For the British Whig. SESSION RHYMES.

Fun-Fuss-Fo has been obliged to leave our quiet little village once more, in order to proceed to the " Bee Hive," where he will continue to fill the very important office of Reporter to the Squiggsville " Poker and Tongs " journal. He has promised to "have his eyes about him," and to be as light fingered as possible, where there are made things so Blaymen to be pillared. May, more he has even promised to purchase any poetical addity that he may not be able to pounce on in his usual way-so that if the Montreal " Punch" has any compositions on hand he will do well to hand them over to our Reporter at once; who, if he be not able to diddle them out of him to his heart's content, will pay for them like an honest man and a Squiggsvillian. For left the following " Serap" on Slyboots' desk, which the redoubted " Bob" has very properly sent to " Master Fuz." Secret Chamber, " Poker and Tongs" Office, I Squiggsville, 7th January, 1845.

FUM'S FAREWELL.

Farewell, farewell! ye Squiggsville dames, From the young to the old and shrewish ; From the very old maid with small gray over, That twinkle like stars in wintry skies, To my pretty Elvira-no trifling prize-

Whose blinkers are rather blueish; To all-yes, oven the Squiggsville helf (e), Whose claws have made many a false one yell, Poor Furn must bid a long farewell! Although I part With a heavy heart,

I fain would go To those friends below, Who have often given poor Funs a drive-As they flocked like mad to their fancy hive-For there I shall mount my " hobby." Jerry Jerrera would like to see me there, But, to tell the truth, I don't much care

From the " Poker and Tongs" and " Bobby".

Whose erony I am, so that I fare Like a jovial pleasant fellow: I've learned how to make a passable bow, And, as my nerves are much stronger now, When the coves begin to raise a row.

I join and help them bellow. The Radical gents are no friends of mine, But as they oft ask me out to dine, I go quite freely, and drink their wine,-"Tis excellent recreation-

Indeed I have vowed I'll not decline Another kind invitation, Though Beeren or Peece should say,-" Come Dear Fum and give us a Squiggsville song"-Or the tawny Member, wee Cerren-Whom I really took for an Esquimaux : Or if Mesen himself, or Lessesse, (Two rusty links of the Radical chain.)

Should ask me to go and see them feed, Though there would'nt be much fun in it; You would'nt catch me refuse-indeed I'd jump at the chance in a minute.

But I really fear That the coach will be here. Before I am ready for starting ; Once more adicu, ye bright-eyed ones, And, when this job at the hive is done,

We will never think more of parting. Princess Street, in Griffintown, was on Satur. day night last, the scene of a tragical occurrence. Quinn, a brace of pistuls as a present, and, on taking them home to his dwelling in Princess Street, he placed them under the pillow of his bed, which was in the room they generally occupied. He assisted in putting the children to bed, and, after having done so, he took the pistuls from under the pillow and said to his wife, who was secated at a table employed in quilling a cap, " See what a handsome present I have had made to me." She exclaimed, "Oh! James, take care you don't shoot me!" He replied that the pistols were not charged, and put one of them on full cock; in the second fire which occurred in York within a short period; the house of James Fear.

River, that the loss will soon be supplied by the crection of the wind during the fire was very favourable, otherwise, the probability is that the whole village would have been destroyed. It is supposed that the fire must have originated from a stove pipe, which passed through the roof of the puil factory, without loss of property by this fire has been estimated at from $85.000 to $6,000.

Quebec Mercury, January 1. The Weather since the commencement of the New Year, has been singularly varied. The first day of the year was mild and warm, with such gentle breezes as have hitherto rather ushered in May Day than the infant year. By nightfall it had again began to freeze; but an hour or two hefore daybreak a storm of thunder, hail, and rain descended, currying off the remains of the frost and snow which covered the earth, and deluging the roads. The rain continued falling plenteously during the greater part of yesterday; but the moring broke forth amid a glorious sunshine, clear, bracing, and healthy, disposing all nature to cheer-fulness and activity. Ferran, Oenapartment, the house and furniture were saved, but bruck; John Dougall, Belleville; Mr. Adams, with partial damage. The other fire broke out yesterday, in the Pail Factory on Church Street, adjoining the residence of John Bell, Esq., Barrister. The wind blew fresh, and but for the extraordinary exertions of the fire department, considerable property must have been destroyed; but fortunately the flames were confined to the pail factory, which we are sorry to say was consumed. We understand it was in the occupation of Messrs. Metealfe & Cheney, who recently purchased it from Mr. Robert James, jr. - Toronto Colonist.

IJ FIRE AT YORK .- On Monday night week, the village of York, on the Grand River, in the county of Haldimand, suffered severely from fire. The fire broke out about 9 o'clock at night, in a pail factory, in the rear of Davis's grist and saw mill, and raged with such fury, that in a few minutes the saw mill, grist mill, shingle factory, and pail factory, were one burning mass of flame, and all were soon reduced to ashes. The inhalitants, for a considerable space around, turned out to render assistance, and, there being a plentiful supply of water, they succeeded by the aid of buck-ets (three being no fire engine in the village) in getting the fire under, about 2 o'clock of the morn ing. A considerable quantity of lumber was also burnt, and unfortunately there was no insurance effected upon the property destroyed. TT A Honning Arrain .- The Rockingham (Va.) The two agreed to run away together, and without delay executed their design. After an absence of about eighteen months they returned to the same neighbourhood in which they formerly lived, where they resided together about eighteen months, during which time they had one child,-They received many threats from the neighbors and from what followed, it is more than probable these threats were carried into execution. One morning it was made known that the louse occuthe mode and manner in which we shall preserve pied by this guilty pair and their child had been consumed by fire. On examination of the premises, the bones of the child were found in one corper of the house, the bones of the mother were resting upon the chaff tick, which was not alto gether consumed by the fire, and the remains of the man were found in the middle of the room. his heart being whole, the and head seemed to have been severed from his body!
