So say the patrons of the Victoria Warehouse.

THE undersigned begs to return his thanks to all his customers and friends for the liberal support accorded to him during the last twelve months. The success attending my efforts to supply a first-class article at a low price is evident to all who paid a visit to my store during the last ten days. While satisfied with my trade, it will be my constant desire to let my customers have the advantage of my cash purchases and experience in procuring the most suitable goods in the market at the lowest possible price.
