

Extracts from late English Papers.

THE BOER WAR.

The General of last night continued the following despatch from Sir H. G. Smith, dated the 30th of August. It supplies the details of a most important event which has taken place in the history of the war.

Camp Bethany, two marches from Bloemfontein, Aug. 31.

My Lord, In continuation of my despatch to you of the 29th inst., regarding the capture of the position of the Orange River, I have the honor to inform you that the position has been captured and the Orange River is now in our hands.

I marched on the morning of the 27th inst., with a force of 1,000 men, and on the following day I captured a stream near the Orange River. The position was held by the Boers, and was a most important one.

I captured the position on the morning of the 27th inst., with a force of 1,000 men, and on the following day I captured a stream near the Orange River. The position was held by the Boers, and was a most important one.

The Cape Boer, in a despatch, dated the 30th inst., calculated, from being wounded, and the loss of his horse, and the fact that he was wounded, and the fact that he was wounded, and the fact that he was wounded.

How TO EARN A GOOD SALARY. A gentleman was riding up a hill, when he was accosted by a woman, who was carrying a bundle on her back, and who was carrying a bundle on her back, and who was carrying a bundle on her back.

THE GUN AND INFANTRY. The guns and infantry were, however, advancing as rapidly as the heat of the day would permit, and the neck, the last hold of the rebels, was severed from the main body of the army.

SOMEONE'S COMMISSION BETWEEN ENGLAND AND IRELAND. The more speedy transmission of intelligence between the two countries, and the more speedy transmission of intelligence between the two countries, and the more speedy transmission of intelligence between the two countries.

BAITING THE CANDIDATE. This is a new game, very much played in Yorkshire, and it is considered very great fun for the baiter, if not for the baitee.

THE SONG OF THE SOCIALIST SISTERS. (An ode to the English Democratic Club in the West, with great approval.) Like Muffin the man who was to be seen, and who was to be seen, and who was to be seen, and who was to be seen.

THE CANADIAN RECIPROCALITY BILL IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE. The bill for the establishment of a reciprocity trade in certain articles of produce between Canada and the United States was taken up.

WASHINGTON, January 8, 1848. The bill for the establishment of a reciprocity trade in certain articles of produce between Canada and the United States was taken up.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. The House of Commons has passed a resolution, and the House of Commons has passed a resolution, and the House of Commons has passed a resolution, and the House of Commons has passed a resolution.

Pickings from Punch.

CATECHISMS FOR THE HUSTINGS. We have serious thoughts of publishing a series of little manuals, under the above title, that should contain a summary of questions likely and unlikely to be asked of Candidates, with answers calculated not to satisfy the curiosity, but to stop the mouths of the querists, the latter being the great object in such cases.

Q. How do you justify our glorious Constitution in Church and State? A. That state of things dictated by the wisdom of our ancestors, for the advantage of ourselves and the amusement of posterity.

Q. What are the old paths? A. Those which begin, like charity, at home, and lead, like office, of the way, to the Nobility, Gentry, and Dissent.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Petroliferous. I cannot conceive, my love, what is the matter with my watch; it is not going, and it is not going, and it is not going, and it is not going.

A Truly German Name. The President of that turbulent body of revolution, the Prussian Chamber—himself the Professor of very extreme opinions—is named, by the journals, by the newspapers, by the press, by the press, by the press, by the press.

ADVICE TO SPANISH BONDHOLDERS. Spanish Bondholders, robbed by Spaniards—who are so proud that they see no Spaniard in the advice of Punch. Listen; be warned; be warned; be warned; be warned.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Original Poetry.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC. AND INSTRUCTIONS TO POSTMASTERS. A postal treaty has been entered into between Great Britain and the United States, placing the correspondence between the two countries, the mail packets of each government, and the charges upon an equal and equal footing.

Q. How do you justify our glorious Constitution in Church and State? A. That state of things dictated by the wisdom of our ancestors, for the advantage of ourselves and the amusement of posterity.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

THE GYMNES IN SPAIN.

The Gymnes in Spain have been highly extolled for their cleverness; but we should not lose sight of the fact that they are only the only people that appear to American literature.

Q. How do you justify our glorious Constitution in Church and State? A. That state of things dictated by the wisdom of our ancestors, for the advantage of ourselves and the amusement of posterity.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

ANNEXATION OF LOT NO. 24.

In our paper of yesterday we announced strongly upon the propriety of the Legislature's continuing to allow a populous and overgrown suburb, like Lot No. 24, to control the County of Frontenac, by the number of its small freeholders; and to overcome the city of Kingston, by its more turbulent inhabitants, taking the lead at all popular meetings and elections.

Q. How do you justify our glorious Constitution in Church and State? A. That state of things dictated by the wisdom of our ancestors, for the advantage of ourselves and the amusement of posterity.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Sessional Subscribers.

ALL persons remitting TWO DOLLARS will be furnished with the DAILY BRITISH WHIG FOR FOUR MONTHS, including the ensuing Session of Parliament; and persons remitting ONE DOLLAR will be furnished with the WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG for the same period.

Q. How do you justify our glorious Constitution in Church and State? A. That state of things dictated by the wisdom of our ancestors, for the advantage of ourselves and the amusement of posterity.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

City Council.

MONDAY NIGHT, January 15, 1849. The Court met. Present:—The Mayor, Aldermen Ford, Flanagan, Baker, Counter, Allen, Brecken, McLean, Smyth, McCune, Councilors Butler, Mathers, Waddingham, Crawford, Linton, Gardner.

Q. How do you justify our glorious Constitution in Church and State? A. That state of things dictated by the wisdom of our ancestors, for the advantage of ourselves and the amusement of posterity.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.

Q. What is your opinion of the Ballot? A. That it is an English, as tending to withdraw the voter from the influence of his natural superior.