THE ORANGE BILLS. - In noticing these bills a few days ago, we rather incautiously said that in spite of Fraser, Scott, & Co. they had now become law. We were some what too fast in that statement. They are not law. They are reserved alone, out of the 167 bills assented to by the Lieutenant Governor. Such a step was hardly to be expected. True, the bills were opposed by four out of the five members of the government. But Mr Mowat, the Premier all along gave them a fair amount of support. Still it is evident he does not command the confidence of his colleagues, for in the face of his support, they have been dissallowed. We hear certain rumours that a meeting is soon to be called by the Orangemen of Kingston to discuss the action of the Lieut. Governor. We hope they do not intend any such foolish matter. Lieut. Governor Howland would not dare to disallow any bill by his mere motion. He must have been advised t take this course. On his advisers then let all the odium fall, but not on him. He is merely the mouthpiece of his ministry, and it is they who have refused this simple act of justice to the 100,000 Orangemen of On-

The bare facts stand out boldly, that the ministry being defeated in the House on their policy of obstruction, carried their animus to a place where alone it was all pow. erful, and the result is seen in the fact that while Mr Scott's and Mr Fraser's co-religionists have got the bill incorporating the Christian Brother's schools passed into law
