IN THE ENEMY'S CAMP. - It was a subjec of general remark in Napanee on Friday, the peculiar position Sir John A. Macdonald occupied on the platform at Mr Cartwright's meeting. The Grits boasted and wagered money that Sir John wouldn't accept the challenge to meet Mr. Blake. There he sat, however, calm and indifferent, surversaries on their own ground. He proved senses that he was not afraid of them, and from the manner in which he exposed the Grit idol's inconsistencies, we are strongly of the opinion that Mr Blake wished Sir John had re-
