The whole case is in fact one of 6c simulative bysteria in a young girl having the propensity to deceive very strongly developed. Therewith may be probably associated the power or habit of prolonged fasting. The only al parent difficul about the case is the means of the obtainment of food. I am informed that the parents are very respectable people, and have no particular pecuniary need above the class to which they belong. The most suspicious evidence of their collusion is the circumstance of their making the patient a complete show-child, receiving money and presents from the hundreds of visitors to the farm. From my observation and examination of the girl, from my 2c acquaintance with analogous cases, and cal officer of various forms of malingering I am inclined to believe that Sarah Jacob in reality deceives her own parents.
