FALSE ECONOMY.

'A hint to the Blind is as good as a nod.'

THE success of business depends much on the extent of a man's credit. Some economically suppose they practice economy by giving credit by wearing an Old Hat or Cap in their business premises. His idea is a false economy in the ordinary business of a City life. For it is a fact prevailed, that he who is tolerably in a position will appreciate a New article in dress matters. Therefore he who wishes to secure custom and credit among those around him, of his good sense and correct taste, and fall in for the good of Advertising me; I propose to R. S.—A large and general assortment of the best and most modern style of hats and caps kinds for sale cheap for cash or approved credit.

THE following extract of a letter is from a gentleman of respectability, who has thoroughly tested the virtues of the above remedies, not only in this, but in other climates, also, and which goes to show its value to persons intending a journey through the various climates and sickly districts of the country, and is recommended by hundreds;

Dear Sir—As we owe a debt of gratitude to those who have been the agents in saving us from dying and being buried, I feel that I will receive your congratulations of the benefit which I have personally received from the use of your medicines. In 1849, before starting on the river, I went to Chilkoot, Indian River, with a supply of your remedies, and I have been their efficient under every vicissitude of circumstance and climate, which will prove that I am not exaggerating. I have known them to fail in producing the desired salutary benefits. Wishing you success in your extensive business, I remain,

Yours Respectfully,

Sir J. T. Clarkson and Mr. Hincks.—We have already published a short notice from our Inspector General to the Colonial Secretary, announcing the arrival of Sir J. T. Clarkson in London. The following letter from Mr. Hincks, which we find in the London Times and other papers, shows that the investigation and prosecution of the charges against Sir J. T. Clarkson, have been conducted in the most impartial manner. Two or three slokes in the letter of Mr. Hincks, will be understood by the public generally. The Inspector General has been assailed by the Opposition press for his conduct in the matter, and the charges against Sir J. T. Clarkson have been made the occasion of a most unjustifiable attack upon Mr. Hincks. The letter of Mr. Hincks is dated Montreal, June 7, and is addressed to the Right Hon. Sir John Pakington:—

"Sir,—I have the honor to inform you that I have received a letter from Sir James Clarkson, dated London, May 10, in which he states that he has arrived in England, and that he has received from you a letter, dated April 20, in which you inform him that you have received a letter from Mr. Lemoine, dated April 6, containing charges against him, and that you have referred the matter to me for investigation. Sir James Clarkson requests that I will forward to you the evidence which I have taken in the matter, and that I will also send him a copy of the letter which I have addressed to you.
