Thus the "stone frigate" Niagara had its stores of arms had been collected at Kingston, the principal arsenal, and these were stored in large quantity in the Niagara; and from their value it was feared that an attack would be made to gain possession. To provide against this the windows were mounted with small pieces, to be loaded with slugs, and the wharf and landing were suitably protected. Now the place is almost stripped. The great bulk of the stores have been shipped to England; and what are left are the pro- and the young officers, who vowed to stay and perty of the Canadian government. The ball room was well lighted by means of lamps, and the scene on entering was exceedingly brilliant. A large company of ladies and gentlemen paid their respects to Mrs Colonel Patterson, the hostess, and at ten the dancing began to the music of the band of the 40th Battalion, under leadership of the well-known Mr Chalaupka, of Cobourg. The decorations looked exceedingly well in the lamp light, and dicited universal admiration. It was something for which the ladies were scarcely pre. pared, nor could the gentlemen familiar with the camp have expected so much. The trans formation from the bare room of the morning to the brilliant ball room of the evening was like a work of magic.
