with his jokes and tiger growl of a laugh.

The mode of conducting business is very differ. ent. There is none of that pomp and show and circumstance, to make logislative wisdom look more imposing. The Speaker of the House of Representatives, and President of the Senate, appear simply in their plain clothes. Both, when tired, leave the chair, ulthough the House and Se. nate are not in committee of the whole, and call any of the members to fill their places, and the oc. cupant pro tem. is looked up to, and considered as de facto the incumbent. It is not necessary to make a motion at all times in writing. The Clerk takes it down as the mover makes it, and the Spraker puts it without the formality of seconding it. This is taken for granted. Instead of great lazy, lubberly fellows as Messengers in the House, who ought to be laboring productively, little active boys from 10 to 15 years old, are employed in the capa-city. Three hours, from 12 to 3, are the usual hours of the sitting. If important business is on hand, they may extend it an hour, or an hour and a half, but this is seldom done. My paper is out,

"Thus far our chronicle-and now we pause, Though not for want of matter, but 'tis time." Yours, &c., JONATHAN.

1.7 REPRESENTATION OF KINGSTON.—There is more truth than poetry in the rumor that Mr. Atcheson has pretensions to the representation of Kingston in the next Parliament; and that certain gentlemen have promised to withdraw in his favor, To this project we arow an implacable opposition, and will fight, tooth and nail, to prevent its accomplishment. We have not the smallest idea of allowing the good old Town of Kingston to be represented by any PRIEND of Mr. Gibbet Wake.
