A certain fashionable Marquis was a short time since most agreeably occupied in escorting an amiable and beautiful Countess to the Polytechnic Institution in Regent-street. A poor woman accosted them, and solicited alms in a most pitiable tone of voice. The fair Countess instinctively thrust her hand into her reticule; but, he'sold ! she had forgotten her purse. " My Lend," she said, " Pray give that poor creature a shilling for me." "Impossible!" he exclamed; " any thing to oblige your Ladyship, but that !" " And why not? have you also left your purse at home? "No; I have my purse in my pocket, and it is full of gold and silver." "Then why not spare a trifle for that poor starving woman!" " It is upon Christian principles that I object to comply with your Ladyship's desire." "How so? you amaze me." WILD CHERRY.

Ever since the settlement of America, Wild Cherry has been known to possess very important medicinal virtue. Every body knew this fact, but nobody knew how to extract its essential properties. Every mother gives Wild Cherry tea to her children for worms, for colds, and for almost every disease; and adults throughout our country are in the habit of making a compound or syrup of wild cherry bark, and other ingredients, to be used in spring as an antidute to complaints incident to that changeful season. It is found by experiment that the wild enerry possess even far more important qualities than was ascribed to it. For the first stages of Consumption, Asthma, no matter how long standing, Coughs, Liver Complaint, etc. it is proved to be the best med cine known to man. Pulmonary disease, in almost every stage, after our best physicians could do no more, has astronshed the faculty, and led them to confess that Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry prosesses a principle hertofore unknown among medical men None genuine, unless argued I.
