

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS. If the Liver be clogged, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from Great Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.

Regulate. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.

My little girl, who was afflicted with a troublesome humor on her face. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in the bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my bowels moved properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, and my family, and believe them to be the best pills made. - S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.

One is inclined to regard with considerable suspicion the alleged conversation between the crown prince, and his apparent rival to the throne of Germany and the Comte de Paris when they recently met in Italy and breakfasted together.

The German prince is represented as treating the Comte as the coming king of France, a pretty violent assumption, and that he said "My accession will be a guarantee of peace, for it will mark the end of Bismarck's reign. Count Von Hatziel will be made Chancellor and he will conclude an alliance between France, England and Germany."

The enterprising reporter must have had an acute ear in order to be able to catch the very words of the prince.

It was, perhaps, to be expected that the grits would seek to create the impression that the victory of Mr. Mowat is a sure omen of the success of Mr. Blake in the dominion election.

To a superficial observer it might well look that way seeing how intimately Mr. Blake has associated himself with the Ontario premier. In fact the Globe attributes a large share of Mowat's success to the efforts of Mr. Blake in his favor.

We may remark, on passing, that this is a serious charge which the organ makes against its friend Blake considering the doctrine laid down by that gentleman as to the necessity for keeping provincial and federal interests distinct. Mr. Blake in 1871 laid down his platform as follows:

"The first point upon which I desire to state the policy of this administration is with reference to what may be called the external relations of this province."

"We believe that the government of the province ought not to assume a position of alliance or hostility towards the government of the Dominion."

Of course the members of that proposition would be equally sound that the dominion members should not interfere in provincial affairs. Mr. Blake did his best no doubt to help his friend Mowat, with the expectation that the compliment will be returned when his own day of trial begins.

But the victory won by Mr. Mowat is by no means a guide to the result in the federal contest.

At the last general election the Mowat government was sustained at the polls although only eight months before that the federal election had resulted in a triumphant majority in favor of the conservatives. There are several important factors which assisted Mr. Mowat that he is wanting to Mr. Blake when his turn arrives. No doubt the Relief cry will be used for the purpose of winning the aid of those who sympathize with that unfortunate man but we do not think it will succeed.

The issues to be presented to the people are radically different from those raised in the recent contest. The constituencies are less disadvantageously arranged and the electorate differs to some extent from that in the provincial contest. The dominion government moreover has a splendid record on which to appeal for a renewal of confidence.

During its regime great public works have been successfully carried to completion, and the financial condition of the country is most satisfactory. But while this is the greatest single work accomplished, on every hand are to be found evidences of the skill and beneficial administration of public affairs by the government of Sir John Macdonald.

GRIT HYPOCRISY. The pervasive insincerity and hypocrisy of the grit party is proverbial among those familiar with their devious political ways, but it is not often that it has been so obvious and barefaced as it was in the recent election in Ottawa.

That city has for a long time been represented in the legislature by an Irish catholic in the person of Mr. Baskerville. A number of ultra protestants made up their minds that this was altogether wrong and they resolved to have a protestant elected. They thought at first of putting a third candidate of their own in the field but finally decided to await the action of the two political parties intending to support the side which should select as its standard bearer a candidate of the right faith.

The conservatives were strongly urged to throw over Mr. Baskerville and run a man of the opposite religious persuasion but to their credit they acted according to the principles of the honest political party to which they belonged and refused to throw over a well tried friend. The grits, judging others by their own standard, seemed afraid that at the last moment a change of front might be made by their opponents, and at first nominated a catholic as their candidate.

They thereby calculated on securing the support of the ultra wing of his co-religionists, and in this calculation they were right, as the result proves. But just consider the extraordinary attitude the grit party in Ottawa assumed! All over the rest of the province they were falsely charging the conservatives with raising a protestant cry and were condemning in the strongest terms the expediency of such a course, yet in Ottawa whenever the chance of victory presented itself they raised the very pro-papery cry, which they attempted to saddle on their opponents. They not only pandered to a sectional dry in the matter of selecting a candidate, but they appealed to the electors in "Upper town," or the protestant section of the city, asking support for Bronson on the express ground of his religion.

"Vote for Mr. Bronson, who is a good sound protestant, one of the 'grit' protestants in Ottawa, and against Baskerville, an Irish catholic, for it is time the election of an Irish catholic was stopped."

In the catholic section and when addressing catholic electors, their language was changed and became: "Don't support a follower of Meredith, who, if successful, will abolish your separate schools and withdraw government grants from your charitable institutions."

Never was there a cleverer case of riding the protestant horse than the action of the grits at the capital, and this plain case should teach the case to those who sympathize they appealed elsewhere that their pretensions of friendship are hollow and utterly insincere.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS. The holders of the boxes in the Metropolitan opera house, in New York, this season, represent $700,000,000.

It is estimated that there are 425,570 telephones in use in the United States. Nine years ago there were only 870.

Howell's story, "The apprenticeship of Lemuel Barker," is ended in the December Century. There is a hint at a sequel, however.

Lord Salisbury never uses tobacco and seldom drinks any alcoholic liquor. Lord Randolph Churchill smokes cigars, but is almost a teetotaler.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett is going to dramatize her story, "The fortunes of Philip Fairfax."

The heirs of the late Baron Rothschild, of Frankfurt, will constitute a private museum, in which will be exhibited the Rothschild art collection, the finest in the world.

Matthews, the colored recorder of Deeds of the district of Columbia, is rapidly getting rich from the fees of his office, which have been swollen enormously recently by unusual activity in real estate transactions.

The American opera season in Cincinnati, while profitable to the company, resulted in a deficit to the local managers, the Cincinnati college of music. This, however, will be borne by one of the trustees of the institution.

Ex-President Noah Porter, of Yale, has returned to New Haven in splendid condition after his European tour. Edinburgh University conferred on Porter the honorary degree of LL.D. on the occasion of his visit to that seat of learning. Professor Porter still retains the chair of moral philosophy and metaphysics in Yale.

Devices of Advertisers. So many devices are resorted to by advertisers, that the ordinary reader sometimes shrinks at the tempting paragraph, fearing the advice that is concealed in it is a pill in disguise. Who, for instance, begins his item, would have supposed that its purpose was to make known the truth that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is what it claims to be a cure for a disease as once loathsome to friends, and annoying and even dangerous to the sufferer.

What True Merit Will Do. The unprecedented sale of Baskerville's German Syrup within a few years has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the cure of every form of cough, colds and the severest lung troubles. It is sold on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a cough but begins to loosen it, and thus breaks out the contrary remedy. It cures the trouble, heals the parts affected and saves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the disease makes their appearance will save doctor bills and a long spell of servitude. A trial bottle will convince you of all these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers at the head. Price 75 cts., large bottles.

Portland Council. The council met at Verona on Dec 20, the members all being present. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: J. J. Dixon, $12.00; John Walker, $10; Peter Finn, $7.00; J. H. Lake, $1.25; A. Smith, 40c; John Sagrif, $10; George Smith, $5; Nelson Barton, $1.00; Edward Wiley, $3.00; Walter Watson, $2; Henry Parley, $3.00; Henry Cross, $8.20; Wm. Trudell, $5.40.

The treasurer was ordered to pay $33.75; to David Goodfellow, treasurer of the township of Kinclochbrooke, being Portland's portion of $108.50, laid out by Hinchenbrooke of the township of Kinclochbrooke, $2. M. Revel, $10; Mr. Morris, $5. The salary of the township officer was ordered to be paid.

Useful News. "Bill" and a country fellow to his companion, foreman, compositor, office boy and reporter; "Bill, take down that piece on the standing galley which begins 'Last night a score of brilliant galleys.' We want use it my boys."

"Why not? The face ain't worn off of all the letters yet."

"I know that; but George Gould says 'marriage is serious business,' and we must respect the opinion of a millionaire, you know."

Dick Recognized the Dogs. Mrs. Minks—My dear, the window panes are getting full of insects.

Mr. Minks—Good gracious! I'll have to begin sending again. That kills them, you know.

Mrs. Minks—Oh, I hope not. But where in the week did these things come from? They don't look like regular house bugs.

Little Dick—Why, them's the ones you gave me a quarter for catching in the garden.—Quack! Quack!

LYRICS OF BOSTON CULTURE.

When the winds are blowing with a wild and wild sea, And the heavy fumes are flying on the jennons of the sea, When the fierce Atlantic billows, with a million angry roar, Rush up the rocky beach and dash against the rocks around shore, When from the Polar regions comes the frost king in his shroud, When we hear the storm winds striking through the tempestuous night, When the Christmas trees and turkey local stunts, men subside the dice, And in suburban ponds men fish for 'pokers' through the lilies, When of smoking light-heart packages men once scarcely get enough, It is then the gentle maiden waits a seakissed scupper and coffee.

THE OLD STORY. He came to the station one night, The place where the engine whistles, And he wanted some bread, Would he glad to get even a light.

He had served in a cavalry corps In the war for the Union he swears, 'Twas the first in each file, And slung his rifle by the scorpis.

But to his appeals for a pension The government paid no attention, He was old and feeble, And half-paralytic, And his wife was too numerous to mention.

His case was a hard one, no doubt, So some of the boys went about 'Twas to raise a gain, That for some time to gain Would keep him, and then he went out.

When he in the court was arraigned, Next morning, the cause was explained: He was old and feeble, That he gave him in rum, He has since at the island remained, — Boston Courier.

Some Familiar Terms. Mouth like Cupid's. Dance like forerunner.

Her eyes are like the stars which shine on high, Her hair like the evening aether's sigh, Her hands are whiter marble tipped with pearl, Her feet—alas! she's a Chicago girl.

Her cheeks are like the rose that blooms in June, Her eyes are blue as skies at summer noon, Her chin—it sets one's senses in a whirl, Her mouth—alas! she's an Ohio girl.

"ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE." "Oh! father, press my suit today, The young man cried in sorrow; 'Because my girl expects that I will press my suit to-morrow.' "These clothes I wear are thin and old, And scarcely worth a nother, And such a suit as I am, I'm sure would never suit her."

"Of course," the father said with gloom, "To see the young man's sorrow, 'My daughter wears your last year's bills, 'He'll press the suit to-morrow."

A Triumph of Journalism. We begin the publication of The Rocky Mountain Cyclone with some show difficulties in the way. The type foundries whom we brought out to supply us with any type or cases, and it will be shown or phrased before we can get any. The mistake was not thought till a day or two ago, we have ordered the missing letters, and will have to get along without them till they come. We don't like the look of our variety of spelling any better than our readers, but must wait till the next printing, and we'll publish and sell the new and old, and as best we can we'll keep our heads on the hardy Cyclone whirling about a phibition till the storm arrives. It is no joke to us—it's a serious affair.—Rocky Mountain Cyclone.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills. During every break of wintry weather exertions should be made by the afflicted to recover health before unremitting cold and trying storms set in. Throat ailments, and all other ailments, such as colds, shortness of breath, morning nausea, and accumulations of phlegm can readily be removed by rubbing this fine derivative Ointment twice a day upon the chest and neck of the throat. A treatment is strongly recommended with the object of giving immediate ease, preventing prospective danger, and effecting permanent relief. These all-important ends his Ointment and Pills can accomplish, and will surely prevent insidious diseases from fastening on the constitution to dampen themselves afterwards in those disastrous forms that will probably embitter life till death itself is almost prayed for.
