This was "the very head and front of his offending." I nust be considered as good authority. I was sitting by the Attorneys' table at the time, reporting the trial for my own pa per, "THE INDEPENDENT EXAMINER," cager to catch every yord that transpired. It is not true, as stated by the correspondent of the Whig, that Mr. Hagerman made an apology to a party of gentlemen, who waited upon him for an explanation. It is true that some Irishmen misunderstood him, and that there was a good deal of desultory conversation among them respecting the tenor of his charge. Henry Graham, Esquire, of this place, and myself were casually with him on the evening of the same day, and upon our metioning the misconstruction of his language which some of our sensitive friends entertained, he declared that so far from attempting to wound the feelings of the Irish, there was no people whom he would more wilingly serve and conciliate, as the best and the truest friends he had ever numbered were Irishmen.
