New Store.
J. D. BRYCE & Co.
 HAVING opened a Dry Goods Establishment in Store Street (three doors below the Commercial Hotel) respectfully intimate their intention to sell for cash at unusually low prices. Buying their goods with ready money in the different places of Manufacture in Great Britain, and importing them direct to Kingston, they are enabled to sell cheap, and a trial they hope will convince the public that they have the ability, they have also the disposition to do this. Professions are in general very properly disregarded, and therefore in place of giving assurances to the public, J. D. B. & Co. invite the examination of their stock, leaving it to commend itself both in regard to quality and prices.
 Every purchaser will be placed upon the same footing, and as the lowest prices will at once be named, no abatements can be made. Terms, always Cash. Selling at a very reduced profit, credit cannot be given to any party, however respectable, but purchasers will find that ready money returns for them all the advantages that it ought to command.
 Besides articles in common use, J. D. B. & Co.'s stock embraces Goods of an unusually fine description, and Fancy articles in great variety.
 Real west of England Broad Cloths; Figured Satins for bonnets with Shapes and Mountings; Elegant French Garments, Scarfs and Handkerchiefs; Real French Cambrics, and the most beautiful patterns of the season in Ladies' Dresses.
 A large assortment of Prints, Checks, Stripes, bleached and unbleached cotton Shirtings; Merinos, Bombazetts & Bombazeens, Silks, Crapes, Ribbons and Gauzes; Hats, Caps and Straw Bonnets; Belts, Braces, Umbrellas, Parasols and a large supply of Threads, Tape and other small Wares.
 J. D. B. & Co. invite a call from country merchants who, besides being supplied at the Montreal prices, will be assorted in any lengths or quantities.

TO THE INDEPENDENT ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF LEEDS.
 GENTLEMEN,—Although a considerable time has elapsed since I first received an invitation from many respectable inhabitants of the county to offer myself as your representative in the ensuing Parliament, I have hitherto refrained from publicly presenting myself to your notice; longer perhaps than the courtesy due to the numerous gentlemen among you who honored me with assurances of support and confidence. I was desirous that no one possessing a vote, which, as it is liberally or indiscreetly given, must operate to the benefit or injury of his country, should, for want of due consideration, pledge himself to that which he could not, in his own opinion, afterwards conscientiously perform; for I was little known to you, except as one entrusted with an appointment of responsibility by my Sovereign, who according to the faithful discharge of my duty to his people, will estimate my loyalty to himself. I have long been receiving almost daily proofs of good feeling towards me by the freeholders of Leeds, who in regard to my attachment to the best interests of the Province have rightly judged me by themselves.—They have been pleased to attribute to me those qualifications which ought to be found in their representative; and now that a reputation lies before me, signed by nearly five hundred freeholders of the county, and by many of the magistracy,—I can no longer doubt their having deliberately determined in my favor, nor hesitate to declare publicly, that to be the free choice of such a constituency as that of the county of Leeds is now the object of my ardent ambition.
 I feel the more honored and bound to your service by this mark of your confidence, because it is accompanied by a demand of that pledge to my particular line of conduct, which is so often required by those whose judgments are formed before the subjects of them have been discussed. I am not called upon for a confession of political faith; but I would answer to those who have objected to their representative being connected with the Government of the country, that if a good government can possibly have any interest hostile to, or separate from those of the people; and that a good or bad government is best indicated by the prosperity or the decay of the country object to it. With regard to another objection which has been strongly urged, that I am incompetent to serve you because I am not an inhabitant of the county,—I think the advantage of having one of your representatives generally resident at the seat of government may be such as to overbalance any inconvenience which may possibly arise from his possessing less of local knowledge. In all important subjects of legislation the interests of the province are the interests of the people of Leeds; and in matters purely local, I shall easily receive instruction from my constituents and my colleagues.
 After the proofs you have given me of your intended support, I cannot entertain a doubt of my success. There remains to me but one subject of regret; which is, that until within a short period of the coming election, I shall not be able to pay my respects to you in person.
 I have the honor to be,
 Gentlemen,
 With the greatest respect,
 Your faithful servant,
ROBERT S. JAMESON.
