WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY

STRAWS. - There never was a time where a little embreglie in our midat happened to occur that a knot of American sympathisers did not put in their oar to make capital. And so it is just now. The Pacific scan dall has furnished the means of another crusade, and the Montreal correspondent the New York Herald is already busy foreeasting our future political horoscope: Of course it would not do to enter upon any such scheme without laying down a basis for action. This is done as follows, and we invite attention to the fact, for the character of Sir John, as here laid down, is so thoroughly after the manner of the Grits, that no one can doubt that the correspond.
