THURSDAY EVENING, JULY

The modest cards of invitation issued by captivated with the novelty of the affair; and Colonel Patterson and his brother officers to them a camp ball got up in the style of that of the Third Military District, asking the citizens of Kingston to "dancing in camp" on Tuesday night, led to a grand military usual character, such as those held from took place on the 30th ult. Colonel ball and one of the finest entertainments time to time at the City Hall and in Cumberland was the only candidate in the camp more than repaid the courtesies of the in good humour from the first by the irresisti and their return entertainment of Tuesday which they found prepared for their enjoyseen on the surface, was one that must ever troops; and a grand and stately appearance ing. Capt. LaRue has been appointed to be reflect credit on the gallantry, spirit, and hospitality of a brave and accomplished body of gentlemen. The ball was given in the camp enclosure in a building in every way remarkable for its curious history and associations. During the American war of 1812 the British government made an appropriation for a frigate for service on the lake. Her name was the Niagara, and all the appointments necessary for a vessel of her class were supplied from the English dockyards. But in-

To provide against this the windows were mounted with small pieces, to be loaded with slugs, and the wharf and landing were suitably protected.

Now the place is almost stripped. The ing, though old, is in an excellent state of preservation. The Admiral of the station used regularly to date his official correspondence "Ship Niagara," and the accounts of the Navy Department were kept with the same available by the shipment of tents and mili- pleasurable entertainment. tary stores to the various camps, and thus it happened that the officers could avail, themselves of the conveniences afforded for giving a ball in camp.
