A little girl belonging to this city and requirements, after which he moved the following resolution, seconded by Mr McLennan :- "That the Dominion Board of Trade is of opinion the deepening and protecting of the harbour of Kingston should, in consaquence of its being situated at the foot of the lake navigation, and from the important accommodation that it affords to vessels engaged in the great trade of the Dominion, be considered as forming part of the right of way from the west to the ocean, and as such be inluded by the Dominion Government in the general-plan for the improvement of the navigation of the St. Lawrence." Hon. John Young said he would go against any motion that would devote the public funds to any bnt public objects. Mr Howland called the attention of the representatives from the Lower Provinces to the fact that the returns of shipping entered inwards and outwards during the past year, showed that while a total of 19,928 vessels, carrying 5,115,943 tons were entered at all carrying 7,310,000 tons were entered in the ports of Ontario. He was opposed in the refuge, but since such was the policy at present, he believed the improvement should be made in proportion to the tonnage entered in

Mr Harding of St. John, said the figures furnished by Mr Howland did not show the amount of tonnage owned in the provinces mentioned, but the number of entries inward and outward bound. It was easy to understand, that this was the result of the lunger voyages undertaken by sea-going vessels. was an indisputed fact that the people of Nova Scotia owned more vessels in proportion to their population than any other people in the

Mr Howland said he was aware of the fact but the entries showed the extent of the traffic, and the improvements should be made proportionately to the amount of commerce. Mr Carrathers advocated the improvement of Kingston harbour, which he contended was a work as important to the Dominion at large as the deepening of Lake St. Peter and the improvement of the Montreal harbour. Hon. John Young denied that there was any similarity between the two cases. The proper way to deal with the Kingston harbour was to impose tennage dues which would sufficient to meet the expense of making the required improvements. He therefore moved in amendment to the amendment, "That, in the opinion of this Board the expenditure of the public funds should not be used where the general public interest is not involved, and that the improvement of Kingston harbour is a focal and not a public work." Mr Labelle, of Quebec, fully endorsed the views of Mr McLellan, that each harbour should make its own improvements; still if Kingston could prove its claim to be a trans. shipping port, he was disposed to favour any proposition looking to its improvement. offered an amendment, declaring it advisable before undertaking the improvement of Lake St. Peter, to ascertain whether the harbour c Quebec could not be utilized at a comparatively small outlay as a trans shipping port.
