Assistance was speedily at hand, and owing to the abundant supply of water and the energy of the firemen, it was soon got under; not, however, without considerable damage. We hear that two accidents ocinformed that the risk was considered a very Teach. safe one, and as yet no trace has been discovered of how the fire originated. Toronto Patriot, May 11.

The Assizes closed here on Monday except the suit brought by the District Conncil against Mr. McLean, late Treasurer, the result of which we think may prove interesting to some of our country readers. It was an action of Trover to try whether Mr. Mc-Lean was entitled to retain possession of the books in which were kept a record of his transactions as Treasurer. The Council contended that they were their property, and Mr. Me-Lean denied it, insisting that they were his only vouchers for what he had done as Treasurer. It was recommended to the Jury to find a verdict for the Council subject to several legal points which would either reverse or confirm it hereafter, and it was urged upon the Jury by the Plaintiff's Counsel to find such damages as would make it an object to Mr. McLean to deliver up the books sooner than pay the amount. No estimate however could be formed of any damages oustained by the a verdict for one farthing !!!

LP SHOCKING ACCIDENT .- We are sorry to an nounce a dreadful accolent which took place yesterday morning, in the River Otonabre, at this the purpose of conveying cattle, luggage, &c across. On this disastrous occasion, she was crossing with her load, together with some passengers (about 12 or 14 in number) and the accident, we understand, occurred in consequence of the helmouse allowing the boy to be too much exposed to the current, while the stern was lying poets to which she was confined which placed her at the morey of the opposite post. Still there was no room for alarm as she was swinging quite mirely round to the current on the opposite side of the river, when suddenly she reached the end of the rope and the bow digit, the pulsangers became alarmed, many of whom leaped overhouse, in the greatest confusion, and were followed by others, who attempted the rescue of their companions; the result was the douth of at least three of the company, two men and one weman, named respoetively, Patrick Cuff, John Shankland, and Mrs. O'Brien. The above series has never been entplayed for the purpose of conveying passengers. the government boat being in gratuitods use for that purpose; people wishing to go in her were at liberty to do so, free of charge, when she was crossing with luggage &c.
