the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, representing the bonus of $300,000 voted by the which you have always sustained me; and of the therefore my arduous position of Mayoromas it bility, in consequence of the duties pertaining

A letter was read from Dr. Henderson to Moved by Ald. Cunningham, seconded by Ald. Allen, that in reference to the communication of James A. Henderson, Esq., resigning his position as trustee of the Kingston and Pembroke Railway bonds, it be accepted and John Creighton, Esq., be appointed in his place on behalf of the city, under the by-law granting the bonus to the road.

He inquired from the President of the road if Mr Freighton were a stockholder, and as such in anyway disqualified? Ald. Gildersleeve-He was a stockholder but has assigned his stock. The resolution was carried unanimously. VOTE OF THANKS. Alderman Gildersleeve moved that his Worship vacate the chair, and that Alderman Chown take the same. The motion having passed, Alderman Gildersleeve said: It is a pleasing duty on this occasion, at the conclusion e the labours of this Council, to acknowledge the graceful and dignified manner in which the retiring Mayor has presided during the past year; and I am exceedingly happy that it falls! to my let to perform so deserving a duty this time, satisfied that it will not only be ac ceptable in a high degree by these present, but will also receive the concurrence of those a .. (Hear, hear.) It is not an easy matter to accomplish all that is required and pleaso everybody while in that position, but the Mayor during the past year has occupied that exalted position, and disposed of the duties of office in such a satisfactory way as to ment the approbation of all. This being the case then gentlemen, I feel it an extreme pleasure in moving to his Wership a vote of thanks. Alderman Allen, in seconding the resolution, remarked that he was sorry that at the previous meeting this matter had been overlooked, but he was glad the opportunity sented itself that evening. He agreed with Alderman Gildersleeve that it was no eas thing to fill the position with ability and satis faction, constant difficulties arising against which the Mayor had to contend. The outgoing Mayor, as far as oppearances indicated might be returned to the chair which he then occupied. The past year had been a very expensive one; he was sorry to say that in the department (fire, water and gas) with which he was connected as chairman, it was likely to l the most expensive for many years at any rate. He hoped, however, that it would be a gain to the citizens hereafter; he was certain would. But under all circumstances b must say that Mayor Drennan had come up to the mark; the Mayors of fermers years may have acquitted themselves well and creditably but he entertained the idea that the gentlethanks had been really the best for many Pettit, C. Were it not that they were aspiring something higher, there would notbe such anxie ty or so many candidates for Aldermanic !ours. But with all that Mayor Drennan had dene honour to the chair, and besides him there were none he would be more willing to serve. He heartily seconded the resolution. The motion was carried amid loud ap-The Mayor responded: Alderman Gilder sleeve, Alderman Allen and Gentlemen: was not aware that it was your intention to move such a resolution, or I would certainly have been prepared to give a review of my conduct during the past year as public men generally do.
