CANADIAN AFFAIRS-ANNEXATION

· Affairs in Canada are certainly becoming serious and threa ening. The tupture be-tween the ultra-loyalists, or British party, and the mother country is complete. The last card has been played, and the very loyal Britons, when in power, and the very unloyal, when out of power, are about, evidently to do something-either to declare for annexation, or for a confederacy of all the British North American possessions.

There is a great mistake committed by the people of the United States, when they say that the present candition of Canada and the present feelings of the British party there, have been produced by the moral influence of American institutions, and by the contract which the American republic presents to Canada. The masses of the loyal party are profesandly ignorant of the United States, as in our institutions. The whole matter lies in a numbell. The British party have, until lately, always controlled the politics of the two provinces, and always enjoyed the offices and emolements, to the exclusion of the French. By a lucky turn, the French got the ascendency, and that was gall and wormwood to the Britons. The idea of their being ruled by the French was abborrent to them, and they tried every expedient to again get into power. The rebellion indemnity bill was a ministerial measure; if the British party could prevail on the Governor General to vote it, that would be a victory over the French. They tried every means to accomplish it, but failed. After the bilt was allowed, they despatched petitions to England for a similar They were disregarded, and their special messengers sent about their bu-iness. Meanwhile, threats of annexation to the United States were uttered publicly, and on the fourth of July the American flag was hoisted at several conspicuous places in Canada. There always has been a party in Canada in farour of incorporating it with the United States. It was composed principally of commercial men ; but none of the British, or loyalist party were connected with it. The British party would remain luyal to the end of time, if they could always he in power, and could always control the French: but finding that they cannot do so, they turn round and assert their desire to be clear of British rule. and to join the United States. The reason of this is obvious. Upper Canada has always been roled by the se-called " family compact, composed of such men as McNah, Colonel Prince, Mr. R'dout, and others. If Upper Canada were a State of this Union, these men would still control it; and the offices, from the governorship, down to the meanest tide-waiter ship, would be at the r disposal. They would be still in the ascendant; and what is almost as important, would be relieved of French domination; for between the two races, there is as violent bostility as ever existed between two people since the creation of the world. They cannot agree together, and never will; and now that the British government has desermined not to sustain the British party, a separation between them and the French must take place at an early day. Time only can 1-11 in what form the separation will be made The leaders of the British party talk loudly of accomplishing it by annexation to the United States, while others are disposed to a confederacr of all the British North American posiessions. The fatter plan would enable the "Comity compact" to role Epper Canada as o' old, and relieve them as effectually of French cule as agnexation to the United States would This, however, will not suit the leaders: for their ranity backeen wounded, and their profernione of altra-logal v fore to ded.

It will be seen therefore, that the in Bornee Se There who now cry so lustily for anexstion, would be the first to just down any attemptat revolution, if they were in power, and between the United States and Great Britain; and notwithstanding all their thream, it is not certain, even yet, whether they will declare for Cat method of cettin ; rid of French demenation of all British America. Eccustaine will deprod on theaction of the British League, which lesseds the discentines in both Upper and Lower Canada. But before any action is d :civiled upon, we would not be surprised to see a dreadful-conflict het even the British aun the French party. We have the best reason for believing that the Orangem nof Canada, w'o number upwards of feety thousand, are armin ; and preparing themo-iven for such a contingency; and th teentingency may encut at any the newly-sprointed police -or Elgiu guards. sothing are called - should make their appearmen in that city: for the British perry are detormined to annihilate them as soon as they do to. This would be the signal for the fight; and no aconer would it he commenced, than armed the arands of the O ang-men in the upper province would rush to the succor of their the nest general election, in case the League dont som meet and adopt some plan that wil be satisfactory to the masses of the Britis

But the League will mret in a few days and we shall soon know what course Canada olities will take - whother annexation to the United States, or a sevarate North America confederacy.- N. Y. H rold.

THE ST. There have been, at present, two routes proposed, one by Caughnawaga above the City of Moutreal, the other by Longueuil below the City; and as is usual in those cases, each route has its own partizant. We believe the great argument in farour of the higher level to be adopted for the entrance of the Canal, arises from the smaller amount of lockage supposed to be necessary by that course. On the other hand it is urged that the line by Longaeuil presents much fewer engineering difficulties : ess carthwork, &c. The great Montreal organ of the League is the Courier; let the respectable Tories of Upper Canada read the article from that pae in another column, and ask themselves i hey are prepared to teague with men who go or "an elective Gavernor; an elective Legisative Cou will"; the demolition of every reigious incorporation," &c. Let them read the names of the d-tegater appointed to this ag-talked of Convention, and they will find that one-harf of them at least are thoroughcoing annexationists. There is no mounder-Linding it : the whole sum and substance of the League is Annexation, scrupulously cloakshow of respectability at starting .- The Globe.

The people of the neighbhoring Republic are beginning to open their eyes to the benehis of the Reveal of the British Navigation Lans. The following article from the Oswego Times of the 14th inst., is written with good sense and in good teste, as indeed are most all the extracts we make from that very ex-

DEVEAL OF THE COTTISH MAVINA. TION LAWS.

The late Repeal of the Navigation Laws by Great Britain, and the probable effect of; hat measure upon the Computer of the World, but more especially on the Industry and Navigation of our own Country, and upon the condition and future destroy of Best sh Colonies, form a subject of prefound interest, and, in times less eventful than these, would have engrossed very general attention. As yet, we have seen no copy of the act as it became a law, published in this country, decrease. but some idea of its general provisions may be gathered from a summary of the proceedings and discussions, during its parrage through Parliament, collected and published in the New York Tribune of the 11th. Under the operation of the act, as we understand it, the day last. Navigation of the St. Lawrence will be free to American vessels. Our vessels may pass en Saw Mills and a quantity of Lumber defor any Late poets through the river and stroyed, lose $66,000 insurance $22,000. its canals to the Ocean. By the provisions of Tin Philadelphia 76 cases and 32 deaths the act which takes effect on the Lit of from cholers since yesterday. January next, the sea fishering are to be praclically thrown open, and American whalers an increase. will be allowed to bring their produce direct to Great Britain for consumption, the preliminary condition requiring these vessels to be fitted out in English putts bring removed.

With the re-ervations of the coasting trade, and the fisheries on the house banks, the whole of the British Navigation Laws are to be abrogated, including, of course, that section which prohibits the goods of Asia, Africa and America, once landed in other parts of Europe, from heing brought for home consumption into England. Now go goods except of American origin and production can be shipped for Britain except in a British bottom; but under the Repeal bill the British market may always be used as a vent for our American or imported goods, and carried thither in our own shipping.
The coasting trade of Britain and her Colonies, and the fisheries, are to be restricted to British vessels, nearly as at present, but the foreign trade is to be thrown open, with power to the Queen in Council to impose countervailing duties on the sessels of such foreign nations as do not meet England on equal terms; and the restrictions which prevent the importation from Europe of the proy few deaths in Kingdon of persons gene- duce of Asia, Africa and America, unless by known, we regret to have record that of British shipowner is to be allowed to obtain his vessels on the cheapest terms he can .-They are no longer required to be British built, and ships built by British subjects abroad are entitled to British registration .-The coasting trade of the Colonies is to remain CRICKET. - At the match yesterday Legislatures to throw it open if they think fit. By way of showing the growth and importance of our whale-fishing interest, to be effected by the measure, it is stated that during the last 28 years, the U. S. ships cmployed in this branch of business, have in-creased from 90 to 732, employing 24,000 seamen, and importing oil worth $6,000,000 yearly. That oil can only be imported into England after it has been landed in the United States, while oil from Brittich ficheries may be landed direct. The new Act puts THE REGATTA.-The following five faiting. The South Sea Whate Piphery re-England, where sailors are easiest obtained, has already lost the trade.

At present, no United States vessel can take in a cargo at Quebeo unless for a foreign port ; but the Reneal will enable nor ship-Great Britain and any port in the Canadas, with her ships, whether boilt in Liverpool or Quebec.
