the steam-boat

THE LADY'S BOOK,

A MOSTHLY MAGAZINE, OF ORIGINAL AND SELECTED TALES,

POETRY, ESSAYS, & MUSIC, Embelished with several Hundred different

> ENGRAVINGS, AND QUARTERLY PLATES OF

The Philadelphia Fashions, SUPERBLY COLOURED.

WHEN, about four years ago, the Ludy's Book was submitted to the test of public puinting, the proprietors made no professions likely to creat and a trial they hope will convince the public, that as expectations which they could anticipate even an improbability of realizing, they were nevertheless determined progressively to adopt every improvement which diligent anxiety to please their patrons should suggest and have a v the remunerating satisfaction, after having faithfully and steadily pursued this course, of seeing it sauctioned by a circulation more extensive than that of any other monthly journal in the United States; and as this extent of patronage is the most admissible evidence of its past utility, it is offered at the best guarantee or its future excellence. The literary department of the Lady's Book is of admitted superiority; for in confanction with the great but unboasted liberality with which they encourage the development of Natice Authors, they possess facilities of selection,

Among the many claims which the Ludy's Book has on the patronage of Americans, the least is not, that it was the first publication to presen correct representations of the newest fashions of female costume, and in this respect it may fairly claim a superiority over all other contemporaries: for we proprietors seldom calculate the expense of rendering it al together deserving of its increase and increasing patrons.

Never was the title of a book more justified by it content than that the Lady's Book-Literature, foreign & domestic-selected and origina -Engravings on steel and wood, of scenery, distingui hed persons, fashious and embroidery, all rich and beautiful, and from the hands of the most eminent artists. Its literature is particularly select, free from dullness, though teening with usefulness, and conveying pleasure and amusement through the sensitive medium of delicate discrimination. To musical anatours of both sexes, the Lady's Book offers many advantages, cart number being accompanied by a popular piece, arranged with ac-A large assortment of Prints, Checks, Stripes, companiments for the piano forte, &c. &c. under the succeillance of coun bleached and unbleached cotton Shirtings; Merinoes, petent persons, and to its pages the general render can always turn and Bombazetts & Bombazeens, Silks, Crapes, Riobons | find annosement, novely, and instruction. Each financer shall, as hitherto, average 60 pages of extra royal octavo letter press, printed wit clear, new and beautiful type, on paper of the finest texture and white-t vings on copper and steel, embracing every variety of subject, and the quarterly numbers will as heretofore contain figures of Philadelphia Fashious, two, and occasionally three, beautifully and faithfully cooured, to commence with the January number, being No. 1 of the eighth volume. 11th It may be necessary to say that these engravings are designed, drawn and energyed expressly for this work, by competent persons, specially ragaged for that purpose. The embellishments of the work are confessedly superior to any which have been furnished in any other similar publication, and from the arrangements which have been made, there is every reason to believe they will be still more superior. In addition to the steel engravings, each number will contain several beautiful wood energyings on fine yellow tinted paper, and every exertion exercised to sustain the present exalted reputation and admitted usefulness of the Lady's Book. The publication of the PRIZETALES will be resumed and continued, and several communications in prose and verse are experted from writers who have alread attained much celebrity by the excellence of their published contributions.

The terms of the LADY'S BOOK ore three dollars per annum. payable in advance. All orders, (post paid) addressed to the publishers, will be promptly attended to. Persons remitting ten dollars, shall be entitled to four copies of the work Persons remaining false a dollars, shall be entitled to six copies of the work, and additioned copies of the best engravings.
