

TERMS.—ONE POUND PER ANNUM. No paper is sent until arrears are paid. ADVERTISEMENTS.—Six lines and under, 6d. per line for the first insertion, and 4d. for each subsequent insertion, above ten lines, 4d. per line for the first insertion, and 3d. for each subsequent insertion. A few lines without specific directions, (which ought to be in writing) are inserted until further notice. Advertisements are inserted in the following order:—1. Public Notices; 2. Legal Notices; 3. Notices to Correspondents; 4. Notices to the Public; 5. Notices to the Trade; 6. Notices to the Profession; 7. Notices to the Government; 8. Notices to the Clergy; 9. Notices to the Nobility; 10. Notices to the Gentry; 11. Notices to the Merchants; 12. Notices to the Manufacturers; 13. Notices to the Artisans; 14. Notices to the Laborers; 15. Notices to the General Public.

ROBERT R. SMILEY, PRINTER. LETTER-PRESS PRINTING. Orders executed in the best style, on reasonable terms. Sheet of 4s. Memorial, Law Books, Charts of the North Pole, &c. &c. &c. and other Printed Papers for Sale.

ROBERT MCCORMICK. Wholesale and Retail Dealer in WINE, SPIRITS, TEAS, GROCERIES, &c. PRINCESS STREET, KINGSTON.

J. A. McDOWALL, FURRIER AND HATTER, BROCK STREET, KINGSTON. Furs made up in order on the shortest notice. Furs, of every description, Bought and Sold.

CRAIG & WATT, ACCOUNTANTS. ONTARIO STREET, Office next door to Mr. Simpson's Grocery Establishment.

DR. HOWARD, PRINCESS STREET, (Directly opposite Mr. Olcott's Boarding House), KINGSTON.

Messrs. MACDONALD & CAMPBELL, Barristers & Attorneys at Law, PRINCESS STREET, KINGSTON. JOHN A. MACDONALD, ALEXANDER CAMPBELL.

MR. KENNETH MACKENZIE, Barrister at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, &c. &c. CLARENCE STREET, KINGSTON. A few doors above Daley's Hotel, at the Office lately occupied by Messrs. Burns & Mowat. August, 1843.

M. T. HUNTER, SHIP CHANDLER, No. 4, Hardy's Buildings, Ontario Street, KINGSTON.

IMPORTER OF PATENT CHAIN CABLES AND ANCHORS, OAKUM, FISH, PITCH, AND ROPE, NAVAL STORES. Of every description. Boiled Linseed Oil, and Paints. Kingston, March 28, 1843.

PAINTING. DAVID MARTIN, (From Scotland), PAINTER, GLAZIER, & PAPER HANGER. 3 doors above the Scotch Church, Princess Street, Kingston. N. B.—Whitewashing and Coloring. Kingston, Feb 16, 1843.

FASHIONABLE TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT. BROCK STREET, KINGSTON.

JAMES RICHARDSON, BEGS leave to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has taken the Shop formerly occupied by Mr. Hilton, where he will execute all orders with neatness and punctuality. He has now on hand a large assortment of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, AND VESTINGS. Of the best qualities and most elegant patterns, which he will make up in order in the latest and most approved Fashionable Styles, on moderate terms, and at the shortest possible notice. Kingston, August 9th, 1844. 63

NEW BOOKS & STATIONERY. THE Subscribers have lately received a variety of new and interesting Books—in various departments of Literature—handsomely bound, to which they respectfully invite attention. They have also made large additions to their Stock of School Books and Stationery, particularly Writing Papers, Account Books, Quills, Steel Pens, Ink, Portfolios, Letter Clips, Writing Desks, Lead Pencils, Slates, Inkstands, &c. &c. &c., which they are enabled to sell at greatly reduced Prices from former years. RAMSAY, ARMOUR & Co. Kingston, October 10th, 1844.

PROVINCIAL JUSTICE. A few copies of the new Edition of this work may be had on application to the publisher CHARLES STUART. Kingston, June 6, 1844. 45-11

NOTICE. THE Subscriber, Mr. TIMOTHY MURPHY, in retiring from his business and Shop, at the Corner of King and Brock Streets, begs to inform the Public that the Business will in future be carried on and conducted by Messrs. JOHN KING & THOMAS COLLYER, to whom the said Establishment has been disposed of, and for whom he solicits a continuance of the public patronage. All papers indebted to the late Establishment of King & Co., are requested to make immediate payments to the Subscriber, who alone is authorized to receive the same, and who will settle all just Accounts presented for payment.

NOTICE. IN retiring from Business for the present, the undersigned begs respectfully to tender his sincere thanks to his numerous friends and customers for their liberal patronage—and also to recommend his successor, Mr. THOMSON, as one well worthy of its continuance. JAMES CHE-NUT.

THE Subscriber having purchased Mr. JAMES CHE-NUT'S Stock in Trade, consisting of an Extensive Assortment of Gentlemen's

BOOTS & SHOES, of the best Material and Workmanship, as a very superior lot of India Rubber Over Shoes, and French Calf Skins and Oak-tanned Leather, is prepared to execute all orders with which he may be favored in the same style and finish, and of the best material, which have secured for Mr. Che-nut's Establishment the most respectable and extensive patronage. THOMAS THOMSON. Kingston, August 31st, 1844. 70-3m

TO EMIGRANTS POSSESSED OF A SMALL CAPITAL. TO RENT, a FARM of 50 Acres, under a state of high cultivation, beautifully situated on the Bath Road, only 3 miles from Kingston, with or without the Crop now in the ground.—Possession given immediately. The Crop can be purchased reasonably. Rent moderate. Apply to the Proprietor, JOHN HARVEY. Suddery Warehouse, Princess St., Kingston, Kingston, July 24, 1844. 9-1f.

LUMBER. FOR SALE by the Subscriber, near the Government Wood Yard, Place d'Arms, 300,000 feet of Lumber, consisting of 1 inch, inch and a quarter, inch and a half, and 2 inch. Also a lot of OAK Plank, from one inch to four, 1,000 feet of Square Pine Lumber, and PINE SCANTLING, of different dimensions. The whole of the Lumber is of superior quality, and well seasoned, and will be sold low for Cash or approved Credit. BENJAMIN TETT. Kingston, May 7, 1844. 36-1f

MARINE STORES FOR SALE BY THE SUBSCRIBERS, 12 PATENT Chain Cables—1 inch, 3-4 and 5-8,—60 fathoms each, and from 1-2 inch to 7-16ths, Anchors from 2 to 5 cwt., 1 Hawser, 4 1/2 inch, 65 fathoms, 27 barrels Pine Tar, 40 do Pitch, 100 do Bright Rosin, 14 Bates Oakum. —A. S. O.— 2 patent double Screw Jacks. CRAIG & WATT. Kingston, 4th March, 1844.

NOTICE. QUEBEC FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. THE Subscriber, Agent for this Institution, continues to effect Insurances against loss or damage by Fire, at moderate rates of premium. Office removed to the BRICK BUILDING, Corner of Ontario and Brock Streets, where applications will be received during the ordinary hours of Business. THOMAS GREER, Agent. Kingston, 30th April, 1844.

PRIVATE BOARDING HOUSE. MRS. HILTON begs to intimate to her Friends and the Public generally, that she can accommodate Young Men with Board and Lodging, at the 2nd Cottage from the News Office, and next door to Mr. J. SLIGHT, Tailor,—where she hopes to make all comfortable, and to meet a share of public favor. Kingston, Nov. 28, 1843. 31-94

TO LET. POSSESSION given on the first of May, the Premises in the COMMERCIAL MART, at the foot of Princess Street, occupied by Mr. D. MACDONALD, one of the best situations for general Business in Town. CHARLES HALES. Kingston, 3d April, 1844.

VETERINARY SHOENING ESTABLISHMENT, On the Corner of King Street and the Place de Arms, adjoining the Premises of Maxwell Strang, Esq. THOMAS PAUL, Veterinary Surgeon, from the ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, LONDON, respectfully informs the Officers of the Garrison, and the Inhabitants of Kingston and its Vicinity, that he has opened a Horse SHOEING ESTABLISHMENT, situated as above; and from the many years experience in that department both in England and in Canada, coupled with his knowledge of the Anatomy, Economy, and Functions of the Horse's foot, he is fully confident he can give perfect satisfaction to any person who may employ him. The greater proportion of cases of lameness are produced by bad Shoeing, and it will be the constant care of T. P. to prevent lameness from such causes, and to relieve those that are lame. N. B.—All operations incident to the Horse will be scientifically performed, and all diseases of both Horses and Cattle attended, either in Town or Country, and at reasonable charges. Kingston, August 27th, 1844.

FOR SALE BY THE SUBSCRIBER 60 BBLs. Pot Barley, 50 " No. 1 North Shore Herring. THOMAS GREER. Kingston, 29th August, 1844.

DAILY STEAM CONVEYANCE, (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED) BETWEEN TORONTO & KINGSTON. CALLING at the intermediate Ports, viz: WINDSOR, DARLINGTON, BOND HEAD, PORT HOPE, & COBURG, weather permitting. THE ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKETS.

SOVEREIGN, CAPT. NORTHERLAND CITY OF TORONTO, CAPT. T. DICK, PRINCESS ROYAL, CAPT. COLLEGE, SAIL AS UNDER.

FROM TORONTO TO KINGSTON: SOVEREIGN—Every Monday and Thursday, at Noon; CITY OF TORONTO—Every Tuesday and Friday, at Noon; PRINCESS ROYAL—Every Wednesday and Saturday, at Noon.

FROM KINGSTON TO TORONTO: PRINCESS ROYAL—Every Monday and Thursday, at 8 o'clock; SOVEREIGN—Every Tuesday and Friday, at 8 o'clock; CITY OF TORONTO—Every Wednesday and Saturday, at 8 o'clock.

Steamers arrive daily at Toronto from Hamilton and Niagara, in time for the above Boats to Kingston.

Passengers are particularly requested to look after their personal Luggage, as the Proprietors will not be accountable for any article whatever, unless entered and signed for, as received by them or their Agents. Royal Mail Packet Office, Front St., Toronto, 16th May, 1844.

1844. MONTREAL AND KINGSTON MAIL LINE OF STEAM BOATS AND STAGES.

THE Public are informed that the following are the arrangements for the Season: The Commodious and Fast Low Pressure STEAMERS,

HIGHLANDER, CAPTAIN STEARNS, CANADA, CAPTAIN LAWSON, GILDERLEEVE, CAPTAIN BOWEN.

DOWNWARDS: Will ply daily from Kingston to Coteau du Lac, (45 miles from Montreal,) leaving Kingston EVERY MORNING, at 7 o'clock, arriving at Coteau du Lac early the same evening from which place Passengers are conveyed to the Cascades in a pinnacled boat, sleep on board the Steamer "Chieftain," and arrive in Montreal the next morning at 7 o'clock.

UPWARDS: From Coteau du Lac, the Boats leave every evening, on the arrival of the Mail and Passengers from Montreal, and reach Kingston the following afternoon, in time for Passengers to take the Steamers for any Port on Lake Ontario.

The Boats pass through the splendid Long Sault Canal, the magnificent rapids of the St. Lawrence, and the Lake of the Thousand Islands by day-light, affording Passengers the most desirable, safe, and expeditious route between Kingston and Montreal.

The above Steamers call at the following places:—Gananoque, Brockville, Mattitida, Prescott, Ogdensburgh, N. Y., Mattitida, Williamsburgh, and Cornwall, Steam Boat Office, Commercial Wharf, Kingston, 26th April, 1844.

THE NEW AND FAST SAILING STEAM PACKET, PRINCE EDWARD, CAPT. BONTER.

Will commence running on the Bay of Quinte route on MONDAY next, and continue during the ensuing season as follows: Will leave Belleville, for Kingston, every Monday, WEDNESDAY, and FRIDAY morning at 8 o'clock A. M.—touching at the intermediate places on her way down—and Will leave Greer's Wharf, Kingston, for Belleville and the River Trent, every TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY Mornings at 9 o'clock A. M., touching at the intermediate places.

N. B. Passages free for Reverend Gentlemen of all denominations. Kingston, April 2, 1844.

TO SHIP OWNERS & MASTERS OF VESSELS. THE subscriber has on hand and for sale, at his Ship Chandlery Store, Ontario street, the following very superior assortment of English Canvas: 20 per bleached No. 1 English, 30 " " 2 do, 30 " " 3 Scotch, 30 " " 4 English, 50 " " 5 do, 50 " " 6 do, 25 " " 7 do.

Also, unbleach-I Canvas from No. 1 to No. 6; with very superior assortment of Sail Twine, Bunting of all colors, and a variety of Blocks, Patent, hushed and bolted, and wood pin; all of which will be sold low and on liberal terms. M. T. HUNTER, Ship Chandler. Kingston, 16th March, 1843.

NEW BOOKS. THE Subscribers have received Large Additions to their Stock of Standard English Works, many of which are greatly reduced in prices. RAMSAY ARMOUR & Co.

THE LARGEST PAPER IN CANADA. THE MONTREAL GAZETTE, ESTABLISHED 1785, IS NOW GREATLY ENLARGED AND CONTAINS THIRTY-TWO COLUMNS. Subscription to the DAILY PAPER, payable half-yearly in advance—FIVE DOLLARS. To the Tri-Weekly Edition for the Country, THREE DOLLARS, payable in advance.

THIS is by far the largest and cheapest Tri-Weekly Paper in the Province, and contains a great amount of News, Commercial Information, and interesting Family Reading.

The Gazette will, as usual, contain regular original Reports, of the best and most ample description, of all the Parliamentary Proceedings and Debates of the Session. Its character for the fulness and impartiality of its Reports are well known throughout the Province. It is sent to a remittance of One Dollar, the Tri-Weekly Paper will be sent for Four Months to any address.

Published at No. 171, St. PAUL STREET, MONTREAL. Montreal, November 2, 1844.

H. MATHISON, MERCHANT TAILOR, KING STREET.

THE Subscriber respectfully begs leave to inform his Friends and Customers that he has just received from Montreal his Winter Supply of BROAD CLOTHS AND CASSIMERES of the finest and strongest Fabrics, and of most superior quality, which he will sell on the most liberal Terms, or make up to Order, in the latest and most approved Fashionable Styles, on the shortest notice.

WINTER VESTINGS of every description. H. MATHISON. Kingston, Nov. 5, 1844. 59-3m.

REMOVAL. THE Subscriber has removed his CANDLE MANUFACTORY, to Ontario Street, Hardy's Buildings, No. 4, directly opposite Greer's Wharf. He begs leave to return his thanks for the patronage he has received since he commenced business, and informs his friends and the public generally that he will have constantly on hand CANDLES of the best quality, which he will sell, wholesale or retail, at the lowest price. An assortment of GROCERIES always on hand. B. MEADOWS. Kingston, 26th Nov. 1844.

REMOVAL. MR. JAMES BOWRON, HAVING REMOVED to that House formerly occupied by Mr. FRANKS ARMSTRONG, Sign of the Crown, Water-lane, begs most respectfully to return his best thanks to his numerous friends in Town and Country, for the marked attention shown to his Establishment, and having now excellent accommodations, can assure all who may continue to favor him, that nothing shall be wanting on his part to merit public favor.

The Bar will be supplied with the choicest Wines and Liquors. Refreshments on the shortest notice. Waterloo, November, 1844. 92-3f

HOUSES TO LET. TO RENT, in Colborne Street, and possession given on the 1st of December next, a HOUSE and BAKERY, with all the Baking materials, and having an excellent Pump connected with the Bakery; the whole in first-rate order. ALSO: No. 2 COTTAGE, adjoining the first mentioned House, connected with the Bakery. Rent moderate. Apply to the Proprietor, at his Saddlery and Harness Warehouse, Princess Street, Kingston. JOHN HARVEY. Kingston, 5th Nov. 1844. 59-1f

BY PRIVATE SALE, BOXES Canada Plates, 27 kegs Fresh Dairy Butter, 3 Hhds. RAW OIL, Saleratus, Alum, Coppers, Sponge, Scrubbing and White Wash Brushes, Hair Brooms, &c. &c. WILLIAM WARE, Agent. Kingston, Nov. 15th, 1844.

THE Undersigned hereby give Notice, that on and after the 1st September next, to and on the 31st October, they will charge the undermentioned Rates of Freight to Kingston, viz: Pig Iron and Coal, 25s. per ton. Bar, Hoop and Sheet Iron, Tin and Canada Plates, 30s. Salt in barrels or bags (about 24 bushels), 4s. 6d. each. Other descriptions of Merchandise, 40s. per ton weight. And from Kingston to Montreal: Flour, per hbl.—1s. 6d. Pork, per hbl.—2s. 3d. Ashes, per cwt.—4s. 6d. Butter, per keg, 10s. Lead, 10s. 1s. Wheat or other Grain, per bushel, 6d. Other descriptions of Property in proportion. Montreal, August, 1844.

HENDERSON, HOOKER & Co. H. JONES & Co. MURRAY & SANDERSON. L. HILLIARD, Agent, Pioneer S. B. Co. MACHPHEON, CRANE & Co. GEORGE BORTHWICK, Agent for Toronto and St. Lawrence Steam Navigation Co.

PICTON CRACKERS, made by D. Bruce, for sale by the bar, J. CARRUTHERS.

Selected Poetry. ENGLAND. My ancestors were Englishmen—an Englishman am I, And 'tis my boast that I was born beneath a British sky; I prize my peaceful birth-place—for its freedom and its fame, In it my father lived and died; I hope to die the same. I have heard of foreign countries that are very fair to see, But England! "Merrie England," is quite fair enough for me; And he that on its happy soil is not content to stay, May leave it when he likes, and find a better where he may. We may not have the mountains which some other lands may show; Their sides adorned with vineyards, and their summits crowned with snow; We may not boast the grandeur or the melancholy grace, Which tells of time's destroying hand, or war's terrific trace; But we have fertile valleys, we have hills and dales and dells, Where peace and plenty smile around, and sweet contentment dwells, We've tall, tall cliffs that beetle o'er, and battle with the spray Of a thousand waves, that roll around a shore as free as they. There's not a sea that on its breast a hostile fleet can bear, But England's flag is seen to fly in stern defiance there; Of England's countless warriors, and rings with England's name, Our ancient institutions, and our good old English laws. Have wrong from e'en our bitterest foes their wonder and applause. Oh! his must be a coward's heart who would not make a stand For altar, throne, for health and home, in such a native land!

Miscellaneous Extracts. TEDDY BRYAN AND LOUIS PHILIPPE. SPECIAL REPORT. Portsmouth, Tuesday.

Faith, then, he's a fine old fellow quite, who's seen the Queen, "Ah, ah, well may Britain boast when they see the Queen as well-mannered, affable and affable." This made the Prince blush, and the old Juke grin. When they were getting into the barge, the King took him playfully by the elbows, and pushed him down the ladder, saying "You must not let any one take the lead of you, my boy, you know," and so they went on shore amidst such roaring and cheering as was never heard, and left in the train for Farmburgh, and then for Windsor, where, with Heaven's blessing, I fully enjoyed, having the good fortune to get a state with a Frinchanman who I made friends with abroad, telling him how I slaughtered the Swiss and Charles the Tenth's blackguards in the revolution of '30.

Windsor Castle. Here we are! Oh! but it was a fine sight the matron of her Majesty and old Louis Philippe! There she, the Queen, stood like a dainty woman, at the front door waiting for her son, and when the King got out she dropped a purty curtsy, which a Cork woman would envy, "God save you, sir, on its glad I'm to see you, and welcome you as I hope to see you, and I'm so glad to see you," "Hearty, thankee," says he, "and signs on!" He up and gives her hand two smacks and then I thought she turned her cheek modestly aside with a smile and a "won't-you-come-kiss-me-now" kind of an eye, for the old King took the hint, and in a fine old fatherly manner kissed the young cratur which she is, 'tho' the mother of a childer. Two or three days ago, in course, Teddy's occupation was now gone, for, with all his modesty, he was clane lathered how to scheme into the Palace. But never mind how I got the followin' bits of information. There wasn't anything of consequence tak place on Tuesday as the Royal party all were very quiet and to themselves. But the sweet ate like dragons or furnished hyenas. Bedad the Queen's larder is sufferin', and Mister Murray is lookin' melancholy, thinkin' of the pinelin' and starvin' that will follow. The Castle is as full of people as the cabin of a Gravesend steamer the last boat on a wet Sunday.

Wednesday mornin' the Queen showed the old King over the Castle, and in course he was much pleased with the chapel, &c. When he came to the Princess Charlotte's cenotaph he was much affected, and said it must have cost Leopold a large sum. "Not a halfpenny," said the Queen, "twas the gift of the nation." "I ought to have recollected the character of the nation, and that of the poor Princess's husband," said Louis Philippe, "to have known that." In the chapter room he was much tickled with a two handed sword, seven feet long, which hangs alongside the portrait of Edward the Third, who founded the Order of the Garter, and both he and his son Montpensier (who is nobody, but I'm told is a clever carpenter) handled it. The King, in swinging it about his old Macaw on the shins, which coupled wid the tread on his heels, makes that fine old Admiral look a respectful distance from his Royal Majesty.

At the griffin which took place in St. George's Hall, on Wednesday, the Old Admiral Macaw, who talks through his nose like his namesake the bird, could not help laughin' at old Haddington, who looked like a washwoman dressed for fun, and the rest of the people who roared the British navy. The Corporation this time said an address, which the King answered, "sayin' all manner of civil things, and tellin' them in ivy sentence all he wanted was 'peace and plenty.'" "Will yer Majesty favor us wid a copy of them same noble sentiments?" said the Recorder, like an oarsman. "D—! a copy have I," says the King. "Whin could I spare the time or the paper I an' I never give anything away, says he, but words, and there from my hart be me soul, says he, and that's vally enough, for they'll worth notes," says he, winkin' and lookin' at the Times reportin' man, who was takin' down his speech.

Whin they left, the King went below to get corked, powdered, and shaved, like a dainty man whin about to receive company, as my poor uncle who was killed in the rebellion used to say, to make ready to see Prince Albert, and whin he came on deck, faith, the royal old gentleman looked as like Major Sturgeon, in the Mayor of Garratt, and Geese-o as Jerry Sneak, as any two peas in a hushel. He looked as serious as a fly in a mustard pot. Tworale artin'! Bang went the guns, and up came the Prince. Faith, thin, all the seriousness vanished like the smoke. The minniet the Prince stepped on deck the old King started for a moment back wid a look and a shriek of joy, (in which moment, by the way he trod on Macaw's corns, who caught his toe in his fist wid a roar) and then he took a rush, and catchin' hold of Albert in his arms and kissin' him first on the cheek and then on the other, "Oh! I'll place here!" says he (which quarely means what pleasure, in French). "You speaks de English, sir," said the Prince, "so ver well, permit me to hope you will honour dat language vilo you are in de country." "True for you my boy," said the old King, laughin' and spakin' out diligently, "I will," and turnin' round to the old Juke of Wellington, who was lookin' his head like a Chaney Mauder, he was about to embrace him, but the Juke shook his head, faith, to the astonishment of the Frenchman, who looked at him as if they would eat him without salt, and the King offered his hand. Faith, thin, it was a sight to see thin two shakin' hands. The King asked after the Queen, and complimented the appearance of the British navy, sayin' as he overlooked a man of the Queen, "Ah, ah, well may Britain boast when they see the Queen as well-mannered, affable and affable." This made the Prince blush, and the old Juke grin. When they were getting into the barge, the King took him playfully by the elbows, and pushed him down the ladder, saying "You must not let any one take the lead of you, my boy, you know," and so they went on shore amidst such roaring and cheering as was never heard, and left in the train for Farmburgh, and then for Windsor, where, with Heaven's blessing, I fully enjoyed, having the good fortune to get a state with a Frinchanman who I made friends with abroad, telling him how I slaughtered the Swiss and Charles the Tenth's blackguards in the revolution of '30.

Windsor Castle. Here we are! Oh! but it was a fine sight the matron of her Majesty and old Louis Philippe! There she, the Queen, stood like a dainty woman, at the front door waiting for her son, and when the King got out she dropped a purty curtsy, which a Cork woman would envy, "God save you, sir, on its glad I'm to see you, and welcome you as I hope to see you, and I'm so glad to see you," "Hearty, thankee," says he, "and signs on!" He up and gives her hand two smacks and then I thought she turned her cheek modestly aside with a smile and a "won't-you-come-kiss-me-now" kind of an eye, for the old King took the hint, and in a fine old fatherly manner kissed the young cratur which she is, 'tho' the mother of a childer. Two or three days ago, in course, Teddy's occupation was now gone, for, with all his modesty, he was clane lathered how to scheme into the Palace. But never mind how I got the followin' bits of information. There wasn't anything of consequence tak place on Tuesday as the Royal party all were very quiet and to themselves. But the sweet ate like dragons or furnished hyenas. Bedad the Queen's larder is sufferin', and Mister Murray is lookin' melancholy, thinkin' of the pinelin' and starvin' that will follow. The Castle is as full of people as the cabin of a Gravesend steamer the last boat on a wet Sunday.

Wednesday mornin' the Queen showed the old King over the Castle, and in course he was much pleased with the chapel, &c. When he came to the Princess Charlotte's cenotaph he was much affected, and said it must have cost Leopold a large sum. "Not a halfpenny," said the Queen, "twas the gift of the nation." "I ought to have recollected the character of the nation, and that of the poor Princess's husband," said Louis Philippe, "to have known that." In the chapter room he was much tickled with a two handed sword, seven feet long, which hangs alongside the portrait of Edward the Third, who founded the Order of the Garter, and both he and his son Montpensier (who is nobody, but I'm told is a clever carpenter) handled it. The King, in swinging it about his old Macaw on the shins, which coupled wid the tread on his heels, makes that fine old Admiral look a respectful distance from his Royal Majesty.

At the griffin which took place in St. George's Hall, on Wednesday, the Old Admiral Macaw, who talks through his nose like his namesake the bird, could not help laughin' at old Haddington, who looked like a washwoman dressed for fun, and the rest of the people who roared the British navy. The Corporation this time said an address, which the King answered, "sayin' all manner of civil things, and tellin' them in ivy sentence all he wanted was 'peace and plenty.'" "Will yer Majesty favor us wid a copy of them same noble sentiments?" said the Recorder, like an oarsman. "D—! a copy have I," says the King. "Whin could I spare the time or the paper I an' I never give anything away, says he, but words, and there from my hart be me soul, says he, and that's vally enough, for they'll worth notes," says he, winkin' and lookin' at the Times reportin' man, who was takin' down his speech.

Whin they left, the King went below to get corked, powdered, and shaved, like a dainty man whin about to receive company, as my poor uncle who was killed in the rebellion used to say, to make ready to see Prince Albert, and whin he came on deck, faith, the royal old gentleman looked as like Major Sturgeon, in the Mayor of Garratt, and Geese-o as Jerry Sneak, as any two peas in a hushel. He looked as serious as a fly in a mustard pot. Tworale artin'! Bang went the guns, and up came the Prince. Faith, thin, all the seriousness vanished like the smoke. The minniet the Prince stepped on deck the old King started for a moment back wid a look and a shriek of joy, (in which moment, by the way he trod on Macaw's corns, who caught his toe in his fist wid a roar) and then he took a rush, and catchin' hold of Albert in his arms and kissin' him first on the cheek and then on the other, "Oh! I'll place here!" says he (which quarely means what pleasure, in French). "You speaks de English, sir," said the Prince, "so ver well, permit me to hope you will honour dat language vilo you are in de country." "True for you my boy," said the old King, laughin' and spakin' out diligently, "I will," and turnin' round to the old Juke of Wellington, who was lookin' his head like a Chaney Mauder, he was about to embrace him, but the Juke shook his head, faith, to the astonishment of the Frenchman, who looked at him as if they would eat him without salt, and the King offered his hand. Faith, thin, it was a sight to see thin two shakin' hands. The King asked after the Queen, and complimented the appearance of the British navy, sayin' as he overlooked a man of the Queen, "Ah, ah, well may Britain boast when they see the Queen as well-mannered, affable and affable." This made the Prince blush, and the old Juke grin. When they were getting into the barge, the King took him playfully by the elbows, and pushed him down the ladder, saying "You must not let any one take the lead of you, my boy, you know," and so they went on shore amidst such roaring and cheering as was never heard, and left in the train for Farmburgh, and then for Windsor, where, with Heaven's blessing, I fully enjoyed, having the good fortune to get a state with a Frinchanman who I made friends with abroad, telling him how I slaughtered the Swiss and Charles the Tenth's blackguards in the revolution of '30.

Windsor Castle. Here we are! Oh! but it was a fine sight the matron of her Majesty and old Louis Philippe! There she, the Queen, stood like a dainty woman, at the front door waiting for her son, and when the King got out she dropped a purty curtsy, which a Cork woman would envy, "God save you, sir, on its glad I'm to see you, and welcome you as I hope to see you, and I'm so glad to see you," "Hearty, thankee," says he, "and signs on!" He up and gives her hand two smacks and then I thought she turned her cheek modestly aside with a smile and a "won't-you-come-kiss-me-now" kind of an eye, for the old King took the hint, and in a fine old fatherly manner kissed the young cratur which she is, 'tho' the mother of a childer. Two or three days ago, in course, Teddy's occupation was now gone, for, with all his modesty, he was clane lathered how to scheme into the Palace. But never mind how I got the followin' bits of information. There wasn't anything of consequence tak place on Tuesday as the Royal party all were very quiet and to themselves. But the sweet ate like dragons or furnished hyenas. Bedad the Queen's larder is sufferin', and Mister Murray is lookin' melancholy, thinkin' of the pinelin' and starvin' that will follow. The Castle is as full of people as the cabin of a Gravesend steamer the last boat on a wet Sunday.

Wednesday mornin' the Queen showed the old King over the Castle, and in course he was much pleased with the chapel, &c. When he came to the Princess Charlotte's cenotaph he was much affected, and said it must have cost Leopold a large sum. "Not a halfpenny," said the Queen, "twas the gift of the nation." "I ought to have recollected the character of the nation, and that of the poor Princess's husband," said Louis Philippe, "to have known that." In the chapter room he was much tickled with a two handed sword, seven feet long, which hangs alongside the portrait of Edward the Third, who founded the Order of the Garter, and both he and his son Montpensier (who is nobody, but I'm told is a clever carpenter) handled it. The King, in swinging it about his old Macaw on the shins, which coupled wid the tread on his heels, makes that fine old Admiral look a respectful distance from his Royal Majesty.

At the griffin which took place in St. George's Hall, on Wednesday, the Old Admiral Macaw, who talks through his nose like his namesake the bird, could not help laughin' at old Haddington, who looked like a washwoman dressed for fun, and the rest of the people who roared the British navy. The Corporation this time said an address, which the King answered, "sayin' all manner of civil things, and tellin' them in ivy sentence all he wanted was 'peace and plenty.'" "Will yer Majesty favor us wid a copy of them same noble sentiments?" said the Recorder, like an oarsman. "D—! a copy have I," says the King. "Whin could I spare the time or the paper I an' I never give anything away, says he, but words, and there from my hart be me soul, says he, and that's vally enough, for they'll worth notes," says he, winkin' and lookin' at the Times reportin' man, who was takin' down his speech.

Whin they left, the King went below to get corked, powdered, and shaved, like a dainty man whin about to receive company, as my poor uncle who was killed in the rebellion used to say, to make ready to see Prince Albert, and whin he came on deck, faith, the royal old gentleman looked as like Major Sturgeon, in the Mayor of Garratt, and Geese-o as Jerry Sneak, as any two peas in a hushel. He looked as serious as a fly in a mustard pot. Tworale artin'! Bang went the guns, and up came the Prince. Faith, thin, all the seriousness vanished like the smoke. The minniet the Prince stepped on deck the old King started for a moment back wid a look and a shriek of joy, (in which moment, by the way he trod on Macaw's corns, who caught his toe in his fist wid a roar) and then he took a rush, and catchin' hold of Albert in his arms and kissin' him first on the cheek and then on the other, "Oh! I'll place here!" says he (which quarely means what pleasure, in French). "You speaks de English, sir," said the Prince, "so ver well, permit me to hope you will honour dat language vilo you are in de country." "True for you my boy," said the old King, laughin' and spakin' out diligently, "I will," and turnin' round to the old Juke of Wellington, who was lookin' his head like a Chaney Mauder, he was about to embrace him, but the Juke shook his head, faith, to the astonishment of the Frenchman, who looked at him as if they would eat him without salt, and the King offered his hand. Faith, thin, it was a sight to see thin two shakin' hands. The King asked after the Queen, and complimented the appearance of the British navy, sayin' as he overlooked a man of the Queen, "Ah, ah, well may Britain boast when they see the Queen as well-mannered, affable and affable." This made the Prince blush, and the old Juke grin. When they were getting into the barge, the King took him playfully by the elbows, and pushed him down the ladder, saying "You must not let any one take the lead of you, my boy, you know," and so they went on shore amidst such roaring and cheering as was never heard, and left in the train for Farmburgh, and then for Windsor, where, with Heaven's blessing, I fully enjoyed, having the good fortune to get a state with a Frinchanman who I made friends with abroad, telling him how I slaughtered the Swiss and Charles the Tenth's blackguards in the revolution of '30.

Windsor Castle. Here we are! Oh! but it was a fine sight the matron of her Majesty and old Louis Philippe! There she, the Queen, stood like a dainty woman, at the front door waiting for her son, and when the King got out she dropped a purty curtsy, which a Cork woman would envy, "God save you, sir, on its glad I'm to see you, and welcome you as I hope to see you, and I'm so glad to see you," "Hearty, thankee," says he, "and signs on!" He up and gives her hand two smacks and then I thought she turned her cheek modestly aside with a smile and a "won't-you-come-kiss-me-now" kind of an eye, for the old King took the hint, and in a fine old fatherly manner kissed the young cratur which she is, 'tho' the mother of a childer. Two or three days