Peter Robinson, the Hon Robt Sullivan, and the lord knows who besides, to assist in completing this essential part of a proposed settlement—to promote which, however, assistance of a more positive kind was determined, on a grant of £500 from the territorial revenue being made by an order in the Council, and the greater part expended under the direction | ceived, constitutionally speaking, they could of Commissioners, in the formation-or rather in the opening out, for it was nothing more-of a knowledgement. line of road from Dennison's mill in the rear of Portland, along the 1st concession line of Hinchinbrook in a northerty direction from lot I to lot 20, which last is the site of Mr. Duncan's proposed mill. On the line so opened out, it is understood that about four-fifths of the grant were expended at the time; the remainder forms the object of the memorial spoken of in the paragraph I have referred to: in regard to which I will only say, that if the Municipal Council obtain it and will take the most ordinary caution in its expenditure they may effect far more real benefit than has re sulted from the outlay of the other four-fifths : for what have been the actual results from 1837 oninduced during that period to take up their abode the road has been made possable-after a fishion, es they say at home-up to the 7th or "th lot; beyond which, it remains quite impracticable,struggle as they best could, with difficulties and privations of no common kind; and well and manfully have they done so, as I, who have experienced anxiously engaged in promoting.

Some two or their years store a similar attempt was made to op neat the back country though the rear of Loboracch and Bedford, which resulted in effecting a useful communication betwirt this and the Bathurst District, through some 30 miles of a previously untraversed wilderness, along vernor General as the only practicable system which and the branches then opened out in connection with it, between one and two hundred fa. £30 or £10, those meetings were more important as proving the public interest taken in the project, than in a pecuniary point of view. No Government assistance was obtained or asked for; but it had the sanction of the then Exceutive, one or two of whom in their private capacity subscribed towards it. At the same period, lines were traced Oso, in the rear, and to the northern part of Hinchinbrook, on the West, in each of which, there are now considerable clearings and settle.

I might contrast other attempts of a somewhat similar kind, that have come under my observation; and would, without difficulty, go into more detail in regard to those I have noticed; but it would probably be more tedious than useful to do so in an off-hand article like the present. But from the facts stated, I think it may be fairly inferred that the Midland District Age a back country fit for settlement; the first and most important step towards which. is the tracing out practicable main linus of road, in conformity to its surface features, so as to make it accessible, and enable those, who from habit and experience are fitted to be pioneers and to en- British connection. counter the bush, to select their localities and as. certain the positions and facilities present or prospective of the different lots. But settlements once established there, begin to require and would absorb a constantly increasing number of the newcomers. Another reason instance, is the facilities they would give for runand be it remembered, that, even in the Townships moment a matter of doubt. I have had more immediately under review, though

I think it may also be inferred from the facts I useful sleigh road to it this winter, which, though line. Supposing such main lines of road carefully determined on, and accurately blazed, the wild land tax-as far as it will go-of the respective townships might be appropriated to opening them oot; and the government (to whom the greater part of the territory belongs, being unconceded erown lands) might advantageously supply the rest from the territorial revenue. Such lines of road also should receive the formal sanction of the Municipal Council, and be constituted public highways, to prevent litigation. Well, the country being made accessible, it only remains to sebe the very life and blood of the community -- the pre-emption of their respective improvements, and the right of purchasing the deed by instalments; this I think greatly preferable to the Owen Sound plan, or indeed any system of free grants, which the province has outgrown the necessity of making ; but the price should be very moderate, certainly not exceeding three or four shillings the acre. There are still a few important points that I could wish to touch on, now that I find mysels in the midst of a favorite subject; I could also wish to notice the propositions and promises -not performance—that have been held forth by folks in office to the back settlers, now become a numerous body, which is a part of the subject I have not yet referred to at all. But this commumication being quite lengthy enough as it is, imast, with your leave, make these maters the sub ject of another communication. They breibly remind me of Tristram Shandy's cage; at whose birth, you will remember, his father devised a no table scheme of education, and set about compil ing elementary treatises for the different periods of youth; but unluckily, the first period had clapsed before the treatise adapted to it was ready, so it was thrown by and the second enumenced, which proved equally behind hand, and so of the rest : the result being that Tristram grow up without the benefit of any of them. In like manner them, and becoming settled-but not without many difficulties and privations to the enterprising proneers which I heartily wish it was in my power produce note and hostilities in the public streets. so lighten. That truth has been demonstrated most conclusively in "La Crise Ministerielle," and whatever opinion one may have formed upon that point, before it was so luminously treated by Mr. Viger, the conviction at this day cannot be got rid of, that the course which that gentleman adopted was founded in reason and constitutional right.

The reproaches, nay even the calumnies, therefore, of which Mr. Viger has been made the object, are the more grossly unjust, because he himself would have been recreant to his duty as a representative of the people, and in that ward ! why some ten or twelve settlers have been eapacity a guardian of the constitution, if he had sanctioned by his vote, the deviation from in the Township, by whose subsequent exertions the maxims of the constitution and the usages of
