LATER AND HIGHLY IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.

with an army warmly attached to him, and a people who have a penchant towards a military despotism, he will prove a thorn in the side of our covctous Southern neighbors for many a day to come.

New York Heruld.

From the N. O. Picayune, Jan. 14. By the arrival of the Herman, Captain Welch, from Vera Cruz, we have dates from that city up occurrences in the distracted Republic since our last would occupy our entire space -- we must therefore, as briefly as possible, detail the principal events which have transpired.

From all we can gather from our file of papers. our correspondence, and verbal accounts, it would seem that Santa Anna is still in the field arraced against the new Government, and with a force far from being inconsiderable at his disposal. The report of his being defeated by Paredes, at Puebla. as we anticipated, was entirely without foundation.

A friend at the city of Mexico has sent us a supplement of the Diario del Gobierna, dated on the 27th inst, which contains a long correspondence between Sonta Anna and the new President, Herrera, the substance of which will be found below. Santa Anna's last letter was written on the 25th, at Hushuctoca, a village but a few leagues from Mexico. Verbally we learn that the Dictator was within five miles of the city on the 28th, that the roads leading to it in every direction had been cut up, and barneaded, that the citizens were under arms, and that Gen. Paredes, with a force of 6000 men, had gone out to meet Santa Anna. The ports make out the entire strength of the tyrant as much less. Our readers will understand that but little reliance can be placed in some of these rumors, when we state that the Coursier Francais of the 25th December meations that Paredes, at the last dates, was at Lagos, a small city some ten ments from both Zucatecas and San Luis. It may be that Bravo had gone out to meet Santa Anna, had taken sides against the tyrant.

A long and rather interesting correspondence takes place between Santa Anna and Gen. Herara, nuticing it, says :-
