

AMBOAT FAIR DURING THE PROVINCIAL FAIR.
We are requested to state that persons desirous of presenting to the Provincial Fair and Agricultural Show, at Kingston, next month, are charged one half fare on board the Mail steamer on Lake Ontario, and that only half will be charged for the transport of such cattle by land or water.

HORRIBLE MURDERS BY CONVICTS IN CARRICKFERGUS JAIL.

One of the most infamous and cold-blooded murders which has ever been committed in Ulster, was perpetrated in the County Prison at Carrickfergus, yesterday morning, upon a young Irishman, John Pearce, confined there under a rule of transportation for seven years, embezzler of his master's money, who had been convicted of the same, as they were disclosed in the inquiry held before J. K. Jackson, Esq., Commissioner of Enquiry, were as follows:

From some vague hinters unexplained, prisoners under sentence of transportation have been sent to accumulate in this jail for nearly two years; and others are now nearly half-penned in a part of very limited accommodation, and garrisoned by a very small party of officers. About a month ago, considering the multitude of cast-off among the parties of these prisoners, in a part of the jail which is wholly "silent ward." The garrisoned jail is packed, and the discipline put a stop to; but a bad spirit evidently continued to prevail among the prisoners, and rendered close confinement necessary in the part of the jail. One of the principal leaders of the turbulent was the deceased, but ringed and bound in a chain, Captain James, and an adm'nt from the government had induced him to keep aloof from them since. This excited the suspicion of the other convicts, who, it is believed, were planning a conspiracy to effect their escape, that he was plotting a system of escape w/ them. This made it impossible to get rid of him, even by force, if necessary. A Convict, named Wm. McGuigan, heard another, named Thomas Johnston, threatening, before a third convict, named John Campbell, that they "would make a monument of Pearce, and leave him to tell who done it." Early yesterday morning, the convicts were seen in the yard, and Captain James and Campbell, with the rest, were sent to the castle, and the former was struck twice on the head and neck with a whitewash brush, before the officers could get no end of it, and the others, after the first blow, of the decorative weapon, raised up again as he lay on the ground, and suddenly triumphed him to death with their heavy wooden clubs. Others rushed in to assist; but it was no use. When round up, he only gave a "letch" too far and then expired. Dr. Macgillivray, physician of the prison, testified that the injuries were quite sufficient to cause death. The jury, without hesitation, found a verdict of "murder," against four convicts, named Campbell, Johnston, R. Brown, and Davison, who were fully committed for trial at the Assizes. Pearce was about thirty years of age, and formerly received on Shandwick, Belfast.—Ulster paper.

STOCKBRIDGE INDIANS.—This tribe, a remnant of the Lenape Mohican confederacy, have sold their lands, lying on Fox River, Wisconsin, and in their agreement with the government have the privilege of selecting two townships at any point west of the Mississippi. They number in all three hundred, and are greatly civilized. They have advanced to a high standard as farmers and mechanics, and are mostly well educated and devout professors of religion. A delegation composed of Austin E. Quincy, Jeremiah Slingsby, Elasha Koukak, Joel Konkak, Moses Crane, and Thomas Snake, being the principal men of the tribe, visited this nation last week, upon a tour of observation. They were much pleased with the country, south of the St. Peter's—so far as they had an opportunity of examining—and are probably, in fact, in some measure, so far as that district as the government comes in possession of the lands. Mr. Ninglerland is a minister of the gospel among them. He preached an excellent discourse at the school house in our town last Sabbath, to a full and attentive congregation. He is a man of excellent practical sense, and speaks the English language correctly and fluently, as indeed do nearly the whole nation. We learned in conversation with him that they desire, if they settle in this quarter, to locate as near the Sioux as possible, in order that their progress in civilization and Christianity may have a beneficial influence upon the untaught tribe. This done manifests a true philanthropic and Christian feeling, and should be encouraged by all means. We hope at no distant day to welcome the Stockbridge as settlers and neighbours in Minnesota.—Minneapolis Register.

THE VICTORY AND ALEX. was the leading vessel in the fleet. The Bandie and Fairy followed each other closely. As the former sailed low, with the over, the rush of the spray upon the jury and rudder was tremendous. The whole extent of pier was a moving mass of human heads, and as the Royal Yacht wheel round, the horizon there above the din of cannon, above the heavy roar of broadside, and the crackling ring of shot arched, a succession of cheering voices of sailors, shouting, cheering, and exulting in the audacity and impudent character of their dash.
