CHEAT AND GROW RICH.

THIS has been the secret principle of too many of the wholesale dealers in Teas up to this time, and they have practised the most shameful imposition on the Country Merchant without any fear of detection. But a new era in the Tea Trade has come and the PEKIN TEA COMPANY claims the honor of its introduction. They were the first to raise the banner of Reform, on which it is inscribed the simple words—

"PURE TEAS AT HONEST PRICES."

A complete revolution has been the consequence. Let consumers of Tea every where look at what we have done.

1st. We were the first to send them Teas that used to be called too good for them before.

2nd. We have driven out of the market a vast amount of trash, and introduced a better class of Teas than have yet ever been sold. Importers of tea often come to us to get for their own use, and for their friends, the qualities they can find nowhere else.

3rd. We have reduced prices more than 25 per cent. both in Black and Green Teas. The wholesale grocers say we are ruining the trade and call us hucksters. This we have done already, and now we want we are ready to do.

1st. We will sell Teas by the single chest, half-chest, or 5 lb. box, at the same prices that wholesale grocers pay to importers when they buy by the hundred each open.

2nd. The wholesale grocers allow only 12 or at most 14 lbs. tare to the half-chest. This is a cheat. We will allow, in most instances, 15 and 16 lbs tare on the same.

3rd. We hereby undertake to sell every kind of Tea from six to twelve cents per pound cheaper than the wholesale grocers do.

How can we do this asks the country merchant?

This is our answer. We are content with seven per cent profit, instead of 25 and 50 per cent, as the wholesale grocer.

We deserve the thanks of the country merchants from saving them hereafter from being cheated. Let them come to the warehouses of the PEKIN TEA COMPANY, and compare samples of Tea they get elsewhere; and if they buy bad teas then, at high prices, it is their own fault.

An English Importer lately boasted to us that he could make more money by sending bad Teas to New York market than on good Teas. We are resolved to overthrow this fraud; and now call upon agents in every town in the United States to come forward and buy the Teas imported by the PEKIN TEA COMPANY; and we pledge ourselves, that if in six months they do not sell more Tea than the oldest and largest dealers in the town, we will give them our Tea without charge. This is plain English and cannot be misunderstood.—We appeal for testimony to the immense success of our Agents in any part of the United States.

☞ Agents wanted in every Town in the United States for the sale of these Teas, by which they can make money, and confer a benefit upon the Public by supplying the pure article.

CATALOGUE OF TEAS
ON SALE AT THE WAREHOUSES OF THE PEKIN TEA COMPANY,

☞ The Teas mentioned in this Catalogue are done up in quarter pound, half-pound, and one pound packages—the first, or inside wrapper is lead, the second wrapper is waterproof paper, and the third or outside wrapper is of Chinese rice paper. Country dealers may select as small a quantity of each kind as they like, and have them packed in our chest. These Teas also come in five pound Chinese packages, called quatoons, a very convenient, fanciful and portable shape.

[Persons residing in any part of the United States or Canada, can order any of the Teas in this Catalogue, by letter, in quantities to suit their wishes. RECOMMENDATIONS.

Heretofore it has been very difficult, indeed impossible, to always obtain good green and black teas. But now you have only to visit the warerooms of the Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street, to obtain as delicious and fragrant teas as you could wish for.—Daily Sun.

We have tried the Teas imported by the Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street, New York, and if we live will try them often. They are selling the most delicious teas we ever drank, and retail them at wholesale prices.—Evening Post.

The finest specimens of green and black teas ever sold in this country, are imported by the Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street. Those who want good teas at reasonable prices can always get them there.—Tribune.

A WORD TO DAIRIES.—The Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street, having imported into this market some 500,000 dollars worth of the finest grades of Green and Black Teas, grown in the Celestial Empire, done up in all the various fancy packages that Chinese ingenuity can invent. It is a privilege to buy teas at this great Establishment, and a luxury and a comfort to drink them. They sell good teas only, and retail them at wholesale prices. Country merchants who wish to always sell good teas can always obtain them at this place on reasonable terms.—New York Courier and Enquirer.

The Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton Street, performing a great deal of good work, and in a few years, beyond all doubt, drive all the pernicious which have deluged this country, and swindled consumers of the article, out of the market. They import none but pure and fragrant tea and retail them by the single pound at wholesale prices. Families are always sure of obtaining good teas at this great tea warehouse, in qualities to suit their convenience, and at the same price that the merchant pays who buys to sell again.—Daily True Sun.

FOR OOLONG BLACK TEA.—The Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street, sells a delicious Oolong Tea at 50 cents per pound. Consumers of Tea, who have been paying six shillings per pound for this article are requested to compare it with the above, and judge for themselves which is best. If you can buy a better tea at four shillings per pound than you have been getting at six shillings, you will be obliged to us for this notice. Try the Young Hyson, sold at this great Tea Establishment at 75 cents. It is better than anything of the kind we have ever bought elsewhere at one dollar.—Commercial Advertiser.

Any of our readers desire to have good tea they can obtain it of the Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street.—Mercury.

THE PEKIN TEA COMPANY.—We very cheerfully call the attention of all lovers of pure and fragrant Teas, both in Town and country, to the great Tea Warehouse of this Company. Our long acquaintance with the Proprietors enable us to speak for them the entire confidence of the public. We know that their teas, both in quality and price, are all that is stated of them. Many a lover of this fragrant herb has been compelled to renew the drinking of Tea in consequence of nauseous effects, until at length he has become hopeless of finding, among any of the imported varities of Tea in our market, a kind which had so much an effect. In this, however, such persons will be agreeably disappointed. The Pekin Tea Company have commenced the importation of choice varieties of Garden Teas, of most delicious flavor cultivated and picked with care, which have heretofore never been introduced into this country, except as presents to importers. Among these they have an Oolong, mild as zephyr, and fragrant as a rose, which we specially recommend to all persons. Its effect upon many of those who have tried it, has been to make them confirmed tea drinkers. Ladies who have used it, say that they never before drank such tea. But all tastes can here be suited, with the great advantages over others of getting a pure article at whole-sale prices, however small the quantity. The Company's Warehouse is at 75 & 77 Fulton street.—Golden Rule.

TEA.—The Pekin Tea Company, No. 75 & 77 Fulton street, unquestionably sell the best teas imported into this market. That they sell them cheaper than any other establishment, is a fact proved in a thousand instances since they have opened their store. We would advise our friends to call at this place, and if they don't wish to buy, at least to obtain a little pamphlet kept on their counter, entitled, "Hints to Tea Drinkers," and therefrom learn a little useful information on the subject. The pamphlet is given gratis.—Journal of Commerce.

We drink Green Tea, and for many years have been paying one dollar per pound for it. But thanks to the Pekin Tea Company, we now get a better tea from them at 75 cents per pound. We drink one pound per week, by which we are now saving thirteen dollars per year, and supplying better tea in the bargain. Commend us to the Pekin Tea Company, say we.—Mercur.

You may be sure of obtaining at all times pure, fragrant and delicious Teas, at the lowest wholesale prices, of the Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street. They have probably the largest stock, and greatest variety of fine green and black teas, of any establishment in the United States. They are doing a large business, and a great benefit to consumers of tea.—Atlas.

☞ Editors and Publishers of Newspapers in the United States, Canada, West Indies, &c., who will give the above 12 insertions in their respective Journals, including this notice, will be paid for the same in any Teas they may choose to select from the above Catalogue, at the prices there named, and by their purchasing of the Company twice the amount of their bill, which they are at liberty to dispose of as they please.

Papers who advertise must direct copies marked to the Pekin Tea Company, 75 & 77 Fulton street, New York. 57-13i

BREACH OF PROMISE.

Winchester, Saturday, July 17. Before Lord Chief Justice Wilde and a Special Jury

HARVEY v. JOHNSON.

Mr. Cockburn and Mr. Platt were counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr Serjeant Kinglake and Mr. C. Saunders for the defendant.

The declaration stated that the plaintiff, in August, 1845, was unmarried and living in America, and that in consideration that she would leave America, and return to Ireland for the purpose of marrying the defendant, he (the defendant) would marry her; that the plaintiff returned to Ireland and the defendant had notice thereof, and was required to marry her, but he refused to do so, and that by reason of her leaving Canada she lost her business of a milliner and dress maker. The defendant pleaded that he did not promise; that the plaintiff did not arrive in Ireland within reasonable time after making the promise; that he had not due notice that she had arrived; that the plaintiff was not ready and willing to marry the defendant; that he had not due notice that the plaintiff was ready to marry him; that a reasonable term had not elapsed when he was required to marry; and that the plaintiff absolved him from the promise.

Mr. Cockburn in stating the case to the jury, said the plaintiff complained of the defendant, and brought this action to recover compensation in damages for the breach, on his part, of one of the most important and solemn engagements that any individual could enter into. It had been said with truth that this was one of a class of cases which might differ in the most extreme degree; which might be of the most aggravated character and embrace circumstances of great mitigation, which might seriously tend to diminish the wrong of which the party complained, and the redress to which the party was entitled. He felt that he was justified in stating that this case was one of the most aggravated nature. In the whole course of his experience he had never heard of a case of so aggravated a character, and when he had stated the facts he was sure they would sanction his statement. The plaintiff was a young lady, aged about 30 years of age, the daughter of a highly respectable farmer residing in the north of Ireland. The defendant was a surgeon in the navy, at the present moment serving on board Her Majesty's ship Spartan, now on foreign service; he was also a native of Ireland. So far back as 1839 the mother of Miss Harvey was taken ill of a fever, of which she died. The defendant was residing in the neighborhood. He was connected by marriage with the plaintiff, and from that circumstance an acquaintance existed between them. The defendant conceived a passion and attachment for Miss Harvey, who was the eldest of the daughters, and paid his addresses to her. This went on till 1841. He then manifested some falling off in his attentions, and paid them to another young woman, but in 1842 he renewed his attentions, and a correspondence took place; and it was necessary to remind the jury, that the imagination of parties in the sister kingdom was more warm than was to be found in persons living in this country. The learned counsel then read an immense number of letters written by the defendant to the plaintiff, of which we have only room for some extracts.

"All I want now to complete my happiness is my own sweet Jeanie, O! but I seriously feel the want of my Jeanie, when I see others enjoying the sweets of their better halves. O! Jeanie, it was my chief desire, even long before the bathing season set in, to have the pleasure of your society here a few weeks, or some such place. I had a dream concerning you last night. Miserable Tommy!

"The last links are broken which bound me to thee (No, no!)
And the words thou hast spoken have rendered me free,
That bright glance misleading, on others may shine (No!)
Those eyes smiled unheeding when tears burst from mine;
If my love was deemed boldness, that error is o'er,
I have witnessed the coldness, and prize thee no more.
Oh! I have not loved lightly. I'll think on thee yet (Yes, yes!)
And pray for the nightly till life's sun is set. (True, true, I hope.)

"Tommy being thus overwhelmed with grief and sorrow that Jeanie has thus estranged herself from him, she speaks to Tommy as follows:—

"When my bosom heaves the sigh,
When the tear o'erflows thine eye,
May sweet hope afford relief,
Cheer thy heart and calm thy grief."

"How can it be cheered when absent from Jeanie?"

"Oh, my Jeanie, I did not see you this morning, and I dread the cause of your non-appearance. Oh! Jeannie, have you so little confidence in your own Tommy? Oh that we were united, that there might be an end to your doubts and fears. Oh, my Jeannie, do not doubt the sincerity of my affection, for indeed and in truth I prize my beloved Jeannie above all the world. Oh, do not doubt my love. Oh, it is only too great, it is sinful—it is stronger than death.

"TOMMY TO HIS DEAR BELOVED JEANNIE.

"Come rest in this bosom my own stricken dear,
Tho' thy friends have fled from thee thy home is still here;
Here still is the smile that no cloud can o'ercast,
And my heart and my hand all thy own to the last (true.)
Oh, what was love made for if 'tis not the same
Thro' joy and thro' torments, thro' glory and shame,
I know not, I ask not, if guilt's in that heart
(oh, no!)
I but know that I love thee, whatever thou art (I do most truly.)
Thou hast call'd me thy angel in moments of bliss,
And an angel I'll be 'mid the horrors of this.
Through the furnace unshrinking thy steps to pursue,
And shield thee and serve thee, or perish there too."

"Oh, my beloved Jeannie; how can I part from my beloved Jeannie—my love—my love—my love and delight.

"It is, my beloved, quite plain that my heart yearns to be with my heart's delight. Oh, my beloved, beloved Jeannie, what will become of your own Tommy? Alas, poor Tommy; his heart will certainly break. Oh, Jeannie, do not stay long away if you go, my love—my dove—my beloved.

"Thursday, 7 afternoon.—Saw my only beloved Jeannie. Did ever any creature love as I do; surely not. Oh, my Jeannie, I fear we must be separated. I believe there is nothing else for it.

"No, never shall I break the solemn promise I have made.
"I'll keep it, though the world may frown and many will upbraid.

"I shall be faithful unto death. The Lord has seen that we idolize and worship each other, and neglected him; therefore it seems to be his will that we should be parted. How often does God snatch away the darling of our hearts when we set our affections too much on the object of our love. If it had been the Lord's will that we should have been joined by the ties of wedlock, now Jeannie would have shown in her own house. But, alas! it seems it is not to be, at least with her Tommy."

Miss Harvey's father having married again, and as she perceived there would be a difficulty in procuring the consent of the defendant's friends to the match, and having a brother residing at Toronto in Canada, she and her sister, considering that they might establish themselves in business, then determined to go to Canada, and they sailed on the 17th June, 1841. Still the defendant continued to keep up the correspondence, and the following are some of the extracts from his letters:—

"Sep. 25, 1841.—Beloved, although you are now in a far distant land, still I have the strong hope that you may still be mine. August 25.—Dreamed of having my Jeannie in my arms; distance makes no change in your Tommy's affections. Oh come, come, and you will see you will not be disappointed; come and console your broken hearted Tommy. I dreamed you had been home; I met you and implanted a long kiss on your sweet ruby lips; neither did my Jeannie refuse me. I am aware, beloved, you have experienced the danger of the sea, but I could have the confidence you would undergo twice as much danger for the sake of your Tommy; and again, speaking of your faithfulness to your Tommy, calls to my mind how you refused entering into plays at Mr. Sproule's less you should be obliged to kiss any one but your Tommy. Saturday, Sept. 28.—I was at your poor mother's tomb to day renewing your dear initials with a nail. Sept. 24.—I dreamed I saw your late mother: she looked better than ever I saw her. She appeared to be in a perspiration, and held an infant at her heart. Beloved, let me know if you are perfectly willing to come home to your Tommy. Oh, come and be a comfort to your own Tommy. Beloved, I am sacrificing all the young ladies of this place for my Jeannie's sake. Beloved, please to write to me often. Do not consider the postage expense. Come to me, come to me, and you shall be mine. December 31, 1844.—Ah, beloved, how the tears ran down your Tommy's cheeks when he spied the tea things in a drawer which Jeannie was wont to handle so adroitly in company with her Tommy. The Lord in mercy pardon our sin in thus idolizing each other. My mamma knows of my sending you this, and has no objection to my writing to you. Many a sigh has escaped from my bosom since you left. One day I was sighing deeply; she said, "if we had known you had loved her so dearly it was a hardship to let her go." Beloved, I think they had the idea that it was you that was after me, and that I did not care so much about you. I write on all the covers of newspapers, and also mostly on their blank margins. May 27, 1845.—My dearly beloved Jeannie—shall it any my spouse. Now, beloved, a gleam of hope arises in my hitherto disconsolate bosom; praise be to the Lord that if there be sorrow in the night joy cometh in the morning. Certainly, sell off what goods you have on hand. Now, you have nothing to fear
