

and advance the interest and usefulness of this institution; and that we will ever cherish his memory as among the worthiest of our Order.

To his surviving family we tender our heartfelt condolence and sympathy, and assure them that while they are called to mourn the loss of a beloved and affectionate husband, a kind and indulgent father, we mourn for the loss of a highly-esteemed friend and Brother—hoping that this testimonial, though it cannot heal the wound which an all-wise God has inflicted, nor bind up the hearts made sad by this most afflictive dispensation, yet that it may in some degree alleviate the sorrows of those whose relations with the deceased cause them more deeply to mourn.

Resolved, That in testimony of our regard for our departed Brother, we will attend his funeral in a body.

Resolved, That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be signed by the Worshipful Master and Secretary, and that a copy be furnished to the family of the deceased, and to the editor of the Masonic Register, and the editors of the several newspapers published in this county; also, to the editor of the British Whig, Kingston.

QUARANTINE GROUNDS.
Barque Rankin, 2nd June, 1847.
Messrs. Folbeck & Gilmer.

Gentlemen,—We earnestly request that you will use your best endeavors, in the proper quarters, to get us out of this place. You are, of course, aware of the fire run we had from Liverpool, say 19 days, and during that time we had only five deaths, and when we arrived here we had only one of the sick removed from among us from the Monday night when we arrived, till the Sunday following, when eight men died, still being removed, and during that time we had double the number of deaths—that is, we had as many deaths in five days as we had in the previous thirteen days—owing principally, we would say, to the sick being kept among us.

We have still a few sick among us—say 5 or 6—such the doctors will be sure to produce, do as you see fit, but we are all of the decided opinion, that if on our arrival here the sick had been removed from among us, that many valuable lives would have been saved, and that if we are kept here much longer, more will be constantly sacrificed. Do not, therefore, let us be removed from here, but let us be removed to some place where we can be removed from among us, and let us be removed from among us, and let us be removed from among us.

We remain, Gentlemen,
Yours most respectfully,
Signed on behalf of the Passengers.
LETTER FROM THE MEDICAL OFFICERS.
Grosse Ile, Tuesday, 9. A. M.

But out of 4 or 5000 that left this shore Sunday at least two thousand will be some where before three weeks are over. They ought to have accommodation for 20000 here, at least, in Montreal and Quebec, as all the Cork and Liverpool passengers are half dead from starvation and want before embarking, and at least level complaint, which is sure to come with change of food, fishing, and without a struggle. I never saw people so indifferent to life—they would continue in the same berth with a dead person until the scum or excrement dragged out the corpse with boat-hooks.

"Good God, what evil will befall the city wherever they alight! Hot weather will increase the evil."
Now give the authorities of Quebec and Montreal warning for me. I have not time to write, so should feel it my duty to do so. Public safety requires it.
Yours, &c.
(Signed) "G. M. DOUGLASS."

LATER FROM MEXICO.
An arrival at New Orleans on the 23rd inst., from Brazos, confirms the news of Doniphan's arrival at Parras, after a march of fifteen hundred miles, with about 1,000 men, and 16 pieces of artillery.

Col. Mitchell, with the advance of Doniphan's command, including a picked party, was expected at Buena Vista on the 16th.

In passing through Durango they took possession of a small fort, 1 Captain, 24 privates, and 48 staff and arms. The Captain and his men were released on parole, and Col. Doniphan were to furnish them with arms to defend themselves against the Camanches. At Mussey he found 125 muskets, and 55 lances.—The troops fed on his approach.

Gen. Cushing had received orders to join Gen. Taylor immediately at Monterey, with the Massachusetts regiment.

Three men of the Massachusetts regiment recently deserted, and were all murdered by the Camanches. Gen. Taylor has determined to employ the new Texan battalion.

A letter from San Luis Potosi says the hospital there is crowded with Mexican soldiers, who are dying by scores of starvation and neglect. Even the citizens are suffering for want of the common necessities of life. The enemy have evacuated San Luis. The troops have all left.

The steamer Fashion, from Vera Cruz, which place she left on the 30th May, arrived at New Orleans on the 4th inst.

The report of the murder and robbery of passengers in the diligence, is confirmed.—Among the victims was Col. Somers, bearer of despatches from Gen. Scott. The bodies of the murdered men were atrociously mutilated.

Santa Anna is reported at Rio Frio, with three thousand men.

A report says that Herrera has been elected President of Mexico, but it is not traceable to any authentic source.

Gen. Scott was to have Jalapa on the 29th ult. Gen. Twiggs' division had already left.

made for Connecticut Harbor; who unfortunately sank, however, about two miles out. Passengers and crew were picked up by the steamer Harmon about four hours after the disaster. The number of lives lost is not ascertained, reports says that three of the crew are missing. Mr. D. Wilson of the steamer Cleveland came down and visited the wreck, and would have rendered all the assistance he could, had any persons been found floating on planks or doors, but none were found.

AMBASSADOR TO ROME.
Most persons are aware that by laws passed in England, and subsequent to the great Reformation, the Government of England was prohibited from sending any ambassador to Rome, or from holding diplomatic intercourse with the Papal See. A growing disposition has long shown itself to put an end to this restrictive policy, now no longer necessary. The liberal policy pursued by the new Pope has rendered this desire still more general, and the question has at length been moved in Parliament, as will be seen by the following conversation, which took place in the House of Commons on the 14th ult.

Mr. HUBBARD rose to ask the question of which he had given notice, namely,—Whether it was the intention of Her Majesty's Government to establish diplomatic relations between this country and the Court of Rome? He thought it would be highly advantageous that this country should have a resident minister at the Court of Rome, with relation to questions both of a commercial and territorial character. It had until recently been doubted whether, if we were disposed to endeavor to establish a more friendly footing with that Court, such a measure would not be objected to on the opposite side. But a change had now come over the feelings of the Treasury, and the recently elected Pope having adopted the maxim that the internal relations of his state should be regulated rather by political than by religious feelings, and having given a very hospitable reception to the Ambassador of the Porte, there was no doubt that he could not feel otherwise than honored at receiving at his Court the Representative of this country. There could be no doubt of the friendly feelings of this country towards the present Pope, whether or not they took any steps to establish relations with him on a more friendly footing, such as became the interests and character of this country.

Lord J. RUSSELL—I can certainly concur with the noble member in so much as he has stated of the liberal policy of the present Pope, and I believe it would be his wish to see more formal diplomatic relations established between this country and the Court of Rome. I have, however, some great pleasure, the course which the present Pope has pursued (cheers from both sides of the house), and I think it will tend much to increase the happiness of the people of Italy. I have no hesitation in saying that I think it would be desirable that there should be a formal diplomatic relation established (heard), but the question is one in point of policy; in point of law, exceedingly intricate and in point of policy, one that is likely to excite considerable discussion. The law, as it stands, leaves a difficulty; there are expressions and words in the act of Parliament to which it is difficult to give a legal interpretation. Therefore, as the law at present stands, I do not think it would be safe to advise Her Majesty to send a Minister expressly with credentials to Rome. With respect to introducing a bill on this subject to make the law more clear, I do not think it would be advisable at the end of a session, with a great deal of business before us, to introduce a bill on so important a subject. I cannot tell whether it would be prudent to introduce a bill, but this is a subject on which I hope we may legislate in future, (heard, heard) and I do think it desirable that diplomatic relations should be established between this country and Rome. (Heard, heard.)

FACTS AND SCRAPS, original and select.
THE THEATRE.—To-night, that pretty dancer and very charming woman, Mariemont, advertised as Black-eyed Susan and the Lady and the Devil, two excellent Dramas. The Theatre has not of late days been so well patronized as it deserves, and some benefits have been such only in name; but we trust the gallantry of the Kingstons will not allow us to include the benefice of to-night among those who have benefited in vain to the kindness of their patrons; more particularly our worthy chief Magistrate, T. Kirkpatrick, Esq., has allowed the Bill of attraction to be put up under his patronage.

IMPERTINENCE.—If several parties who address editors of newspapers, respecting advertisements which appear in their papers, sending their letters unpaid, were aware that all such letters, if taken from the Post-office, are immediately torn up or otherwise destroyed, it might have the effect of checking such impertinence for the future. During the fifteen years of the British Whig's existence, no such unpaid letter was ever replied to. Clerks, Governesses, &c., are the parties of which the loudest complaints are made.

BELLEVILLE LODGE OF FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.—The Brethren of Belleville Lodge, No. 10, of Free and Accepted Masons, intend celebrating the Festival of St. John the Baptist, at Belleville, on Thursday 24th day of June, Instant. The Brethren will form a Procession, and attend Divine Service, after which there will be a dinner. Neighboring Lodges and Societies are respectfully invited to attend.

SALE AT THE GROVE HOUSE.—Should to-morrow prove rainy, the Sale of Mr. W. A. Geddes' Furniture will not take place.

It affords us much pleasure, to be able to say, that Mr. Murney has at last succeeded with the Government, in obtaining an order for the suspension of all the Chancery Suits, commenced against the occupants of the Indian Lands in Tyndinaga.
Belleville Intelligencer.

LONDON ELECTION.—The Address of John Wilson, Esq., to the Electors of London, will be seen in another column. It is not necessary to say much on the subject, as Mr. Wilson seems to be almost unanimous choice of the Electors of London, so much so, that, as Mr. John Duggan has retired from the contest, and there will be no opposition to the return of Mr. Wilson.

A collision took place at the entrance to the harbor on Wednesday, between the Admiral and a smaller steamer, the King William, which occasioned considerable damage to the latter.—Toronto Canadian.

LET ALL WHO ARE AFFLICTED WITH ASTHMA READ THE FOLLOWING LETTER.
Mr. Seth W. Fowler:
Sir—Having been afflicted for more than thirty years with the Asthma, at times so severely, as to incapacitate me from attendance in business, and having adopted many medicines without any, but temporary relief, I purchased about three years since, of Mr. Edward Mason, your agent in this city, several bottles of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, from the effects of which I obtained more relief than from all the medicines I had ever taken for that distressing disorder. I have by the repeated use of your valuable Balsam, been free of pressure for breath, and oppression on the lungs, thus I had anticipated, and indeed conceive myself as cured of this most distressing malady. I do most cheerfully tender you my acknowledgments, which you will use as your judgment dictates.
