THE MANSION HOUSE.

KINGSTON, U. C.

THE subscriber continues to occupy this extensive and well known establishment as an HOTEL for the accomodation of the public.

THE MANSION HOUSE Is pleasantly situated in Store Street, being the Quinto, on Tuesdays and Fridays, and return on Wednesdays principal and most central street in Kingston, in the business part of the town; is convenient to the different Steam-Boat wharves; and no establishment of the kind in the province can surpass it in the excellence and comfort of its apartments, in regard both to parlors and bed rooms; all of which are furnished in the very best style. The Hotel has been recently painted throughout and otherwise impro-

The Subscriber having kept a Public House for many years, has acquired experience in that line; and he trusts that with unremitting attention to the comfort of his guests, he will continue to merit public patronage.

In the rear of the Mansion House there is a large YARD, and extensive Stabling, and where a Livery Stable is constantly kept.

The Mansion House Carriage and Porters will always be in readiness to convey passengers and luggage to and from the different Steam-boats. S. CARMINO.

CAREY'S LIBRARY

Choice Literature. To say that this is a reading age, implies a desire for instruction, and the means to gratify that desire. On the first point, all are aggreed; on the second, there is diversity both of opinion and of practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine pamphlets of all sizes, on near-level subjects, which have severally their classes of readers and support ers. And yet, copious as are these means of intellectual supply, more are still needed. In addition to the reviews of the day, and passing noare still needed. In addition to the reviews of the day, and passing notices of books, the people, in large numbers, in all parts of our great republic, crave the possession of the books themselves, and details, beyond mere passing allusion, of the progress of discovery in art and science.—
But though it be easy to ascertain and express their wants, it is not so greatly them. Expense, distance from the emperium of interactive easy to gratify them. easy to gratify them. Expense, distance from the emporium of aterature engrassing occupations which prevent personal application or even measures to there and booksellers, are so many causes to keep people away from the feast of reason, and the enjoyment of the coveted literary at a liment. It is the aim of the publishers of the Library to obviate these difficulties, and to enable every individual, at a small cost and without any personal effort, to obtain for his own true and that of his favored friends. personal effort, to obtain for his own use and that of his favored friends or family, valuable works, complete, on all the branches of useful and popular literature, and that in a form well adupted to the comfort of the reader.

The charm of variety, as far as it is compatible with morality and good taste, will be held constantly in view in conducting the Library, to fill the pages of which the current interature of Great British, in all it vairous depages of which the current literature of Great British, in all it various departments of Biography, History, Travels, Novels and Poetry, shall be feerly put under contribution. With, perchance, occasional exceptions, it is intended to give entire the work which shall be selected for publication. When circumstances authorize the measure, recourse will be had to the literary stores of Continental Europe, and translations made from Erench, Italian, or German, as the case may be about to embark, as well as for the abundance of the materials to give a value in the eyes of the public. As far as judicious selection and arrangement are concerned, readers will, it is hoped, have reason to be fully satisfied, as the editor of the Library is not a stranger to them, but has more than once obtained their favorable suffrages for his past literary TERMS.

TERMS.

The work will be published in weekly numbers, in stitched covers, each number containing therety imperial octave pages, with double columes, making two volumes annually, of more than 520 octave pages, each volume; and at the expiration of every six months, subscribers will be furnished with a handsome title page and table of contents. The whole amount of matter furnished in a single year will be equal to more than forty volumes of the common sized English duodecime books, the cost of which will be at least ten times the price of a year's subscription to the "Library." The paper upon which the Library will be printed, will be of the finest quality used for book-work, and of a size admirably adapted for binding. As the type will be entirely new, and of a nest appearance, each volume, when bound, will furnish a handsome, as well as volumble and not cumbrous addition to the libraries of those who patronize the work.

The price of the Library will be five dollars per tanum, payable in ac A commission of 20 per cent, will be allowed to agents; and any agent or postmaster famishing five subscribers and remitting the amount of subscription, shall be entitled to the commission of 20 per cent. or a copy of the work for one year.

A specimen of the work, or any information respecting it may be obtained by addressing the publishers, post paid.

Editors of newspapers, to whom the prospectus is forwarded, will please insert the above as often as convenient, send a copy of their paper, containing the advertisement marked, and entitle themselves to a free exchange for one year. Address
